Politicians Believe Withdrawal Story.

BY PARKE BROWN.

There was suppressed excitement in political circles yesterday over an emphatic report that Mayor Thompson had reached a definite decision to withdraw as a candidate for reelection.

General rumors that he might step aside have been current ever since the straw votes of various organizations showed him running far behind Judge Lyle in popular preference, but this more tangible report was pinned to a fact—his secret departure for Mount Clemens, Mich., to undergo treatment for rheumatism.

Warned by Doctors.

This information was to the effect that, in consenting to drop his campaign preparations for an indefinite period, Thompson had finally heeded the insistent advice of physicians who, it is said, have told him he cannot go through two campaigns in the next three months.

Because of his condition, Thompson was unable to attend the council meeting last Friday and it is reported that he was in bed at his north side residence until, without notice to any but a few of his closest associates, he was taken to his train Sunday afternoon. In addition to rheumatism or gout in one foot it was said he also was the victim of a liver ailment.

It is said by some of Thompson's friends that he has been mentally depressed by unsatisfactory reports of the progress of his "$1,000,000 prosperity drive" through the distribution of coupons. On one occasion recently, these reports run, he criticized members of his official family for their failure to get momentum into his coupon plan, saying that he had conceived the idea but that he couldn't be expected to do all the work.

Harding Stands by Lyle.

The first effect of the story that Thompson had decided to withdraw was to bring George F. Harding, former county treasurer, back into the mayoralty picture and to halt some of the talk about other candidates withdrawing.

Harding developed a restrained desire for the mayor's chair some time ago and was encouraged in it by many friends. But he said he would not run if Thompson, a lifetime friend until a recent breach, decided to enter the race. Then Harding quietly began to throw his substantial support behind Judge Lyle.

But with general acceptance of the story that Thompson had agreed to step aside, the former Harding movement was revived so strongly that some of the leaders supporting Lyle determined it was necessary to consult the former county treasurer himself.

The report they brought back to a Lyle conference, it was said, was that Harding replied to the question submitted to him that he was committed to Lyle and would not leave him, that he was "on the winner and going to stick with him to the finish." This put new impetus into the Lyle campaign.

Barrett Issues Statement.

From the headquarters of Charles V. Barrett came a statement by the candidate said to have been evoked by reports that he may withdraw. "My campaign for mayor is going on with enthusiastic progress in every part of the city," it read. "Emphasis has been placed on the all important matter of organization which of course is essential to any successful campaign. The war reports are most encouraging and the same is true of support that has come to my candidacy from business, professional and civic groups.

"My platform embraces every phase of the problems engaging the attention of the people of Chicago, and a program of meetings and radio talks is being arranged for the purpose of discussing all of these matters with the voters at an early date.

"All reports to the contrary regarding my candidacy are political propaganda and entirely untrue."

The opening of headquarters for Ald. Arthur F. Albert was delayed by a change in plan which will place them on the mezzanine instead of an upper floor of the Hotel Morrison. It was said that Albert intends today or tomorrow to issue a statement defending his entrance as the fourth candidate in the race, answering charges that this move was an encouragement to Thompson, and denying that he has any intention of withdrawing.

The withdrawal of Thompson, it was concluded in other political quarters, would rob Albert of most of his talking points, since he has concentrated on the evils of the present administration. Barrett also has directed his chief fight against the mayor while Lyle's battle has been against crime.

RAILWAY SHOPS CALL WORKERS; PLANTS REOPEN

Auto Factories Also Add Employes.

Resumption in employment, easing the slack which marked 1930, was registered in Chicago and in other parts of the country yesterday. The principal reabsorption, affecting many thousands of men, was in railroad shops, automobile factories, and other industrial plants.

In Chicago it was announced by Vice President Frank Walters of the Chicago and North Western railroad that approximately 7,000 men were returned to work along the entire system yesterday. Perhaps half of this number are in Chicago.

On a Three-Day Basis.

"We returned close to 7,000 men to work in our mechanical and car departments yesterday," said Mr. Walters. "They will operate on a three day a week basis. The shops and car departments had been closed since Dec. 24, and were reopened yesterday on the three day basis. So far as we can see we'll go right along now. The return affects the entire system."

Between 600 and 800 men were returned to the car and mechanical shops of the Monon lines on a part time basis, it was announced earlier by H. P. Kurrie, vice president.

Temporary employment will pick up early this month on the Rock Island lines, it was stated by L. C. Fritch, vice president. According to plans now completed it is hoped to put on 2,500 shop workers. The employment is tentatively for a month, he said.

Santa Fé to Lay Track.

The Santa Fe railroad likewise is preparing for the addition of several thousand men on its lines from here to the west coast, according to N. W. Willard, assistant to the president, a program calling for the laying of 357 new miles of replacement rails will employ 3,000 men from early this year until August. The Santa Fe is now engaged in a building program in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, and New Mexico, which calls for expenditures this year alone of approximately $6,000,000.

According to Conrad E. Spens, vice president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, little change is contemplated a present. The Burlington he said, never completely closed its shops, and maintained a five day week, retaining as many workers as possible.

The Chicago indications were echoed throughout the country, telegraphic reports showed.

AUTO PLANTS REOPEN

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Automobile factories in the Detroit area recalled 22,000 workers today.

The Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company recalled 6,500 men; the East Windsor plant of the Ford Motor company recalled 5,000 men; the Cadillac Motor Car company recalled 6,000, and the Buick Motor company plant at Flint recalled 4,500.

Ford officials announced that the men recalled to their two plants brought the total employment to the point where it stood when they closed for inventory Dec. 19. The 6,000 men recalled to the Cadillac factory was said to show a gain of from 500 to 750 men over the number employed when the factory closed Dec. 18. The 4,500 men returned to the Flint Buick plant brought the total employment there to 8,575, according to E. T. Strong, president.

Cleveland Sets 1,300 to Work.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The first upturn in the employment index since last May was reported today to the city employment commission. Eleven industries have added 1,337 employés to their pay rolls while later this month 20 other concerns will open more jobs, it was disclosed to the commission.

At the same time the chamber of commerce announced that preliminary totals of employment in 100 representative Cleveland industries indicate that the city's employment index, based on the number of persons employed by these companies, will show a slight increase for the month of December.

Hupp Motor company put 500 of its old employés back to work last week, but this was not included in the total

Kidnap Rich Drink Dealer; All a Mistake

Daniel Chamberlain, wealthy drink dealer and reported to hold a monopoly on the bookmaking privileges in Blue Island, was taken from the side of his wife as they rode in their automobile by four men early this morning and kidnaped. It was a case of mistaken identity, however, and two hours later he returned to his home unharmed.

Chamberlain and his wife were nearing their home at 12918 Highland avenue, Blue Island, when their machine was forced to the curb by the gangsters. One of the quartet sprang out and, with leveled gun, compelled Chamberlain to alight. He was seized and thrown into the gangsters' car, which speeded away.

Mrs. Chamberlain immediately reported to the police and the Blue Island and county highway forces began a search for the kidnapers. It was just getting well under way when Mrs. Chamberlain received a telephone message from her husband stating that "it's all a mistake and I am on my way home."

A few minutes later he appeared. He said he had been taken but a short distance from where he was seized, when one of the men looked at him closely under a light and declared: "Aw, hell, we've got the wrong man!"

Chamberlain was then told to get out of the car and he rushed to a telephone to inform his wife of his safety. He declared that he recognized none of his captors.

CONTINUE DRIVE FOR 5 MILLIONS TO AID JOBLESS

Chicago's campaign for $5,000,000 to aid the jobless will be continued despite the fact that $1,775,000 still remains to be raised. The decision was made yesterday at a conference of trade divisions groups under Philip R. Clarke, director of the drive.

Yesterday's contributions totaled $18,000. After expressions of disappointment at results after six weeks of effort the division chairmen began devising plans for a more intensive campaign. Five hundred concerns heretofore not approached will be solicited.

It was pointed out that during the world war drastic measures were taken to obtain contributions. A suggestion to post names of all companies refusing to contribute was shelved until all firms had been solicited.

4 POSTMASTERS OUT ON CHARGES OF BUYING JOBS

The postmasters summarily discharged, and immediate replaced by acting postmasters, were: Otto A. Weilbrenner, Mount Vernon; William E. Davisson, Petersburg; McKinley Ayres, Chrisney; and Mrs. Helen Roetzel, Boonville.

To replace them the post office department named: Philip E. Rowe, Mount Vernon; Eugene Miller, Petersburg; Omar Kennedy, Chrisney; and Fred Johnson, Boonville.

Ross Wibbeler, rural carrier at Dale, was suspended.

Indiana's two senators, Watson and Robinson, both Republicans, instigated the investigation which led to today's action.

The post office department statement, issued by Arch Coleman, assistant postmaster general, said that at the direction of the postmaster general all evidence filed by the inspection division during its investigation had been sent to the department of justice.

Coleman refused to name the Indiana representative implicated, saying any further announcement would have to come from the justice department.

The First Indiana district is represented by Harry E. Rowbottom, Republican, reëlected twice from his district but defeated at the last election.

Sales Manager of Opera Company, Wife Held Up

Returning home in their automobile early this morning, J. J. Carrick, sales manager for the Chicago Civic Opera company, and his wife, Gladys, of 6527 Glenwood avenue, were forced to the curb by another machine and held up by two armed bandits. Mrs. Carrick was robbed of a diamond ring valued at $600 and Mr. Carrick of $3.

Bandits Rob Merchant 4th Time in 5 Months

Milton Silver, hardware merchant at 801 South California avenue, held up three times in the last five months, was sitting in the rear of his store last night when two men with guns entered and made it four. They got $200.

Depositors Act to Guard Funds in Closed Bank

Some 500 safe deposit box holders and depositors of the closed Lawrence Avenue National bank, 3222 Lawrence avenue, met last night at the Fortieth ward Republican club, 4711 North Kedzie avenue, and elected a committee for the purpose of protecting their interests. The first task of the committee, it was announced, would be to learn the numbers of the 30 safety boxes looted and thus allay the general fear affecting virtually all the 1,000 renters.

Leo H. Lowitz, an attorney, was chosen chairman of the committee. Other members are Ald. Joseph C. Ross [Fortieth], Charles Robertson, Nathan Medow, and George Newman.

Committee to Meet Today.

The committee will meet today at Ald. Ross' offices to confer with federal examiners, and will meet with depositors, box holders, and stockholders at the ward headquarters Thursday night.

While the depositors were pondering the question of how much money they would get out of the closed bank and when police were investigating the expenditures of John E. Malloy, assistant cashier, who told of the robbery of the bank, Miss Mary Curran, 24 years old, the telephone operator at the bank, was being questioned on how much Malloy had spent on her.

Parts of Ledger Missing.

Alfred P. Leyburn, chief national bank examiner for the Seventh federal district, gave the bank's patrons what assurance he could in a statement issued during the afternoon. Ordinarily the loss of $12,000—which is the amount Malloy said he believed was taken—would not inconvenience the bank, but the loss of several sheets of the ledgers made it impossible to tell just what the bank's loss was. Only by questioning the individual boxholders can their loss be ascertained, he said. His statement was as follows:

"Investigation of the safety deposit vaults of the Lawrence Avenue National bank discloses that only thirty safety deposit boxes were broken up and contents removed out of a total of more than 1,000.

Receiver to Be Named.

"The affairs of the bank, because of the loss of certain records, make an audit difficult and it will take several days. A receiver will be appointed

Italians Brazil Bound; Route Lined by Ships

BOLAMA, Portuguese Guinea, Africa, Jan. 6 [Tuesday].—(AP)—A squadron of twelve seaplanes, brought here by Gen. Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, from Orbetello, Italy, took off from here at 2 a. m. [10 p. m. C. S. T., Monday] for Natal, Brazil, on one of the broadest trans-oceanic projects in the history of aviation. The planes are manned by 48 officers and men.

Twelve Italian cruisers have been stationed along the route between Bolama, which is near the far western tip of Africa, and Natal, at the far northeastern tip of South America, to render assistance in case of possible mishap to any of the seaplanes composing the squadron.

1,600 Mile Water Hop.

The route to Natal is across about 1,600 miles of open sea, with only one landfall between Bolama and the Brazilian city, the island of Fernando do Noronha lying 125 miles northeast of Natal. Flying at about 100 miles an hour the squadron might expect to reach Natal at about 2 p. m. C. S. T. today.

From Natal the planes, each manned by two pilots, a mechanic, and a radio operator, plan to fly down the coast to Rio de Janeiro, which will represent a trip of about 5,500 miles from Orbetello, from where the planes took off Dec. 17. The squadron may continue down the coast to Buenos Aires, where there is a large Italian colony.

Plan to Sell Planes.

The air armada was separated on the first lap of its flight, from Orbetello to Cartagena, Spain, six of the planes having to alight in the Madeira islands to await better weather. From Cartagena they flew to Kenitra, Morocco, and from there to Bolama, with an intermediate stop in Rio de Oro.

Fourteen planes left Orbetello, two of them intended as workshops and repair planes, but these two have been left behind for the trans-Atlantic journey. It is planned to sell the twelve planes making this lap of the long trip to the Brazilian government.

JUDGE ISAACS OF SUPERIOR COURT DIES SUDDENLY

His death was caused by a heart attack which followed a brief period of declining health. He had returned from Hot Springs, Ark., where he had gone to recuperate, only last Sunday. He was 59 years old.

Judge Isaacs was born in Memphis, Tenn., and was admitted to the bar in Illinois in 1891. He engaged in practice at Plano for two years, then moved to Chicago, where he had resided ever since.

He was a member of the law firm of Silber, Isaacs, Silber and Woley and of the Chicago Bar association and served for seventeen years as a master in chancery before his election to the Superior court bench in November, 1928. He took office Dec. 1 of that year.

Besides his widow, Judge Isaacs is survived by three sons, Richard, an attorney in Chicago; Robert, who is in business in Bloomington, and Edward, a business man of Bolling, Ala.

Asks Divorce and Custody of the Radio and Sweeper

PACKERS WIN RIGHT TO DEAL IN GROCERIES

But Ban Stands on Retail Trade.

The "big four" of the packing industry, which have their main plants and general offices in Chicago, won a substantial victory yesterday in their struggle for release from the government restrictions imposed upon them ten years ago under terms of the so-called packers' consent decree.

Legal restraints under which Swift & Co., Armour & Co., the Cudahy Packing company, and Wilson & Co. have been operating since 1920, were loosened when Justice Jennings Bailey of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia ordered a modification of the original decree permitting the packers to engage in the manufacture and wholesale distribution of practically all classes of food commodities.

Lose Retail Trade Plea.

In its original form the consent decree limited the packers exclusively to trade in meats and meat products. In the fight for modification, begun a year ago and carried on by the Swift and Armour interests alone, the packers sought not only a broader commodity list in their wholesale distribution, but also asked the right to enter the retail field so as to be able to compete on even terms with the chain stores.

The portion of the petition pertaining to the retail field was denied, Justice Bailey holding that retail activity by the packers "would probably result in almost complete annihilation of the independent retail grocers, already a minority in the volume of business."

Packing stocks, not only of the big four but of eastern companies as well, reacted favorably in the market as soon as the decision became public. Heads of the Swift and Armour companies issued statements saying they regarded the decision as beneficial to the public as well as themselves. No comment was forthcoming from the Cudahy and Wilson interests, who are also affected by the decision.

An Increase in Efficiency.

"The right granted to Swift & Co. to utilize its efficient facilities for buying, selling and distributing other food products at wholesale [products formerly excluded by the decree] should be beneficial to producer, consumer, and to Swift & Co.," was the statement of Louis F. Swift, president of that concern.

F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co., was "gratified." "The trend of the times," Mr. White averred, "is definitely toward reducing distributive costs through spreading them over a diversified line of products and shortening the route to the ultimate consumer. The original decree prevented Armour & Co. from contributing much to this movement. We regard the decision as beneficial to the public as well as to Armour's."

Backed by Farmers.

The federal farm board and various farm organizations supported the packers in contending that modification of the consent decree would facilitate distribution of farm products. A Washington dispatch quoted James C. Stone, vice chairman of the farm board, as wishing the modification might have been applied to the retail as well as the wholesale business.

On the other side of the question was the department of justice, backed by the National Wholesale Grocers' association and the American Wholesale Grocers' association.

T. F. Brennan of Eau Claire, Wis., president of the National association, said last night he would consult the association's New York attorneys regarding a possible appeal to the United States Supreme court. J. H. McLurin, president of the American association, said that under the modification there would be nothing "to prevent the packers from dominating the food business, making it hard not only on the wholesale grocers but on canners, retail grocers, meat dealers and consumers."

The Scope of the Order.

By Justice Bailey's order the packers may now deal in such products as fish, vegetables, fresh and canned fruits, fountain supplies, molasses, spices, coffee and tea, nuts, cereals, flour, grain, grape juice, milk and cream. They are still restrained from owning stockyards, terminal railroads, market newspapers and public storage houses.

Chicago wholesale grocers for the most part declined to comment until they had read the decision in full. "I can't see that the modification will affect us greatly," said M. L. Horner Jr., president of Durand, McNeil & Horner. "The decision lifts a ban from the packers' engaging in the wholesale grocery trade. Actually some of them have been quietly evading the ban for years. There is at least one big packing company which has its own brands of canned fruits and vegetables on the market.

"The wholesale grocery business is highly competitive, anyway, and I doubt whether the entrance of the packers into the field will alter the situation greatly. When the department stores and the chains invaded the field, some wholesalers were in dread, but they seem to have survived this competition. The same will probably hold true for the packers, although our company, with a market restricted to a 100 mile area, is less susceptible to the packers' competition than those with a national trade."

History of "Consent Decree."

The original decree was entered by the consent of the "big five," which has since become the "big four" by the merger of the Armour and Morris companies, at the instance of A. Mitchell Palmer, then attorney general in the Wilson cabinet. Mr. Palmer forced the packers to terms by advancing the contention that the big five constituted a virtual food trust and serving notice that he would prosecute them for violating the Sherman anti-trust law, using evidence procured during the war by the federal trade commission from independent grocers.

At first an issue exclusively between the government and the big packers, the decree later became snarled in questions of farm relief, chain stores and other manifestations of the decade just closed. The packers rebelled, carrying their plea to the United States Supreme court, which upheld the validity of the decree.

In succeeding months the California Coöperative canneries entered the case, asking leave to intervene, as they had a contract with Armour & Co. whereby Armour distributed their entire output of canned fruits and vegetables. On petition of the California interests the District of Columbia suspended the decree with reference to dealings between them and Armour's.

Issue Is Drawn.

Following the Supreme court decision on validity of the decree spokesmen for the cattle raisers' coöperatives of the west and of fruit and vegetable growers in the east called on the department of agriculture to urge a drastic modification, if not revocation of the decree. This demand was opposed by the Wholesale Grocers' association.

Justice Bailey in his decision modifying the decree took the position that no one of the defendant groups has anything like a control of the business.

"The business of each is far less than that of its combined competitors," said Justice Bailey. "The great weight of the testimony is that no combination or agreement in restraint of trade exists between them."

Reasons for Modification.

"Upon the whole case I am of the opinion that in many respects there have been great changes in the methods of food distribution and in the situation of those engaged in the packing industry since the date of the decree," said Justice Bailey in elaborating his findings. "The extent of the relief, if any, that should be given to the petitioners is a difficult question. Certain provisions of the decree enjoined the defendants from acts which, whether they were illegal in the strict sense or not, at the time of the decree, were such as to give them unfair advantages over their competitors. These arose from their ownership or control of public stockyards, terminal railroads and market journals.

"While the control of the terminal railroads by the interstate commerce commission and the present widespread and prompt dissemination of market news have to a considerable extent diminished the danger arising from the petitioners' ownership of these facilities, I think it would be unwise to modify the decree in these respects.

"I see no danger of a monopoly on the part of the defendants arising from the use of refrigerator cars and from dealing in commodities other than meats.

"As to retailing I think the situation is different. The control by the defendants of the great amount of interstate commerce in meats and other articles from the producer to the consumer would probably result in the almost complete annihilation of the independent grocer, already a minority in volume of business."

SEEK TO INCREASE WATER SYSTEM'S DEBT $9,650,000

Aldermen Ask $21,785,000 Appropriations.

The city council finance committee yesterday tentatively recommended to the council appropriations of $21,785,000 from the city's water fund. The approved expenditures are in excess of the $12,135,000 estimated 1931 revenues of the fund. The difference of $9,650,000 would be obtained by further increasing the debt of the water system.

The water system now has an indebtedness of $9,426,000, according to City Controller Schmidt, which was incurred through the sale of water certificates redeemable out of the revenues from the sale of water. Recently $7,000,000 worth of the certificates were sold for $6,650,000, and this year it is planned to sell an additional $3,000,000 worth.

Where Money Will Go.

The money obtained from the sale of the 1930 certificates is divided in the water budget between the Chicago avenue water tunnel and the installation of new feeder mains, $4,880,000 to be used in tunnel construction and $1,770,000 on the mains. Construction and improvements at the pumping stations and on miscellaneous work will be financed from the sale of certificates this year and from $500,000 in water revenues.

During consideration of an appropriation of $383,000 for the purchase and installation of new meters, Ald. John J. Hoellen [47th] recalled the trouble that the city has had with the meter specifications under Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, who supervises the water fund.

"There have been too many jokers in the meter specifications," said Ald. Hoellen. "If the committee would adopt uniform specifications we could eliminate the trouble that we have had with contracts and get more contractors to bid for city business."

$49,000 Request Under Fire.

Wolfe's program also struck a snag in the discussion of a requested appropriation of $49,000 for the study of filtration methods. An appropriation of the same amount in the 1930 budget was not used for study purposes, but was transferred to other accounts.

"The city cannot afford to filter its water until the water leakage is brought under control," said Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee. "If there is a leakage of 50 per cent of all the water pumped, it would be folly to filter now, as there would be an enormous expenditure to filter waste water."

Increases of salary to 42 chlorine attendants amounting to $25,200 a year, an increase of $1,400 to B. W. Cullen, superintendent of the water pipe extension bureau, and an increase of $1,600 to William B. Eddy, an engineer in the bureau, were unsuccessfully opposed by Ald. Hoellen and Ald. Guy Guernsey [6th].

Plumbers Ask $4,590 a Year.

In a letter to the committee 111 plumbers asked for salary raises from $4,350 to $4,590 a year. At the suggestion of Harris Keeler of the bureau of public efficiency the committee found that the plumbers now are being paid more than the union scale of $13.60 a day, and the request was denied.

Young Pershing Visits City on His Way East to Yale

Warren Pershing, son of Gen. John J. Pershing, stopped in Chicago several hours yesterday en route to Yale, where he is a senior. He had spent the Christmas holidays at Lincoln, Neb. A group of classmates greeted young Pershing at the Union station. He was uncertain, he told interviewers, about his plans after graduation, but he was certain, he said, he would not follow a military career.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES BAR PUBLIC FROM BUDGET MEETING

Bureau Heads Also Excluded.

As members of the school board finance committee assembled yesterday to plan for the expenditure of about $96,500,000 in public funds in 1931, as estimated in the preliminary draft of the budget, James A. Hemingway, chairman, announced that the meeting would not be public and would be conducted behind closed doors.

Reporters who had been invited to attend the sessions by Lewis E. Myers, president of the board, were told to leave the inner office in which the meetings are being held. Mr. Hemingway said: "Reporters are not wanted at these meetings. And this will be enforced."

Bureau Heads Sent Away.

More than 20 assistant superintendents and heads of various departments and bureaus who had been notified to be present with their records at the first meeting yesterday, were told, after a wait of two hours, that they could leave. The message from the inner chamber was: "The finance committee will call for you when you are wanted."

When Mr. Hemingway appeared to relate the accomplishments of the day he indicated that the budget suggestions made by Prof. Nelson Henry, chairman of the superintendent's advisory council, probably would not be incorporated in the 1931 program. Speaking of the item calling for the addition of teachers in the elementary schools at an annual cost of $300,000, Mr. Hemingway said the committee could not see where it would fit in the now balanced budget.

"Harris S. Keeler of the Chicago Bureau of Public Efficiency has assured us," Mr. Hemingway said, "that the loss and cost of collection of revenue would even be higher than the 10 per cent allotted in the preliminary draft. It seems out of the question to reduce this to 9 per cent, as Prof. Henry recommended, so that we can afford to adopt his program of expansion."

Nothing Done, They Say.

Members of the committee assured reporters that nothing had been done in the meeting.

Mr. Hemingway explained the secrecy by saying: "The board members talked the matter over and we decided it would be better to keep the meetings private."

Mr. Myers would not comment.

"We're here, but apparently not wanted," said Frederick G. Lane, assistant to William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, after deliberations had started in the inner chamber. With him, carrying voluminous records, Don Rogers, director of the building survey; Herman Fisher director of the bureau of recreation; Benjamin F. Buck, Isabella Dolton, Charles L. Lunak, Rose A. Pesta, assistant superintendents, and many others.

The finance committee is composed of Mr. Hemingway, Mr. Myers, Carter H. Blatchford, Walter H. Brandenburg, William D. McJunkin, and Joseph P. Savage. Also in attendance were Superintendent Bogan, Trustee Boleslaw R. Kozlowski, and Mrs. W. S. Hefferan.

MOVE LAUNCHED TO CUT WASTE BY LOCAL OFFICIALS

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The "waste and extravagance" of the local governments and the "heavy and unfair burden these place upon real estate owners" were discussed for two hours yesterday at a conference called by Mark Levy, president of the Chicago Real Estate board.

The conferees considered the raising of a fund to carry on an educational campaign in which the facts concerning waste by the local tax spending bodies would be collected and presented to the public in order to arouse the citizens to the need of reform.

At the meeting, in addition to Mr. Levy, were Dr. Herbert Simpson of Northwestern university, Prof. Simeon O. Leland of the University of Chicago, George O. Fairweather of the joint tax commission, Albert Swayne, chairman of the property owners' committee of the real estate board, and Herbert Nelson of the National Real Estate board.

All agreed that the governmental expenses are too high and the burden of paying for them is not fairly distributed.

It was suggested that taxes have become such a burden that a continuance of the present conditions will retard the return of prosperity. The consensus appeared to be that the larger organizations—the Association of Commerce, Chicago club, Commercial club, Industrial club, Illinois Manufacturers' association and others should be asked to join in the fight.

"Nearly every interest which pays taxes has an organization for its own protection," said Mr. Levy, later. "The owners of real estate, who pay 85 per cent of the taxes, are unorganized. They should be in a position to speak and have themselves heard. That is our job. At a later meeting we will probably develop our principal objectives more clearly and decide upon our methods."

The state tax commission yesterday heard the plea of the Illinois Agricultural association for an equalization of real estate taxes between counties.

City Officials Penalized on Personal Assessments

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, was penalized for failure to file a personal property tax schedule. This was revealed yesterday by records in the offices of the board of assessors as workers closed the 1930 personal property tax lists for Lake View township.

The penalty for failure to schedule is the increase of last year's valuation by 50 per cent for the new valuation, so Faherty, instead of paying a tax on a valuation of $12,000, as scheduled in 1929, will pay on a valuation of $18,000. The Faherty home is at 2735 Pine Grove avenue.

The Faherty assessment is the largest listed against public officials among the assessments that were available yesterday. Maj. Carlos Ames, head of the city civil service commission, was penalized $150 and will pay on a valuation of $450. Commissioner of Public Health Arnold H. Kegel was penalized $100, raising his valuation to $300.

$5,000 for Thompson.

Mayor Thompson filed a tax schedule for $5,000 for personal property in his home at 3100 Sheridan road. Municipal Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen is on the books for $300. He lives at 546 Oakdale avenue.

John E. Conroy, secretary of the board of assessors, estimated after looking over the records now being completed that about 30 per cent of all taxpayers have been penalized for failure to submit schedules. Approximately 450,000 schedules were mailed out or delivered by deputy assessors.

Conroy estimated that the tax rates in the townships of Lake View and North Town, which includes the Gold Coast, will be close to $6 for each $100 assessed valuation on personal property. The books will not be given to the board of review until March 1.

The highest individual assessment in Lake View was one of $52,500 against Philip K. Wrigley, 2466 Lake View avenue. Other valuations in Lake View are:

Armour, Lester, 325 Wellington avenue	$15,000
Balaban, Barney, 2418 Lake View avenue	600
Berezniek, L. A., 441 Roslyn place	18,000

Wacker, Mrs. C. H., 2340 Commonwealth avenue	20,000
Yondorf, Milton, 3720 Sheridan road	42,000

Included among the personal property valuations in North Town and Lake View are: The Chicago Railway company, $5,360,201; Commonwealth Edison company, $2,000,378, and the Illinois Bell Telephone company, $10,238,847.

RECEIVERS FOR STEUBEN BLDG. ARE APPOINTED

Louis J. Krensky, mortgage broker, and the Foreman Trust and Savings bank were appointed receivers for the $5,000,000 Steuben building, 188 West Randolph street, by Circuit Judge Feinberg yesterday. The appointment of receivers was made by Judge Feinberg after thirty creditors began foreclosure proceedings against the building to satisfy claims amounting to about $600,000.

The Steuben club, whose members aided in financing the structure, were not named in the court proceedings, but it was pointed out that club members had paid $900,000 in memberships and had guaranteed the sale of $4,100,000 in mortgage bonds.

STADIUM GIVEN NEW ORDER TO REPAIR LIGHTS

Officials of the Chicago Stadium, 1800 West Madison street, were notified yesterday that unless alterations are made in the lighting system by Jan. 15 to make it conform to city regulations the Commonwealth Edison company will be requested to turn off the current. The notification was given by Michael J. Kennedy, commissioner of gas and electricity.

A similar ultimation was delivered last May after which the Hub Electrical company, which installed the lights, agreed to put six electricians to work to correct the defects claimed by the city. On Dec. 21, 1930, the contractor notified Kennedy that the work had been completed.

SENATE DELAYS AFTER HOUSE ACTS ON DROUGHT

Amendment Added by Upper Body.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—True to schedule, with the exception of congressional business today after the two weeks' holiday, opponents of the administration policy opened up their attack.

The close of the first day's session saw the $45,000,000 drought relief appropriation bill saddled with a senate amendment which will almost certainly send it into the mazes of a conference committee and further debate. And it saw the insurgent forces in the senate successfully carrying through their intention to move for the recall of three members of the new federal power commission.

The appropriation bill for the department of the interior barely crept along. Its passage slowed down by lengthy argument over appropriations for the Indian bureau.

The tactics of the administration regulars also ran true to form. As had been predicted they adopted a Fabian strategy and sidestepped an immediate showdown, content to let the house, where a Republican majority still rules, take the blame for whipping the drough relief bill into acceptable shape again and to trust that when the power commission issue comes to a vote conservatism will triumph.

Amend Drought Bill.

Coming from the house, where it had been passed with only a short debate, the drought relief bill had no sooner reached the senate than Senator T. H. Caraway of Arkansas, leading Democratic supporter of an extra session, offered an amendment to provide an additional $15,000,000 to be loaned for food and other human necessities in the drought area. He termed Secretary of Agriculture Hyde "hard of heart," saying that Red Cross aid in his state consisted of giving a family of three $1.15 worth of food to last them a month.

"I would like to see some of the persons who have talked about 'doles' and 'raids on the treasury' try to live on that much food for a week," he declared.

Senator A. W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.] introduced letters and telegrams telling of conditions of his state which he termed almost "unbelievable in a proud and self-sustaining community."

The efforts of Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], administration regular, and Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], assistant majority leader, to make the Caraway amendment a separate bill and let the original bill go through, were half hearted, and the amendment was adopted and the bill passed with no dissenting vote raised.

Fight on Power Commission.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, radical Democrat, led the fight to reconsider the confirmations of the Hoover appointees to the power commission. The three—Dr. George Otis Smith, former head of the geological survey, Marcel Garsaud, and Claude L. Draper—were confirmed by the senate immediately before the Christmas recess. They immediately incurred the displeasure of the radical bloc by demoting two sub-officials of the old commission: Charles A. Russell, solicitor, and William V. King, chief accountant; together with F. E. Bonner, executive director.

In a long standing controversy within the commission Bonner, it is alleged, favored the point of view of private ownership by power interests, while King and Russell pleased the progressive element by espousing the cause of popular rights in water power.

By a vote of 50 to 4 the senate overrode a ruling by Vice President Curtis, in the chair, and made the motion to reconsider the confirmations and the obligatory accompanying motion to ask that the President return the nominations to the senate, debatable. No opposition to the desire of the radicals to argue as much as they pleased came from the regular ranks.

Walsh Alleges Intimidation.

"No one ever heard a word against Russell and King," Senator Walsh told the senate. "They were devoted, faithful public servants. Bonner, on the other hand, has been publicly charged with having betrayed undue friendliness to the power interests. The dismissal of Russell and King is a notice to every man in public service that if he finds anything wrong, anything detrimental to the public interest, even suggesting corruption, he must keep his mouth shut about it or get into trouble."

He declared that "one cannot escape the sinister significance of the haste with which they were dismissed."

The three commissioners acted, he recalled, without the presence of Commissioners McNinch and Williamson, who had not yet taken the oath.

Dr. Smith announced at the time that the action was taken in order to eliminate friction within the commission, and he pointed out that the action was taken in Bonner's case as well as that of the other two.

Another move on the part of the radicals came when Senator Robert R. Howell, Nebraska insurgent Republican, objected to the regulars' desire to take up the interior bill out of order in an effort to speed its passage.

The senate will continue to hear the power commission debate tomorrow, when the Nye committee also will be in action.

FIRES 3 SHOTS; GETS PROBATION.

Louis Gabriel, 26 years old, 1714 Sedgwick street, was granted probation yesterday on a charge of firing three shots at Samuel Fuller, 1758 North Clark street, because he blamed him for the loss of his job.

LONDON PEA SOUP FOG ENVELOPS CHICAGO

FARMERS WAIT IN LINE TO GET RED CROSS FOOD

Drought Area Victims Are Aided.

England, Ark., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Red Cross relief headquarters was moved to larger quarters today to handle the crowds which came seeking food.

At one time 200 persons, mostly Negroes, were grouped in the sunny spaces about the station waiting their turn to fill out requisitions.

Local Red Cross officials met with Miss Emma Mortenson of St. Louis, representative of the midwestern branch of the American Red Cross, to determine the policy for aiding drought ridden farmers of this section. The England chapter embraces eleven townships, and estimates made today point toward bi-weekly relief for approximately 1,200 families.

Blames Lack of Blanks.

C. E. Hankins, local Red Cross chairman, said the demonstration on Saturday was caused by the unexpected exhaustion of Red Cross requisitions, causing the farmers to fear the Red Cross had abandoned them.

The merchants have faith that once planting time arrives in the spring the district "will come back." This section is one of the richest in the south.

Governor Tells of Aid.

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Gov. Harvey Parnell today telegraphed a number of eastern newspapers saying the people of Arkansas and the American Red Cross were handling relief in a satisfactory manner among farmers impoverished by last summer's drought and subsequent crop failures.

"Conditions in Arkansas are by no means alarming," the governor said, "and no rioting or violence in any form has taken place nor is it contemplated that such will be the case."

106 Lake Forest Fires; Average Loss Is Only $142

Fire Chief George Larsen was congratulated last night by Mayor A. B. Dick Jr. of Lake Forest when he submitted to the city council his annual report showing that for the year 1930 there were 106 fires in the town and that the average loss was only $142 for each fire. The total loss for the year was $15,070. The value of the buildings involved in the 106 fires was $281,050 and the contents $133,920.

Traffic Delayed

Fog of the dense variety known as the London pea soup yesterday enveloped Chicago. Motor traffic was slowed down to a crawl, much congestion resulting. All trains of steam roads were delayed, and thousands of commuters were late in arriving at stores and offices. Air mail operation ceased, Chicago bound planes from the east being unable to fly farther than Cleveland. Planes from the west were down at Iowa City, Ia.

Explaining the phenomenon last night, the weather bureau disclosed that in the lexicon of meteorology there is no such thing as fog. What the layman knows as such is simply a stratus cloud, or one that hugs the ground, and which does so because warm, moisture laden air has come in contact with colder air and caused condensation.

Forecaster W. P. Day predicted cloudy and colder weather for today, with fair weather and rising temperatures tomorrow.

JURY CHARGES FUGITIVE WITH FEUD KILLING

A coroner's jury yesterday recommended that Morris Rappaport, alleged hoodlum, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murdering Harry Silverstein, son of Benjamin Silverstein, 24th ward Democratic politician, who was shot in a fight in the rear of the Central Park theater, 3535 Roosevelt road, on Sunday night. Rappaport is a fugitive.

The slaying was committed while Silverstein's wife, Leona, bride of two months, was a spectator in the theater. Her husband had left her several minutes before, and walked to the back stage entrance. Rappaport was back stage playing cards, it is said, and on learning that Silverstein was at the door, rushed outside to meet him. The shooting followed.

According to police, the killing was the result of a personal feud. Four weeks ago Rappaport fired twice at Silverstein outside of Stone's garage, 3418 Ogden avenue, where Silverstein was employed, according to Harry B. Stone, garage owner.

COWS 3, LOOTS CHURCH SAFE.

A masked robber yesterday held up two women and a janitor in the office of the Buena Memorial church, 4301 Sheridan road, and obtained $800 in cash and $400 in checks from the safe. The women were Miss Georgia Schulz, 1447 Winona avenue, and Miss Amy Kleinofen, secretary to the pastor Dr. Henry Hepburn.

DREDGE IS SUNK BY LINER; 57 IN CREW RESCUED

Raritan, Army Vessel, Is Rammed.

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Steaming through a haze today the Savannah liner City of Montgomery ran down and sank the United States army dredge Raritan off Fort Wadsworth, S. I. But in the quarter hour that elapsed before the dredge sank the crew of fifty-seven officers and men were saved.

Fifty-two of the men put off in lifeboats, some of them dressed only in woolen underwear, and were picked up by the New York Central mail boat President, two were pulled out of the water by lifeboat crews, and the last two, clinging to the mast as the dredge settled in about fifty feet of water, were saved by a small boat from the President.

Captain Is Injured.

John Peterson, 61, captain of the Raritan, was bruised on the shoulder and abdomen and was treated at the Norwegian hospital in Brooklyn. Another of the crew was given first aid treatment.

The City of Montgomery, inbound with thirty-eight passengers from Savannah, took most of the force of the collision on her stem. A six foot hole was stove in her side in the forepeak tank forward of the collision bulkhead.

The liner proceeded to her pier, where she docked two hours after the accident. Capt. Garfield said the ship would have to go to drydock for about ten days for repairs.

Men Lose Pay Cash.

The crew of the dredge had been paid off on Saturday and all lost their money and personal possessions they had aboard. A number of them, asleep in their bunks at the time of the accident, did not even have time to dress before the vessel sank.

A difference of opinion regarding maritime rights exists over the crash. Neither master was willing to place responsibility for the collision upon the other.

An investigating board will begin sitting tomorrow morning to look into the circumstances of the sinking.

The Raritan sank in about fifty feet of water on the south side of the channel, with only the tips of her masts remaining above water.

SEIZE TWO COPS, HUNT SIX OTHERS ON RUM CHARGES

Still Operator Complains of Shakedowns.

Two Chicago policemen were arrested yesterday and six others were being sought on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws. The arrests followed complaints of two Negro still operators that their alky business was ruined by shakedowns.

The policemen under arrest, Oliver J. McCormick of the Chicago Lawn station and Peter J. Lowery of the traffic division, were first apprehended by detectives from the state's attorney's office, but were charged yesterday in federal warrants and held in bonds of $3,500.

According to Assistant United States Attorney Edward A. Fisher, who obtined the warrants, Verner Daniels, 5926 Indiana avenue, one of the Negro still owners, arranged to give the policemen $200 last Saturday, when the arrest was made.

Says Shakedowns Forced Closing.

Daniels complained that he was forced to close one still at 4225 St. Lawrence avenue because of police shakedowns. Two men who posed as "Miller and Burns" of the state's attorney's office extorted $200 from him, he said.

A few days later four motorcycle policemen appeared on the scene of the still and demanded $200, Daniels declared, and he told them he had already paid all the bribes he could afford. The men agreed to wait two days for the money but in the meanwhile Daniels dismantled his still and sold it for junk, he said.

On Dec. 16 Daniels opened a still at 6011 Wabash avenue and on Dec. 30, he said, he was visited by Lowery and McCormick. Daniels then complained to Alexander Jamie, head of the "secret six," and was instructed to give the policemen marked money. Lowery and McCormick met Daniels at the still, but became suspicious and told him to drive to South Park way and 69th street, according to the prosecutor.

Seized as They Leave.

Before the money was exchanged the policemen discovered they were being watched and started to drive away but they were then arrested, the prosecutor said. Only one overt act is required in prosecuting a federal conspiracy case and a meeting is considered as such. Daniels and his partner, Benjamin Hosley, were taken into custody by the government agents, along with the policemen.

The policemen denied that they asked Daniels for bribes, but said they demanded $8 for damage done to an automobile fender in a collision.

Fisher declared the two men who posed as state's attorney's detectives were city policemen and that they and the four motorcycle patrolmen would be arrested if Daniels can identify them.

THIS DEMONSTRATES HOW TAKING ADVICE CAN CAUSE TROUBLE

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—James Folke, 20, who was in jail at Jamaica today, explained it this way:

"I was on the way to a drug store to get medicine for my sick wife," he was quoted as saying. "A guy jumps out, pokes a gun at me, and takes every cent I had.

"Then he throws the gun over to me as he disappears, and yells, 'If you want to get your money back, take this and hold up somebody else.'"

So, police allege, Folke attempted to rob a woman only to find that her handbag was empty.

E. G. COWDERY'S DAUGHTER WINS BACK CLOTHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 5. — Mrs. Corene Cowdery Davison, daughter of Edward G. Cowdery, former president of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company of Chicago, emerged victorious today from a legal battle with her former landlord, Karlman Braginski, who had her arrested when she attempted to leave his house, where she had rented quarters for a few months. He claimed she had contracted to remain two years.

Braginski was ordered to pay all court costs and to return all her clothes to Mrs. Davison. She will also get back the $500 bond she deposited.

The judge declared that he did not believe Mrs. Davison could have made all the statements in German which Braginski attributed to her.

BARES NAVY PACT BEHIND SHOOTING OF JAPAN'S CHIEF

Assassin Calls Treaty "Tarnish on Nation."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 5.—Nearly eight weeks after the arrest of Tomeo Sagoya, would-be assassin of Premier Hamaguchi, on Nov. 14, police today were ready to turn their complete findings in the case to the judiciary section of the government.

It is believed the man will be given a 10 or 15 year prison term, if not less, for political criminals of this nature, except when their attacks are directed at the person of the emperor, are dealt with with comparative leniency here. It is the Japanese view that such criminals are not so much to blame for their offenses as are the higher-ups behind the plots. It is recalled that the murderer of the late Premier Hara, some 15 years ago, is already a free man.

27 Suspects Rounded Up.

The immediate preoccupation of the metropolitan police board following the would-be assassin's confession was to ascertain whether or not the plot had been inspired by instigators lurking behind the scene. It appeared plausible some political wire pullers might have seen in the hot headed youth an instrument to serve their sinister ambitions against the government.

Twenty-seven suspects were rounded up. These included Ainosuke Iwata, president of the Aikokusha, an ultra patriotic society, and Yoshikatsu Matsuki, the man who had cleaned and tested the revolver with which Sagoya shot the premier. With the exception of these two men, the 27 suspects were cleared from suspicion and released.

The police then turned their attention again to Sagoya. In explaining the motive for his attempt on the premier, the youth declared he had judged the continued existence of the Hamaguchi government highly detrimental to the general welfare of the country and therefore sought the premier's life as the most practical means of overturning the administration.

Objected to Naval Pact.

His action, he also said, was actuated by his antipathy for the London naval treaty. Strong disapproval of what he held as tantamount to surrender of the national security of the empire impelled him, he said, to regard the premier solely responsible for exposing Japan to the mercy of foreign aggressors.

"No government which has turned so many men and women out of work and brought dishonor to the proud name of the empire in the council of nations as the Hamaguchi cabinet has done should be suffered to live," the youth's confession reads.

CANAL DISTRICT CARPENTERS ASK SHORTER WEEK

A request that the work of carpenters employed by the sanitary district be shortened from 5½ to 5 days was made at a meeting of the drainage board yesterday by Thomas Flynn, president of the carpenters' district council. Representatives of some 20 other unions, who were also present, declared themselves satisfied with present arrangements. This request and another that the number of carpenters employed by the district be increased from 6 to 20 were taken under advisement.

What Senate Radicals Fight Against; They Dub It All by Name "Privilege"

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ARTICLE NO. 2.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(Special.)—The general objective of the radical group, according to its members, is the destruction of special privilege in all its manifestations.

"We know that the equality asserted as an inalienable right in the Declaration of Independence and in the first platform of the Republican party cannot endure side by side with privilege," declared the minority report of the resolutions committee which was read to the Republican national convention in 1928 by Young Bob La Follette on behalf of the radicals.

This minority report, which was signed by the resolutions committee, members representing Illinois, Minnesota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Montana, and North Dakota, proposed "to raise again the standard of equality and to defend it against its enemies by opposing privilege in all its forms, whether it be the privileges of individuals, of class, of interest, or of section."

Not a New War Cry.

The general and specific enunciation of aims on the part of the radical group echoes the war cries of agrarian and working class revolt that have been heard for fifty years in the platforms of Populists, Socialists, Bull Moosers, and the La Follette third party of 1924.

According to their critics the radicals are inspired not so much by a desire to destroy special privilege as by a demagogic impulse to array class against class and to capitalize politically the age old indictment of the "haves" by the "have nots."

At this moment the radicals are concentrating their fire upon the power trust, which they predict will be the paramount issue in 1932. The power trust is pictured by the radicals as a gigantic network of stock watered holding companies and subsidiaries producing and selling electric power at exorbitant rates imperfectly regulated by either local or federal agencies.

"The monopolizing of electric light, heat and power is the most alarming economic development this decade," asserted the La Follette platform report to the 1928 Republican convention. The aim of the radical group therein enunciated is "to insure to the American people the advantages of cheap and abundant electric light, heat and power."

Unagreed on Details.

"The development and operation by the federal government of great central electric generating plants and generating plants and transmission lines at Muscle Shoals, Boulder dam and other strategic points" was proposed.

On the question of complete public ownership of power plants the radicals are divided. Many of them would not go farther at present than the advocacy of the establishment of municipally or otherwise governmentally operated plants in each community to compel by means of competition the lowering of rates by privately owned plants.

The high tariff protection of American factories is regarded by the radicals as one of the most iniquitous species of special privilege. Year in and year out they inveigh against the tariff fattened trusts and the tariff inflated cost of living. While subscribing to the principle of protection they would radically lower industrial tariff rates all along the line.

Agricultural Relief Program.

On the other hand, the tariff on agricultural products is not sufficiently high to contain an ounce of special privilege, from the viewpoint of the radicals. Besides, in the case of wheat and other products, of which the farmers raise an exportable surplus, protection does not protect.

"Hence, if the tariff is necessary to industry, control of the surplus is necessary to agriculture," declared the radical pronunciamento of 1928, "and when this equality is denied the farmer becomes the victim of a form of privilege he will not longer endure."

In conformity with this viewpoint, the radicals who, together with many conservatives, had fought for the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, with its equalization fee provision, endeavored to shape the late tariff revision in the interest of the farmers by raising the duties on agricultural products, reducing or maintaining existing duties on manufactured products and providing for the disposition of agricultural surpluses under the export debenture plan.

Continue Debenture Demand.

Although the radicals failed to attain this objective in the tariff legislation they by no means have quit and are now demanding export debenture legislation at this session of congress or at an extraordinary session of the next congress which they want called in the spring. The export debenture, whereby the farmer would receive from the federal treasury half the import duty on every bushel of surplus exported is regarded by its opponents as a subsidy pure and simple. The radicals, who in 1928 declared they favored no "direct or indirect treasury subsidies" for the farmers, retort that it is no more of a subsidy than is contained in the tariff protection of manufactured products.

In the realm of revenue legislation the radicals favor readjustments whereby the tariff and other indirect taxation would be lowered and the direct taxes on large incomes raised in accordance with "the sound economic doctrine that taxes must be levied in proportion to the ability of the taxpayer to carry the burden."

They also advocate high inheritance taxes on large estates and the retention of the federal inheritance tax.

Denouncing what they term "the conversion of the federal reserve system into an instrument by which the nation's credit is used for the advantage of stock market speculators," the radicals are seeking the amendment of the federal reserve act to "insure that the credit facilities of the system shall be used for the benefit of American farmers, merchants, manufacturers, home builders and other constructive purposes."

Legislation to restrict the issuance of injuncions in labor disputes and to guarantee jury trial in contempt cases is another item on the program of the radicals, who assert that "the use of injunctions in labor disputes threatens to destroy the effectiveness of labor organizations."

On the question of prohibition the radicals have not been heard from as a bloc. They are divided on the issue, though the majority of them are politically dry. In 1928 they confined themselves to vague pronouncement for "liberalization of the Volstead act along the lines proposed by popular referendums in several states."

Want Freight Rate Cuts.

Asserting that the Esch-Cummins transportation act increased transportation rates one-third the radicals demand a reduction of freight rates to a level that will render the carriers a fair return on the railroad investment "with the water squeezed out." A few of the radicals favor government ownership and operation of the railroads.

The proposed constitutional amendment to eliminate lame duck sessions of congress originated with the radicals, who also favor the abolition of the electoral college and the direct nomination and election of the President and Vice President. They also favor federal laws regulating primaries for nomination of senators and representatives and more strictly limiting and regulating primary and election expenditures.

The radicals are active in pressing for the creation of the St. Lawrence seaway in coöperation with Canada, but they evince no enthusiasm for the lakes to the gulf waterway.

Pacifistic on Defense Measures.

In matters of national defense the radicals stand for a small army and navy and are opposed to compulsory military service and military training in schools and colleges.

Intervention by the United States in the affairs of the Caribbean countries is highly disapproved by the radicals, who view "the landing of maritime forces on foreign soil without the consent of congress as a violation of the constitution." They generally advocate recognition of soviet Russia.

The radical group constitutes the bulwark of the opposition to the adherence of the United States to the world court and to the pending modification of the senate reservations.

(In the next article the accomplishments of the radicals will be surveyed.)

6TH GRAND JURY TAKES UP WAR ON RACKETEERS

For the sixth successive month, a regular grand jury was charged with the task of fighting crime by an investigation of racketeering in Chicago when Chief Justice John P. McGoorty yesterday addressed members of the January grand jury after it had been sworn in. John R. Magill, 35 North Dearborn street, a real estate dealer living at 525 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, was appointed foreman.

"The attention of five successive grand juries has been directed to criminal racketeering in the Chicago area, whereby organized labor, business, and industry have been the victims of extortion, accompanied by every form of violence, including murder," said Chief Justice McGoorty.

"Progress has been made in the fight against crime. It is realized, however, that the surface has been scarcely scratched. The fight against crime must continue with unabated vigor, for the enemy never sleeps.

"The December grand jury found conditions of the bail bond situation most unsatisfactory. The unscrupulous professional bondsman is a menace to our community. The state's attorney will present to you evidence of frequent instances of serious violations of the law in this respect. You should indict in every instance where you are satisfied of guilt."

A comparative report on bonds forfeited in the Criminal court was made public yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney A. C. DeWitt. A decrease in bond forfeitures in 1930 as compared to 1929 was shown. In 1929 there were 334 bond forfeitures, while there were only 207 in 1930.

Thirty-four bond jumpers who had failed to appear in court during 1929 were captured, clearing up bonds totaling $193,500. There is on deposit $28,400 in surety company and cash bonds ready to be paid into the county treasury, according to the report, and $47,000 in clear property to be collected upon.

The special grand jury delegated to investigate the police department will be impaneled tomorrow.

START RECOUNT OF MUNICIPAL COURT BALLOTS

The recount of the votes for judges of the Municipal court at the Nov. 4 election was begun yesterday under the direction of County Judge Jarecki. The contest was brought by Harry Olson, former chief justice, who was defeated by the Democratic candidate, John J. Sonsteby. The other nine Republican candidates who were defeated have joined the contest.

The recount in the 31st precinct of the 45th ward revealed that all of the ballots marked for the straight ticket had, through an error, been counted twice. The result gives the Republican candidates a net gain of approximately 100 votes each.

Olson, who receives 140 votes in the canvass, now has 100, while Sonsteby, who was credited with 265 votes, was reduced to 154 votes. Sonsteby's margin, therefore, is reduced from 125 to 54. The same ratio exists for the other candidates.

MODEL HOME FOR STRAY DOGS TO BE READY SOON

After thirty years of effort, the stray dogs of the city are soon to have a model home at their disposal —the new municipal shelter under construction at 34th street and Lawndale avenue. Approximately six weeks will be required to complete the $55,000 structure that will replace the old dog pound at 29th street and Sacramento avenue, Contractor George W. Dreher informed a committee of the Chicago Humane Education society, which inspected the progress on the shelter yesterday.

ACT TO UNSNARL COURT SYSTEM FROM RED TAPE

Judicial Advisers Draft Ten Statutes.

A program of legal reform to reduce the law's delays, to speed justice, and to make punishment more certain was submitted yesterday to Gov. Emmerson in the report of the Illinois and Cook county judicial advisory councils. Members of the councils are to meet with the governor today to seek his support of reform bills to be introduced in the legislature.

The councils are sponsoring ten bills, all aimed at cutting red tape in the courts. The bills are the result of a study of courts in a tour of leading Canadian and American cities in 1929 and an examination of legal procedure in this country and abroad.

Proposed Changes Listed.

The ten changes urged are:

1. Abolish terms of court.
2. Simplify indictments.
3. Limit challenges for conscientious scruples against capital punishment to the state only.
4. Group peremptory challenges when several defendants are on trial.
5. Make juries judges of the facts, but not of the law.
6. Enlarge power of courts to dismiss for want of prosecution.
7. Make office of public defender permanent in Cook county.
8. Simplify system of calling juries.
9. Provide permanent state council.
10. Provide permanent county council.

Terms Cause Delay.

The report points as one of the chief causes for delay in disposing of cases in counties outside of Cook, the law which provides that every summons shall be returnable at the next term of court. In criminal cases if a person is arrested on a felony charge the grand jury is dismissed under present conditions, he may wait six months until the next term of court before trial.

There are 48 counties which have only two jury terms of Circuit court in the year, 42 counties have three terms. Terms are held to be an antiquated survival of the days when the counties were large and means of transportation limited.

The councils recommend that every summons shall be returnable ten days after its service and each defendant shall plead or answer within 15 days from service of process, unless further time be allowed by the court. It is urged that terms of court be abolished and that judgments, orders and decrees become final 30 days after entry rather than at the end of the court term.

Abolish Legal Phrasing.

Simplification of indictments and informations is provided in a bill to eliminate the complicated legal wording of such documents. It is provided that they contain merely a brief charge of the offense in simple language, not necessarily containing all the information to which the defendant is entitled. This additional information may be obtained by demanding a bill of particulars.

With regard to challenges for conscientious scruples against capital punishment, the reports state that the law was drawn to permit the state to excuse from service a juror in a murder case as a means of protesting the state from handicap. The law has been abused by attorneys for the defense as a last means of getting rid of a juror even in cases where the death penalty was not asked. It is urged that the law be worded so as to restrict its use to the state.

A Limit on Challenges.

The councils propose in a fourth bill to prevent extravagant multiplication of peremptory challenges in cases where several defendants stand trial together. The law now provides 20 challenges in a murder case, 10 where punishment is more than 18 months in prison and 6 in all other cases to each defendant. The bill would limit in cases where there is more than one defendant to 4 for each additional defendant in murder cases, 2 in cases where punishment is more than 18 months in prison, and 1 in all other cases.

The fifth bill would make juries mere judges of fact. The report points that the provision permitting juries to be judges of the law has found little favor with the courts because the system is illogical and serves no useful purpose in criminal cases.

The sixth bill, which would permit courts to dismiss cases for want of prosecution without waiting until the case is actually reached for trial, is held to be a means of allowing courts to get rid of a mass of dead cases cluttering the docket.

The seventh bill would permit Cook county to maintain the office of public defender, now under existence merely by the will of the county board.

New Jury Regulations.

The eighth bill proposes a revamping of the jury system. The bill would empower courts to regulate the selection of jurors, create an intelligent jury list and enable jurors to serve at times convenient to them.

The ninth and tenth bills provide that the state and county judicial advisory councils be made permanent bodies by statute.

The report contains the councils' proposed renovation of the Illinois criminal code, drafted in accordance with modern legal thought, as a method of confronting criminal classes with speedy trials and increased certainty of punishment. No bill is to be presented on this subject in the opening days of the legislature. The revision is to be discussed at the conference with the governor today.

State Senator Andrew S. Cuthbertson is chairman of the state council. Other members are Senators James J Barbour, Thomas J. Courtney, W. S. Jewell, and Victor P. Michel; Representatives David I. Swanson, John P. Devine, Michiael L. Igoe, Roger F. Little, and Frank A. McCarthy; Attorney John D. Black, Judge Edward D. Shurtleff, Junce C. Smith, and Franklin L. Velde.

Members of the Cook county council are Justice Frederic R. DeYoung of the Supreme court, Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan, Circuit Judge Harry Fisher, and Attorneys John J. Healy and Amos C. Miller. Robert W. Millar and DeWitt Billman are consultants of both councils.

Find Man with Worst Headache

Lillian McCate, technician at the medical college of the University of Illinois, taking down the data furnished by Theodore Roberts, 23 years old, Lake Geneva, who was selected as the person whose headache will be studied.

Pain Wins a Job

While of hundreds of "worst headaches" contestants continued to send letters applying for the job, Theodore Roberts, 23 years old, of Lake Geneva, Wis., was employed as a subject for research in the cause and cure of migraine.

Today he will begin his three months sojourn at the Research and Educational hospital of the University of Illinois. For $50 a month and room and board he has agreed to have at least two first class headaches a month, eat any food he is requested to eat and submit to any tests. Roberts has had his headaches since he was 11 and his mother had them before him.

"He's strong and can stand anything," said Mrs. John Milliken, laboratory technician, who interviewed the applicants who called at the hospital. "He hasn't any other complications. He is an electrician, now unemployed, and single."

Roberts was one of 750 applicants.

Rob Six at Same Corner; Seized as They Try Again

Two robbers early yesterday held up six taxicab drivers in quick succession, stripping each of their victims at 45th and Lincoln streets. Two policemen were waiting at the corner when the seventh cab came along, and they interrupted the robbery. The prisoners gave the names of Michael Dorman, 21 years old, and Frank Urchell, 23 years old. Urchell had been out of prison only five weeks after serving a five year sentence for robbery.

Judge Kerner Named to Sit on Appellate Bench

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday announced the appointment of Judge Otto Kerner of the Circuit court to fill the vacancy on the Appellate court bench caused by the illness of Justice Albert C. Barnes. Justice Barnes has been confined to his home for several months. Judge Kerner said that he will take up his new duties today. He has been hearing chancery cases.

LYLE HEARS 100 CASES; HOLDS 9 ON HIGH BONDS

Levin, Capone Collector, Asks Venue Change.

Judge John H. Lyle celebrated his retention in the Felony court yesterday by hearing nearly 100 cases. His holding of nine hoodlums on $7,500 bonds led attorneys for the nine men to obtain a writ of habeas corpus before Criminal Court Judge John Prystalski, which will be heard this morning.

The nine men had been arrested in a flat at 7845 South Ashland avenue which was reputed to be a hangout for members of the Spike O'Donnell gang. Three of the men were charged with vagrancy because they had previous police records, five accused of disorderly conduct, and one charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Demand Trial by Jury.

When the men were arraigned before Judge Lyle they demanded a jury trial through their attorney, W. W. O'Brien. Judge Lyle indicated he would grant the petition, but first continued the case until Friday to allow police additional time to investigate the men's records. He also raised the bonds of all the men to $7,500 each and raised the bond of George Larson, charged with carrying a gun, to $15,000.

The judge told the lawyer that if the police could find no further evidence against the men, the bonds of those charged with disorderly conduct would be lowered to the usual amount, $400, on Friday. But the lawyer obtained the writ before Judge Prystalski, asserting that inasmuch as the maximum fine on a disorderly charge would be $200, the $7,500 bonds were excessive.

Police testified that five loaded revolvers, a quantity of dum-dum bullets and other amunition had been found in the flat.

Levin Asks Venue Change.

Hymie [Loud Mouth] Levin, collector for the Capone syndicate, was also arraigned and asked for a change of venue. The case was continued until Thursday. Levin was questioned by Judge Lyle concerning his citizenship and place of birth. An attorney informed the judge that Levin had "fought under the colors during the war."

"Yes, and he served under the state's colors in 1921 when he was sentenced for a year for violation of the liquor laws," commented Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne.

Bonds for Joseph Etkins, business manager of the schochtim, kosher poultry killers union, charged with assault to kill, were doubled to $20,000 by Judge Lyle. Etkins is charged with an assault upon a member of the union who is still in a hospital. The case was continued to Jan. 15 to allow the victim to recover and testify.

Sets $620,000 Bonds.

The judge set total bonds of $620,000 on two robbers who were arraigned before him and identified by nearly a score of victims as the men who had held them up.

Regarding his retention in the Felony court when other judges were shifted to different posts, Judge Lyle declared at the opening of court:

"This will afford me an opportunity to do some more damage to gangster organizations by putting their leaders in jail."

Judge Lyle, speaking before the fortnightly meeting of the Monday council of the Chicago Sunday Evening club held last night at the Union League club, reviewed the crime situation in Chicago and held a mirror up to conditions permitting the careers of public enemies. He confined his remarks to the criminal and police situation and made no allusion to the coming mayoralty campaign.

400,000 ALIENS ARE IN U. S. ILLEGALLY IS ESTIMATE BY DOAK

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Approximately 400,000 aliens are now illegally residing in the United States, of which total 25 per cent, or 100,000, are deportable under provisions of the immigration act, Secretary of Labor William N. Doak stated in a letter to the senate today.

A resolution passed Dec. 8 requested all available information "relative to the estimate number of aliens who have unlawfully entered and who are now in the United States, approximately what number of such aliens are subject to deportation under existing laws. What additional appropriations of money are necessary to accomplish the prompt deportation of such aliens, and what changes should be made in existing laws to facilitate the deportation of undesirable aliens."

In order to facilitate the federal program of deporting undesirables who are illegally residing in the country, several suggestions were made by Mr. Doak for changes in the present law, among them one for strengthening the law relative to the deportation of those aliens "who are affiliated with organizations which advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States."

TRIBUNE LETTER FEATURE FINDS MISSING KIN

A letter printed in the "Interesting Letters" department of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE has resulted in the locating in Russia of the sister of a Chicago woman. Fifteen years of inquiry, including a search by a brother who went there with the American army, had failed to find the sister.

The story was revealed in a letter to THE TRIBUNE from Mary Tuszynski of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, who came to Chicago in 1909 leaving her sister in Russia.

For several years they corresponded; then, when the world war started, all trace of the sister in Russia was lost. Finally there appeared in THE TRIBUNE last August a letter from Kharkov, Ukraine, Russia, which had been received by Edward N. Rachford, 8125 Princeton avenue, Chicago.

This was the town in which the missing sister was last known to have been and Miss Tuszynski appealed to Rachford for the address of his sister who had written the letter. Rachford not only agreed to aid but also sent an envelope addressed in Russian.

When Rachford's sister in Kharkov received Miss Tuszynski's letter she inserted notices in the Russian newspapers which were seen by the missing sister and a short time later she was again in communication with her Chicago relatives.

TELL PROGRESS IN RIDDING CITY OF GANG CONTROL

Citizens' Assn. Praises Swanson, Johnson.

An encouraging omen for the future of Chicago because of the crystallizing of public sentiment into a determination to free the city from the control of gangsters is reported by Augustus S. Peabody, president of the Citizens' association, in the fifty-sixth annual report of that body, which was released yesterday.

Through the work of State's Attorney Swanson, United States Attorney Johnson, Judge Lyle, Judge McGoorty, and Col. Robert I. Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, the report states, more progress has been made in cleaning up an intolerable situation in the last four months than in the preceding four years.

Right Mayor Is Needed.

"It is needless to point out that this unified movement to make life and property safe in Chicago and to restore the city's good name," the report reads, "cannot fully succeed unless the citizens elect a mayor this spring who will use the whole power of the police department relentlessly for that purpose."

The report, which was signed also by Shelby Singleton, secretary and attorney for the association, outlines the work done in preparing evidence of vote frauds in the 42d ward, stopping payment of more than $20,000 out of the city treasury for advertising in support of bond issues submitted at the 1928 election, and in backing low bidders before both the county board and the city.

Finds Contractors Favored.

"Recently we have investigated contracts under which the city has expended nearly a million dollars during the last four years on the installation and maintenance of curb flasher lights," the report stated. "We found numerous evidences of favoritism and waste in connection with such contracts [Richard W. Wolfe] to the necessity of the commissioner of public works (Richard W. Wolfe) to the necessity of eliminating such waste."

The report also points out that the association successfully opposed the reappointment by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock of John P. Reed, who was accused in 1925 of taking large fees from the widows of policemen for collecting back pensions, as assistant chief operator in the police department.

FORMER VICEROY OF INDIA OUTLINES SELF-RULE PLAN

Wants Britain to Retain Control of Finances.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Important progress was made today by the Indian round table conference when Lord Reading, speaking for the British Liberal party, urged responsible federal government for India, and declared that the Liberal party was ready to grant all that Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru demanded in a speech last Friday, subject to certain reservations and safeguards.

In a speech lasting over four hours, Lord Reading, speaking out of his experience as a former viceroy of India, outlined his ideas of what safeguards are necessary. To many's surprise Sir Tej expressed himself as willing to accept all the proposed reservations.

Increases Viceroy's Powers.

Lord Reading's safeguards went much further than mere control of the army and foreign relations, which were supposed to be the limit in reservations the Indians would agree to. He extended the reservations to finance, taking the national budget out of the hands of parliament altogether and empowering the viceroy to veto loans of any kind if, in his opinion, they were dangerous to the financial stability and safety of India.

The viceroy, under Lord Reading's reservations, would also be empowered to veto unorthodox financial measures such as, for instance, meeting a budget deficit by loan instead of taxation. In the matter of law and order, too, Lord Reading declared that power must be reserved to the viceroy to take measures against disturbance, even in cases where elected ministers are unwilling to interfere.

Describes Dual Cabinet.

Lord Reading sketched a curious dual arrangement by which the ministers of defense and foreign relations would be appointed directly by the government and would sit in the cabinet to take part in discussions on all matters, but without voting, while the elected cabinet ministers would be allowed to listen to the discussion of defense and foreign relations, but without voting.

100,000 Cease Weaving.

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Stores were closed and traffic stopped tonight as Gandhi sympathizers enforced a general strike commemorating completion of Gandhi's eighth month in jail. At the same time 50 cotton mills employing 100,000 weavers were closed in mourning for the death of Mohammed Ali, Moslem delegate to the Indian round table conference in London.

There was no serious disorder accompanying the general strike although the strikers brought transportation to a halt by stoning taxicabs and trolleys.

CALL GUN DEALER IN LAKE COUNTY MASSACRE QUIZ

A grand jury subpoena was issued yesterday by State's Attorney A. V. Smith at Waukegan directing Frank Y. Thompson of Rockford to appear before the March grand jury with records of his sales of Thompson machine guns.

The subpoena was issued in connection with the masacre last June 1 at Fox Lake in which three persons were killed and two others wounded. Examination of the bullets taken from the bodies revealed that they had been fired from Thompson guns, and subsequent questioning of Peter Von Frantzius of Chicago revealed sales of the guns to Thompson. Col. Smith hopes to learn the names of the killers from Thompson.

Those slain at Fox Lake were Samuel Pellar, election terrorist of the Twentieth ward; Michael Quirk, labor racketeer and bootlegger, and Joseph Bertsche, ex-convict, gunman, and rumfeblower. George Druggan, brother of Terry, and Mrs. Vivian McGinnis were wounded.

Governor Horton Losing Fight to Control Tennessee Senate in Bank Investigation

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 5.—[Special.] Tennessee is in the biggest political turmoil tonight that it has experienced since reconstruction days.

Gov. Henry H Horton, who is under fire as an aftermath of the financial troubles of his political backers, Rogers Caldwell and Luke Lea, and the probable loss of millions of state money in their banks, failed today in two bitter deadlocked sessions of the Democratic caucus to organize the new senate to his liking.

It now appears that no matter who is made speaker an investigation will go on without the guiding hand of the political machine which brought the present state emergency about.

Governor's Choice Fails.

Senator W. K. Abernathy, the administration candidate for the all important post of speaker of the senate, ended up tonight after seven ballots with only ten votes of the 15 necessary to elect. He lost one vote during the day, and evidently is on his way downhill.

The caucus was public and great crowds of citizens flocked to the old capitol on the hill to watch the senators. They overflowed the small senate chamber tonight to such a point that the session was moved to the house chamber. Even here the senators were lost in the struggling mass, and could hardly find seats. The crowd, however, was orderly and the voting was carried on without demonstration. Women seem particularly interested in what is going on and many have notebooks keeping tab on the voters.

Fitzhugh Probable Choice.

As a truce was called tonight and another caucus ordered for tomorrow morning, the name of Senator Scott Fitzhugh of Memphis was whispered in cloakroom gossip as the most probable man on whom the opposition to the governor might finally settle. He seems quite confident that after a few more ballots he will be elected.

Senator Fitzhugh got 3 votes today, while H. C. Anderson had 5, A. B. Broadbent 4, and Charles L. Cornelius 3.

Old political feuds, dating back to the administration of the late Gov. Austin Peay, under whom the famous anti-evolution bill was passed in 1925, are being worked out now in this situation, and there is also the question of the next governor to be considered.

If Senator Fitzhugh emerges from this huddle as the winner, it may be laid to the astute manipulations of the breezy Congressman Elect Ed Crump of Memphis, who has been one of the busiest men at the capitol today. He is the real boss behind the scenes in the innumerable hotel room conferences. By his action today in entering Senator Fitzhugh in this race he deserts the governor whom he helped elect last fall.

Once Sought Investigation.

Senator Fitzhugh is a lawyer, a gray haired, distinguished looking man, vigorous in appearance. In 1929 he tried to get an investigation of the highway commission, but failed. It is this body that is now the center of the financial scandal.

In the special session last December, in which the wheels were oiled to permit the Lea-Caldwell interests to get highway fund deposits in their banks, Senator Fitzhugh is not recorded as voting on the principal bill, which gave the funding board new powers. He did, however, vote for the additional $10,000,000 in highway notes and for the bill which changed the complexion of the funding commission from one divided to one favorable to Gov. Horton.

In part, then, as speaker, he would be called upon to appoint a committee to investigate some of his own acts.

The Crump change of front, however, is taken as an indication that a real state cleansing will not be blocked.

Reports on State Funds.

On the desk of each of the lawmakers this morning was a document which contains some interesting reading. It is the biennial report of the treasurer, John F. Nolan, for the years 1928-1930.

This shows a balance in the treasury on June 30 last of $24,747,631. What the balance is now is a question. It shows, for instance, modest deposits of $30,000 in the Bank of Tennessee, $21,283 in the Liberty Bank and Trust company, and $15,734 in the Holston Union National bank in 1928. These are the three Caldwell-Lea banks, which at present are under receivership and investigation, with state deposits shown as follows on the days the banks closed:

Bank of Tennessee	$3,388,732
Holston-Union	2,003,601
Liberty-National	209,548

The treasurer's report shows this did not happen all at once, but was an evolution. It was not until last spring, after the special session of the legislature, which took the shackles off the funding board and authorized special highway bonds, that the big deposits were made in these Caldwell banks, the April and June reports show millions on deposit there. But it was after July 1, the date not covered in this report, that the Holston-Union bank had on deposit 3,299,778, while the East Tennessee bank and the City National of Knoxville had nothing on this fund. At the same time the Bank of Tennessee, which was an intimate part of the Caldwell concern, was given $1,331,400 more, making $3,060,000 in all, while the American National of Nashville got but $5,000 of this fund.

State Had Little Security.

The state of Tennessee, in a general creditors bill against Caldwell filed Dec. 30 asking that proceedings against him be consolidated, stated that the Bank of Tennessee would pay only a small percentage of the claims against it, and that the Holston-Union bank would not pay more than 50 per cent.

The only guaranty bonds which the state exacted for this money was the personal bonds of Caldwell and his office associates, salaried men without fortunes. These were approved by the members of the funding board and this is where the present trouble arises.

With the speakership out of the way the investigation is expected to be launched without delay. The attorney general has been preparing for it for months.

DEPOSITORS ACT TO GUARD RIGHTS IN CLOSED BANK

Mr. Leyburn said the Lawrence Avenue bank was the first national bank to be closed in this district in twenty-five years. Its closing was ordered, he said, not with any certainty the bank was insolvent but rather with the idea of protecting the depositors against a run that would ordinarily follow upon the news of the robbery as related by Malloy.

Uncertain About Malloy's Story.

The chief examiner said he did not know what to believe about Malloy's story or what not to believe. One thing was certain, he said, that neither he nor any one from his office asked Malloy to be in the bank on New Year's day and to arrange to have the time lock released at 11 o'clock that morning. Assistant United States Attorney Owen A. West, who obtained a federal warrant charging Malloy with embezzlement, said Malloy claims to have been at the bank and to have opened the vault on his own initiative, in the knowledge that a merger with another bank was being negotiated that day.

Malloy was arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker and the bail was fixed at $7,500. He was represented by Capt. William F. Waugh, who stated Malloy's story was true and that Malloy would be a witness but not a defendant. He was asked if he thought Malloy was being made a scapegoat and he answered that he hadn't yet had time to learn the facts.

Girl Tells of Parties.

Miss Curran was questioned at the detective bureau and later at the federal bank examiner's office. Malloy admitted that although married and the father of two children he frequently took the telephone operator to cafés, night clubs, and roadhouses.

"We were merely friends," Miss Curran said. "I did accompany him to some parties, but my brother was always along. I never saw him spend much money or display any great sums. I know little about his affairs."

Malloy was questioned by police about his gambling activities and his alleged interest in a saloon. He admitted occasional horse race bets and said he didn't have an interest in the saloon, but had loaned the saloonkeeper $3,000. His salary as assistant cashier was $3,000 a year, he said.

3 INDIANA BANKS CLOSE

Three Indiana banks, one in Gary, and two in Indiana Harbor, which last September had aggregate deposits of $1,655,000, failed to open for business yesterday. All are largely controlled by Michael Kozacik Jr., 33 years old, son of a Whiting banker and the youngest bank president in Indiana.

The institutions, which were closed by action of their boards of directors, are: the First Indiana State bank, 1710 Broadway, Gary; the Indiana State bank, 2020 Broadway, and the Citizens Trust and Savings bank, 3405 Michigan avenue, both of Indiana Harbor. The Gary bank was capitalized at $100,000, and on Sept. 24 last showed deposits of $625,000. The Indiana bank of Indiana Harbor was capitalized at $50,000, and in September had deposits of $480,000. The Citizens bank, capitalized for $100,000, had deposits of $550,000 in September.

Heavy withdrawals, which were reported to have run as high as $900,000 during the last three months, were blamed primarily for the closings.

The shutting of the Kozacik banks increased the number of closed Gary banks to nine, and the Indiana Harbor banks to three within the last few months.

Two Illinois Banks Close.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Closing of the State Bank of Yale in Jasper county and the Joppa State bank in Massac county was announced today by State Auditor Oscar Nelson. Both banks were closed for examination and adjustment.

Sedalia, Mo., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Twelve hundred shopmen of the Missouri Pacific, off duty since Dec. 12, returned to work today. More than 200 employés of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas shops, off since before the holidays, also returned to work today. At North Little Rock, Ark., the Missouri Pacific reopened shops closed Dec. 12. More than 1,000 men were given work.

I. C. Increases Pay Roll 450.

Waterloo, Ia., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Illinois Central railroad shops here were ordered on virtually a normal operation schedule today, W. S. Williams, general superintendent of the western lines, announced. Fifty men will return to their positions in the locomotive repair department, while men who have been employed part time recently will be placed on full time. At Paducah, Ky., the Illinois Central also reopened shops shut since Sept. 9. Four hundred men returned to work.

1,000 Recalled to Work.

850 Get Old Positions.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Eight hundred and fifty employés of the Southern Pacific railway shops returned work today after a layoff. Railroad officials said the men would have full time employment during January, at least.

Moline Plants Are Busy.

Moline, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The trend toward normal employment conditions in the Tri-Cities was accelerated today by the report of Deere & Mansur, which now has a force of 400 at work. The force at work today virtually is the same as that employed this time a year ago. Other factories in Moline plan increases in their forces, it was reported today.

9TH VICTIM OF SERGT. REYNOLDS' PISTOL IS DEAD

William Churchill, a Negro, who was shot Sunday night by Sergt. Frank J. Reynolds of the detective bureau after he had opened fire from behind a fence on a police squad which was pursuing him and two companions, died last night in the Bridewell hospital.

The death of Churchill entitles Sergt. Reynolds to carve the ninth notch in his gun, for he already was officially credited with killing eight bandits, although his comrades said the number really was ten.

Reynolds was elevated from the ranks and made a sergeant less than a year ago for efficiency in clearing up all types of crimes of violence and three times has been winner of THE TRIBUNE'S award.

Acidity

More insidious than skulking assassins, Acidity lays more men low than all the guns of gangdom! Many a rundown condition, many a case of "nerves," sleeplessness and melancholy is really Acidity.

When the stomach secretes too much acid it causes acid-indigestion, with gas, sourness, and burning. It also sets up fermentation and putrefaction in the intestines, creating poisons which pull us down physically and mentally. A marvelous German development, called Magnesia Oxoids, corrects Acidity in the right way. Upon contact with the gastric juice, Magnesia Oxoids generate nascent, or active oxygen. The oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus which keeps the acid in check; corrects intestinal fermentation and stimulates peristalsis or the natural movement of the bowels. All these effects are necessary, and only Magnesia Oxoids supply them because it is the only magnesia product known to science which, when taken internally, releases oxygen to the system.

To see just how "acid" you are, make this test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen Drug Stores, Economical Drug Stores, or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If after taking the contents of one bottle, the results are more than amaze you, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money promptly and in full.

DEMOCRATS IN FIGHT TO LOSE AT SPRINGFIELD

Want No Speakership with City Hall Tag.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The projected battle over the speakership took on unusual aspects tonight as law makers began to straggle in for the general assembly which opens Wednesday.

Reports that a Thompson-Small group might flop to Michael L. Igoe, Democratic national committeeman and Democratic candidate for speaker, when the balloting begins, led the Cook county Democrats to take steps to avert any effort of the Chicago city hall to put the gavel in the hands of a Democrat.

Word in the Democratic camp is that A. J. Cermak, Cook county chairman and candidate for mayor, will be on the scene before the party caucuses start tomorrow night. Mr. Igoe and other Democratic leaders have declared there are to be no bipartisan deals with any Republican groups over the speakership. The Democrats say that acceptance of Republican votes even without an understanding excite public suspicion and would smear the Democratic party in the mayoralty election and in the state election two years hence.

May Keep Votes in Pocket.

One plan proposed is, in the event Small-Thompson members start to vote for a Democratic nominee for speaker, enough Democrats will refrain from voting to block the election.

Cook county Democrats tonight also conveyed word to David E. Shanahan, five times speaker, who is leading candidate for gavel honors, that if any indications should develop of a deal to make a downstate Democrat speaker with the aid of the Republican groups which have been offering support, enough Chicago Democrats will vote for Shanahan on the next ballot to put him in the chair.

Most of the old timers here tonight look for the election of Mr. Shanahan. But the day has been one of perplexities. Scouts who have been buttonholing the Republican first comers—mostly Egyptians who are trained to get in early—say they appear to be quite divided, but on anti-Emmerson lines rather than anti-Shanahan.

Paxton Man Confident.

Representative G. J. [Gus] Johnson of Paxton, who is here, has been spreading word that he has the speakership in his hand. The scouts, however, say Mr. Johnson is doing his celebrating early, and seasoned veterans declare that if the Republican caucus votes by open vote instead of closed ballot Shanahan will get it the first crack.

There are 81 Republicans on hand for the caucus which T. J. [Tip] Doyle, state chairman, will preside over tomorrow night, and 41 votes will control. The big kick of the anti-Emmerson groups, especially in Egypt, is that the governor, instead of passing out the patronage to his supporters, has retained Small appointees in office. Mr. Johnson, whom some of the anti-Emmersonians are talking up for speaker, was Republican state chairman during the Small régime.

Schnackenberg a Factor.

Some appear to be lining up for Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, who, however, is friendly to Mr. Shanahan. Mr. Schnackenberg was regarded as the floor leader last session, although he did not hold the official title, and this time he may also land the titular honor.

Meanwhile James W. Breen, chief assistant corporation counsel, has been on the ground. Reports from Chicago were that he was sent by Thompson to "crack the whip" on the city hall members. So far, however, what city hall adherents are on the ground are spreading word that they are not antagonistic to Mr. Shanahan. Mr. Breen himself registered what in Hollywood would pass for astonishment when asked about the whip cracking.

His presence, however, led to renewed calls from the Democrats upon Mr. Cermak to come to town to keep the city hall Republicans from putting a Democrat in the speaker's chair—they seem to fear the Greeks even bearing gifts.

Igoe a Candidate.

In the Democratic house caucus Mr. Igoe is to be candidate for speaker, in the Democratic senate caucus Senator Thomas J. Courtney is likely to be picked for minority leader. The Republicans expect to select Senator Richard J. Barr for president pro tem. He was shelved last time but ran the senate machine anyhow.

Two legislative contests were filed with Secretary of State Stratton today. Mrs. Rena Elrod of Chicago, defeated in the 25th district in November, began contest proceedings and named the three successful candidates in the district as respondents. They are Edwin B Bederman, Benjamin S. Adamowski and Raymond T. O'Keefe. Samuel S. Epstein, defeated in the 17th district (Chicago), filed a contest naming Roland S. Libonati, Charles Coia, and Anthony Pintozzi.

FOUND INSANE

JOHN PRESTON.

KILLER OF GIRL FOUND INSANE; STAY EXECUTION

Preston's Mother Swoons as Verdict Is Read.

John E. Preston, former Chicago painter and steeplejack, who was convicted a year ago of the murder of Miss Agnes Johnston, 26 years old, whom he killed after he had attacked her on a lonely road near West Chicago, was found insane last night by a jury in the Circuit court at Wheaton.

The jury's verdict will prevent the execution of Preston, who was under sentence to be electrocuted in Joliet penitentiary on Thursday morning.

The case was given to the jury at 1:45 p. m. and the verdict was returned at 9:02 p. m. State's Attorney W. C. Reed of Dupage county immediately made a motion for a new trial and Judge John K. Newhall set Jan. 16 as the date for arguments on the motion and issued an order staying the execution until Feb. 20.

Allows State Arguments.

Eugene McGarry, attorney for Preston, protested that the jury's action in a sanity hearing was final, declaring that this had been decided by the Supreme court, but Judge Newhall allowed the state to present arguments.

If the jury's verdict holding Preston insane is upheld he will be taken from the death house at Joliet penitentiary in which he has been a prisoner for more than a year, and confined in the state hospital for the criminal insane at Chester.

Preston brightened when the verdict saving him from the electric chair was read and appeared eager to talk, but Capt. Ben A. Davenport of the Joliet prison guard, to whom the prisoner was bound with handcuffs and heavy chains refused to permit reporters to talk to him.

Prisoner's Mother Collapses.

His mother, Mrs. Mary Preston of St. Paul, who testified for her son, collapsed when the verdict was brought in and was revived with difficulty. Mrs. Preston suffers from heart disease.

Preston also was aided by his two sisters, Miss Irene Preston of St. Paul and Mrs. Hazel Scott of Omaha, and his young wife, who ran away from home to marry him when she was 18 years old and who said even after he had confessed that he had been a model husband.

Preston attacked Miss Johnston after a tour of west suburban roadhouses, in which, it was said, he drank nearly a quart of moonshine.

PICK 30 TO PLAN NEW GOVERNMENT STRUCTURE HERE

Cermak Names Body to Study System.

The appointment of thirty citizens to serve on a commission to work out a plan for the coördination and simplification of local governments was announced yesterday by President Cermak of the county board. The creation of the commission was approved by the county commissioners.

The group will be known as the citizens' commission on public finance and economy. The proposal for the appointment of the group was made on Dec. 29 by President Cermak who pointed out that millions of dollars might be saved through a retrenchment of local governmental expenditures.

According to the resolution passed yesterday by the county board the commission will study public credit governmental services and expenditures, and develop definite measures for taxation and revenue reform, coördination of the 417 local governments in the county and the application of business principles to public administration.

Seek Legislative Relief.

Under Cermak's plan permanent relief should be obtained through the coming session of the legislature and later through a constitutional convention.

The thirty citizens who will be asked to serve on the commission are as follows:

Sewell L. Avery	Victor A. Olander
Robert F. Carr	Mrs. Florence B. Peterson
Henry W. Croxton	Robert Isham Randolph
William R. Dawes	George A. Ranney
James L. Donnelly	Julius Rosenwald
Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank	Fred W. Sargent
Geo. O. Fairweather	Walter Dill Scott
August Gewecke	Mark Shanks
Mrs. Wm. G. Hibbard	Julius F. Smietanka
Robert Maynard Hutchins	Albert A. Sprague
D. F. Kelly	Silas H. Strawn
The Rev. R. M. Kelly	John Stuart
Clayton Mark	Cornelius Teninga
Chas. E. Merriam	John P. Wilson
Lewis E. Myers
Frank J. O'Brien

President Cermak was authorized to make additional appointments from time to time as the need arises. One of the group will be named soon to act as chairman. Cermak said that he would ask those who accept the appointment to meet within the next two weeks.

Cites Tax Situation.

In his communication Cermak pointed out that the reduction in real estate values and the increases in tax delinquencies are placing increasing and disproportionate tax burdens on the taxpayers and are affecting the income from taxation of the local governments.

He declared that there are definite signs of another break down of public credit and that without the immediate adoption of permanent measures for effective governmental administration still greater problems will face the public.

ALMA RUBENS IS IN AGAIN ON DRUG CHARGES

Dope Found Sewn in Her Clothing.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Alma Rubens, formerly a star of the films, was in jail here tonight facing federal prosecution for possession of forty tubes of morphine.

The actress, supposedly cured of the narcotic habit after having been a patient in two California state institutions within the past year and a half, was arrested in the U. S. Grant hotel this afternoon. Her arrest ended a sequence of events which began when Miss Rubens' maid, Ruth Palmer, complained to police that the actress had attacked her, partially stripped off her clothing and ejected her from the Rubens' automobile.

Following Miss Palmer's complaint, Miss Rubens herself besought police to recover for her an $8,000 brooch, which, she said, had been taken from her either by Ruth Palmer or Eddie Tolman, her chauffeur. Police found the brooch shortly afterward on one of the actress' gowns.

Drugs Sewed in Dress.

They searched further and found most of the drugs sewed into the lining of one of her dresses. A small amount of morphine was in Miss Rubens' purse.

Sobbing and hysterical, Miss Rubens was finger printed, made to pose for a police identification picture and then locked in a cell. Her telephonic appeals to a Los Angeles motion picture executive for aid went unanswered. Then she telephoned to Miss Marion Davies at the ranch of W. R. Hearst. According to Sergt. Alvin Lyle, Miss Rubens declared Miss Davies assured her she would "take care of the attorney's expenses." Miss Rubens will appear before United States Commissioner Henry G. Ryan at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Motored in from Mexico.

Miss Rubens, attended by her chauffeur, Tolman, and Miss Palmer, motored here this morning after a three day sojourn in Mexico.

On their arrival Miss Palmer went to the police station and made her complaint. Learning of the maid's complaint, Miss Rubens rushed to the police with her charges against Tolman and the girl. Police questioned Tolman, then permitted him to go. He said he was no longer working for Miss Rubens and suggested they investigate the actress' room. Recovery of the brooch and the morphine followed.

Alma Rubens went into eclipse as a film actress in March, 1929, when she was committed to the Spadra hospital for narcotic addicts in March, 1929, as the only woman inmate ever allowed in that institution. Some months later Dr. T. F. Joyce, head of the Spadra institution, recommended a change and the actress, accompanied by her friend, Ethel Davies, sister of Marion Davies; three nurses, a doctor, and two guards, took a house in Pomona, Cal., for further treatment.

Miss Rubens escaped from surveillance at Pomona, and was recaptured after a Chinese gardener was noticed in possession of a $1,000 ring. The gardener claimed Miss Rubens had given it to him, and was accused of supplying her with narcotics and a means of escape.

Married Three Times.

Following this escapade, the actress was committed to Patton insane asylum in May, 1929. She attacked a deputy sheriff with a knife on the way to Patton, but was subdued. Five months later she was dismissed from Patton as cured.

Miss Rubens' first husband was Franklin Farnum whom she married in Los Angeles in 1918, but sued for divorce shortly afterward. Her second husband was Dr. Daniel Carson Goodman, physician and movie executive, whom she divorced in Los Angeles in 1925. Her third husband, Ricardo Cortez, actor, is now separted from her.

SAYS STILL CREW OFFERED BRIBES AT NILES CENTER

Four men arrested as operators of a 500 gallon still at 7715 Kolmar avenue, Niles Center, offered $1,500 to prevent the raid, Chief of Police Charles Holmes of Niles Center told Assistant United States Attorney Edward A. Fisher yesterday.

Chief Holmes said one of the defendants, Al Salsberry, told him to call Austin 0670 and ask for "Goldberg." "There's $1,500 in it for you," the chief was told.

The telephone number was found to be that at 4658 Jackson boulevard, where Capt. Joseph Goldberg of the Chicago police formerly lived. However, it was learned that Capt. Goldberg moved out nearly a year ago and another Goldberg moved in.

Fisher obtained a warrant charging "John Doe, alias Goldberg" with violation of the prohibition laws. Salsberry and the others in custody, Edmund Poncin, Charles Alpino, and Angelo Geocomelli were held in bonds by the commissioner pending a hearing on Jan. 8.

ROBBER TAKES HIS $175.

Abraham Konicz, 1522 Devon avenue, was robbed of $175 yesterday afternoon by an armed man as he emerged from the Capital State Savings bank, 5437 North Clark street.

GOOD FELLOWS, KEEP UP WORK FOR 2 MONTHS

Many Will Be Hungry if You Don't.

There are just two more months until spring with its seasonal stimulus of employment. That isn't long for Good Fellows to continue to support 252 destitute families but it's a long time for any one to go cold and hungry, especially for women and children confined in unheated basement flats.

As long as you Good Fellows continue your contributions, these 252 adopted families will receive food, shelter, heat, and clothing through the winter or until they become self supporting again. If more Good Fellows are recruited, more families will be adopted.

$200 for Two Months.

If you have a job, you can help one of the unemployed keep his family together while he looks for work. The standard budget for minimum necessities for a destitute family averages $100 a month. For $200, you can rescue some cold and hungry family from suffering this winter.

If $200 is more than you can afford, perhaps some of your associates in your office, your church or your club would be glad to join with you in adopting a family. In quite a few companies, employés have adopted a plan of giving a day's pay per month.

No Overhead Expenses.

A donation of any amount will reach some deserving family without any deductions for overhead. THE TRIBUNE pays the expenses of administrating the fund.

If you want to help, address the Good Fellow, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago. There is a coupon published on this page for your convenience in making contributions.

GOOD FELLOWS!

JOB REQUESTS TO SALLY SHOW BIG INCREASE

Many Placed by Free Agency.

A large increase in the number of persons seeking jobs was noted yesterday by both Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE and the Illinois Free Employment service, 116 North Dearborn street. An increase in the number of jobs offered to men likewise was seen by Miss Brown, who aids the unemployed by turning over all offers of jobs she receives to the Illinois agency.

Among others who received jobs through Miss Brown was C. F. His young wife's letter to Miss Brown was quoted in part in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE, in which she said that her husband was a decorator, but "can drive, clean house, do porter work, almost anything." Early yesterday F. S., on East 46th street, called Miss Brown to tell her that he could give C. F. a decorating job. A few minutes late Mrs. S., on the west side, called to say she would give C. F. a day's job washing the walls of her kitchen and bathrooms.

Two Offer to Aid Woman.

Another letter, from Mrs. J. P., the mother of three, who managed to feed her children over the holidays, but who was laid off as an extra saleswoman in a department store on Christmas eve, was quoted in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE. Yesterday two women called Miss Brown. They declined to give their names, but on request were given the name of Mrs. J. P. One said she had a carpenter's job to give her husband. The other had a housework job for Mrs. J. P.

A job for a paperhanger and calciminer was offered through Miss Brown by H. Y., in the 3200 block on Lawrence avenue. Mrs. M. S., in the 4500 block on North Winchester avenue had a job for a man to wash seven windows.

"I want to give an upholsterer a job," Mrs. A. B., in the 11100 block on Longwood drive, said. "I want my living room suite reupholstered. He can name his own price."

A permanent $25 a week porter's job was offered by a motor sales company on 25th street. Another permanent porter's job was offered by the J. P. National bank on 71st street.

D. L., in the 1900 block on East 71st street, provided two jobs, one for a porter, the other for a second cook.

Stating that he wished the job to go to an aged man, L. S., in the 3200 block on South Michigan avenue, offered a job as houseman through Miss Brown.

A piano tuner was given a job tuning Mrs. R. H.'s piano in the 4700 block on Beacon street. R. P., in the 4800 block on Winthrop avenue, said he would give a couple $70 a month and a furnished apartment to take charge of a rooming house.

A $25 a week stenographer's job, said to be permanent, was provided by the R. W. P. company on West Austin avenue.

Hold Up Postal Messenger, Take 3 Registered Parcels

Boonville, Ind., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Three masked men held up Sidney Youngblood, postoffice messenger, as he was en route from the Boonville postoffice to the railroad station here tonight, forced him into an automobile, took a locked mail bag known to contain three registered packages, and then threw Youngblood out of the machine three miles west of the city.

BRITISH JUDGE MISSES CHURCH; SEEK HIS ARREST

Foes of Blue Law Fire Opening Gun.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A war to the death is being waged in Manchester against the old fashioned English laws forbidding all forms of Sunday games and amusements. The first shot was fired today by officials of the Sunday Games and Freedom league in an effort to prove the laws of Sunday observance are intolerable.

The league applied for leave to prosecute Leonard Bramwell Cox, Manchester city councillor, who is also justice of peace, for "not exercising himself publicly and privately in the duties of piety and true religion," in other words, not going to church on Sunday.

Detectives Shadow Cox.

The action is being taken under the Lord's day observance act of 1677, which makes attendance at church compulsory on Sundays. Yesterday the league officials disguised themselves as detectives and shadowed Councillor Cox to see whether he attended any "divine service." As the councillor was otherwise engaged, today's application followed, the request being made with the chief constable in Manchester for permission to issue the summons.

The league's president, E. T. Hays, declared that today's action is only the first step in the campaign.

"We shall test cases of people who trade on Sundays, who ride street cars, and who produce newspapers," he said. "We must clear the air and wear somebody out."

Every Briton Is Liable.

Today's developments follow the recent high court decision declaring the opening of cinema theaters on Sundays is illegal. It is hoped to show the utter futility of the antiquated Sunday observance act. For, if the statute is enforced, practically every Britisher is liable to conviction for breaking the Sunday laws, as work of any kind, games, trade, and amusements are regarded as "crimes" under the act.

Manchester already bars games in public parks on Sundays. Recently one councillor was arrested and spent two Sundays in prison for bowling. The Sunday Games and Freedom league intends to continue its campaign to attempt to prove the ridiculousness of the restrictions by instituting other prosecutions for such "offenses" as offering milk for sale, printing newspapers, and other violations of the act.

AUTO INJURIES ARE FATAL TO WOMAN OF 82

Mrs. Isabelle Thompson, 82 years old, 2640 Warren avenue, who was struck by an automobile on Dec. 31 driven by John Lowe, 4939 Potomac avenue, died last night at the Washington Boulevard hospital. Lowe was subpoenaed for the inquest.

This death and three others increased the Cook county motor toll for 1931 to 28. The victims:

John Bergin, 53 years old, a resident of the Salvation Army shelter at 509 North Union avenue. Killed when struck by a hit and run driver while crossing Washington boulevard at Des Plaines street. The license number of the car, as given to the police, was traced to Mabelle Whiteside, 3131 Harlem avenue, Berwyn. She is being sought.

Miss Alice Smith, 27 years old, 6243 Ingleside avenue, a maid. Died at the Woodlawn hospital of injuries received on New Year's eve in a collision between two automobiles at 61st street and Ingleside avenue. John White, also of 6243 Ingleside avenue, who was driving the car in which Miss Smith was riding, was instantly killed.

David Fitzgerald, 25 years old, 4730 West Adams street, Chicago Surface Lines conductor. Died early this morning in the Keystone hospital of injuries received last night when he was hit by an automobile while standing back of a Crawford avenue line car adjusting the trolley under a railroad viaduct at Bloomingdale road.

The motorist was Arthur Langner, 23 years old, 1722 North Kimball avenue. Fitzgerald was pinned between the bumper of Langner's machine and the rear end of the car. One leg was severed. At the hospital it was found necessary to amputate the other leg. Because of the loss of blood an immediate transfusion was necessary. Twelve employés at the car barns at North and Cicero avenues volunteered.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(Adv.)

PASS CANAL CASE BACK AND FORTH BETWEEN COURTS

David Finally Agrees to Be Trial Judge.

The sanitary district conspiracy case was bounced like a rubber ball between the courtrooms of Judge Joseph B. David and Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court yesterday. The end of the day found it in Judge David's court with not much assurance that it would remain there long.

This case, in which Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the district, and trustees and officials of his régime are indicted for conspiracy to defraud the district, was assigned to Judge David by Chief Justice McGoorty after it had been taken from before Judge Charles A. Williams. An objection was taken to Judge Williams because he had sponsored his son as a sanitary district pay roller.

Defense attorneys, headed by John L. McInerney and Albert Fink, went with First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup to Judge David's chambers.

Refuses to Give Up Vacation.

"I worked all through the summer and I'm going to go on a vacation on Jan. 26 until April," said Judge David. "I'm not going to give up my vacation."

The attorneys went back to Judge McGoorty and told him of Judge David's statement.

"The case is in Judge David's hands," said Judge McGoorty, and back the lawyers went to Judge David.

"If I try this case I'd want a pledge from the defense attorneys that there will be no petition for a change of venue after I get started," said Judge David.

"This case will not be heard before fall," said Mr. Northup. "I shall file a certificate of objections before Judge McGoorty."

Promises Earlier Trial.

"What good would that do?" inquired Judge David. "You just told me the case was out of his hands and in mine. I can assure you that the case will be tried before fall."

"I want an immediate trial," insisted Mr. Northup.

The defense attorneys finally said they would confer with their clients and learn if they were willing to have Judge David hear the case. They said they would communicate with Mr. Northup on Thursday if their clients agreed to the arrangement. Judge David set next Monday for hearing on preliminary motions.

Five Missing as Blast Sinks Motor Ship; 11 Saved

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 5. — (AP) — One passenger and four of the crew of the Norwegian motor ship Tricolor were reported missing today after an explosion which sank the vessel not far outside this port. Radio messages from the steamer Porthos, which picked up some of the survivors, said that the Norwegian captain, her wireless operator, and two others of the crew were believed drowned. Eleven passengers were saved. The Tricolor sailed from Hamburg Dec. 6 for Yokohama.

RUHR COAL MINE STRIKE BLAMED ON RUSSIAN REDS

German Official Declares Moscow Hatched Plot.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—Home Minister Karl Severing of Prussia tonight declared over the radio that police are in full control of the coal strike situation in the Rhineland. He warned Germany that the communist attempts to stir up a general strike were only a part of a program dictated by Russian bolshevists.

He read the details of secret communist instructions to their Ruhr leaders to exploit economic stress not only in the Ruhr coal mine district but in all big industrial centers of Germany. Herr Severing said he believed that the interception of these instructions has greatly hampered the communists' activities in the Ruhr.

Strikers Return to Work.

The first strike wave in the Ruhr mines ebbed today when, under the threat of dismissal, half of the strikers resumed work. Police at Bochun, in a sudden raid, arrested more than 100 communist leaders, and thus paralyzed communist plans for further terrorism.

At Marl a job of mobless attacked police with stones and bottles. Eighty-seven arrests were made. Another riot was reported at Bottrop, where a group of jobless clashed with workers.

Germany's minister of labor, Dr. Adam Stegerwald, arrived at Dortmund today for discussions with representatives of employers and workers before the new arbitration proceedings open Wednesday.

Fear British Mine Riots.

LONDON, Jan. 5. — (AP) — Soap box orators were talking communism in the South Wales coal fields today and it became obvious there was a grave danger of disorder among the 140,000 miners, idle since New Year's day because of wage disputes with the mine owners.

Up in Burnley, center of the textile industry, another industrial crisis reached the breaking point today and 3,500 weavers walked out of nine cotton mills as a protest against the owners' demands that each weaver double the number of looms in his charge.

Call Out 32,000 Weavers.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Thirty-two thousand weavers affiliated with the textile trades union are affected by a strike order issued today calling out workers from all mills in which employers have decided to cut wages beginning Jan. 12. The strike is scheduled to begin on the date set for the wage reduction.

NICARAGUA HEAD WANTS AMERICAN MARINES TO STAY

Thinks Presence Needed to Crush Banditry.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 5.—(AP)—President Jose Moncada of Nicaragua believes it would be unwise to withdraw American marines from the country at this time, he said today. The president said he would like, however, to insure additional coöperation of Nicaraguans with the marines in an effort to stamp out banditry.

"We have many patriotic Nicaraguans," he said, "who would offer their services and specialized knowledge to give such coöperation in an effort to bring about lasting peace in the bandit infested regions."

Seek $1,000,000 Loan.

The country, at the moment, he said, has no funds with which to increase the strength of the National Guard but efforts are being made to obtain a loan of $1,000,000 from the National bank.

Part of this sum would be used in the campaign against the bandits and in constructing highways.

Senate Asks Report.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—That American relations with Nicaragua are in for another congressional airing this winter was made clear today when the senate, without objection or debate approved a resolution calling upon the state department for a comprehensive report on the use of United States marines in the Central American republic. The resolution was offered by Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], a member of the foreign relations committee.

Immediately prior to the passage of the Johnson resolution, Senator W. H King [Dem., Utah], introduced a resolution calling upon the administration to withdraw all American marines immediately from Nicaragua.

Outcome of Eight Killings.

Both resolutions were offered as a direct result of the killing of eight marines by Nicaraguan bandits on New Year's day. Senator Johnson, in explaining his action, said that he thought the time had come for an inquiry into the situation in Nicaragua, where American marines have been maintained for many years.

Despite agitation in congress, the administration does not contemplate removing the marines in the immediate future. Secretary of State Stimson said today that the administration planned to keep marines in Nicaragua at least until after the 1932 elections.

BUY TO BRING BUSINESS BACK, SAYS CHRYSLER

Skimp and You Pinch Yourself, He Holds.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Walter P. Chrysler once worked in a machine shop. He still has his first tools and a lot of his original ideas. One of the ideas is that people who have money should spend it. Today the president and chairman of the board of Chrysler corporation sat in his office in his own skyscraper and talked of business and the cycle between depression and prosperity.

"The time has come," said Mr. Chrysler, "when people should resume normal purchasing. No involved problem in economics need be solved to reach this conclusion. When the public is not buying normally, men cannot be employed normally in production. When men are not employed they cease to be buyers of any but the bare necessities.

Auto Sales Help.

"Substantial and progressive recovery of the whole business community would undoubtedly be accomplished more directly and more extensively by increased sales of automobiles than by any other single factor in our economic structure."

The tall, baldish man fingered an open letter with a scrawled check pinned to the paper. The letter was postmarked Sands Springs, Kas., and the check was for $1,000, with the request that it be invested in Chrysler stock.

"They know me pretty well out there," explained Walter Chrysler. "We need more people with faith. I'll tell you what happened at my house out on Long Island. I went home the other night and the place was dark. There was not a light burning outside and mighty few inside. So I asked the butler what had happened. He told me Mrs. Chrysler had ordered him to economize on the lights.

On Go the Lights.

"Well, I settled that. There was no financial need at my place to sacrifice light. That is what has been wrong with business. People who can afford to spend should spend. We need more light and we have it at my place."

The man who made automobiles build the second tallest structure in the world spoke straight across one of the biggest glass topped desks in town, and this is what he said:

"Do you want what we need summed up in a word. It is 'action.' The nation's wealth since the war has become well distributed for the first time. It is distributed as it never was before. Even those people who lost their paper profits in Wall street have an amazing amount of money left. The secret of good times is in the hands of the public. It is up to them to end the depression. If people with the means to buy will buy there will be work for labor, and labor in turn will buy, and its money will spread to other industries.

Where Auto Dollar Goes.

"How extensively activity in other industries depends upon activity in the automotive industries has been little realized. Yet our business authorities agree that America's industrial destiny rides at the wheel of the automobile. Moreover, if this dependency of so much of our industrial activity upon the automobile industry were definitely recognized by the public and translated into action, the result would be far more effective in reducing unemployment than any remedy heretofore advanced.

"What the unemployed want today is work—not charity—an it is not too much to say that the automobile dollar, distributed as it is to every state in the union, is the most immediate and direct means of stimulating employment in practically the entire industrial field. There was never a time in the history of industry when a dollar would buy more value in any commodity than it does today.

Prosperity on Wheels.

"In the rising trend of prosperity during the last decade the annual production and consumption of automobiles were admittedly the most essential influence. And all through the current depression it has been repeatedly pointed out that the fundamental improvement waits upon revival in the two key industries—automobiles and building."

Mr. Chrysler lifted a bronze paper weight, adjusted his pinch-nose glasses and began to read statistics.

"No, you have not seen these figures in the papers," he said, "and there are few who realize their importance. There never has been anything in the economic world like the train of incidents that the purchase of a motor car will draw in its wake. When automobile production is booming the country is prosperous and the unemployed relatively few.

Jobs for Nearly 5,000,000.

"The industry gives employment—this has been stated before—to 4,700,000 persons, one out of every ten persons in gainful occupations, either directly, as in production, selling, financing, servicing, and operating automobiles, or indirectly to persons producing and selling raw materials used in automobile manufacturing or operation. This employment, too, is so reflected through thousands of retail outlets that its purchasing power, aggregating about 5½ billion dollars, is spread over the entire country.

"Take any normal year for motor car manufacture—it will consume about 18 per cent of the country's total output of rolled steel, 60 per cent of stripped steel, 39 per cent of sheet metal, 29 per cent of bar steel, and 52 per cent of malleable steel, 84 per cent of our rubber imports, 73 per cent of our plate glass output, 17 per cent of our hardwood lumber production, 15 per cent of our copper, 31 per cent of lead, 26 per cent of nickel, 80 per cent of our gasoline output, and a substantial percentage of other products and services.

Spreads Prosperity Wide.

"Few people know that the industry is the largest manufacturing industry in the world, with important ramifications into practically every other major industry for raw materials and semi-finished products. The industry is the third largest railroad shipper, normally giving the railroads $563,000,000 of revenue annually. Automobile insurance premiums alone total more than $565,000,000 a year.

"The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce estimates that in terms of the 1914 dollar, the automobile dollar today is worth 122 pre-war cents. Furthermore, not only have automobile prices been thoroughly deflated, but also quality of output has reached the highest standards which the industry has ever achieved."

Mr. Chrysler looks ahead with confidence and talks to a lot of people, as he commutes between Detroit and New York almost every week. Good business is just a matter of good spending, he believes, and prosperity is up to the public—if the public wants to buy it.

LARGEST FLYING BOAT IN WORLD SECRETLY BUILT FOR JAPAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 5.—The largest flying ship in the world, secretly built in England for the Japanese navy, is now en route to Japan packed in 21 cases aboard the Toyohashi Maru and is due to arrive in Osaka by the end of January.

This gigantic metal craft is understood to have the world's largest wing span. It has a total lifting capacity of 20 tons. Compared to the DO-X, the ship could easily carry 200 men, but has been designed to carry a crew of six. This is because of a specially designed hull to haul war explosives.

The craft is driven by three Rolls-Royce motors. A test in England proved to be a complete success. More ships of the same design will be built in Japan.

THOUSANDS SEE PHIL LA FOLLETTE MADE GOVERNOR

Madison, Wis., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Before an uncountable throng of thousands that pushed through every capitol opening and crowded the galleries under the dome, Philip La Follette took the oath of office as governor of Wisconsin at noon today with an expression of hope that the confidence of Wisconsin people had not been misplaced.

It probably was Wisconsin's greatest gathering of politicians and veterans in the fight for left-wing Republicanism since the funeral service for the late Senator Robert M. La Follette in 1925. The crowd included men, women and children from all sections of the state, who came to see the inauguration of the youngest governor Wisconsin has ever had. He is 33 years old.

CHURCH GROUP HITS MILK PRICE CUT TO FARMERS

Declares New Terms Are Unfair to Producer.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Declaring that the settlement of Chicago's milk price reduction, announced last Saturday, is "overwhelmingly at the expense of the farmer, unjust, short sighted, and really no remedy at all," the industrial commission of the Chicago Church federation yesterday criticized the allocation of losses between milk producers, distributors, and the labor unions.

Urges Farm Prosperity.

Dr. James Mullenbach, arbiter for the clothing industry here, presided. He said economists who attended the National Economics association meeting in Cleveland last week had declared that unless agricultural conditions were bettered industrial prosperity could not be expected.

From his discussion the commission turned to rural conditions in the area adjacent to Chicago, followed by their declaration that "the Chicago public should recognize that a great deal of our present distress is due to lack of buying power by the farmer."

The announced change in the retail price of milk from 14 to 13 cents per quart made by milk dealers New Year's day started the differences between factors in the dairy industry here as to who should take the burden of the cut. The 1 cent a quart drop was estimated to be a saving of more than $15,000 daily to Chicago consumers.

Dr. Clyde L. King, milk arbiter of Philadelphia, following a hearing of both farmer and dealer spokesmen on Saturday set the burden of reduction at 35 cents per 100 pounds for the farmer, and 11½ cents for the dealer. The wagon drivers and indoor dairy workers, under a long time contract, took no part in the readjustment, their salaries remaining unchanged.

Waukegan Price Unchanged.

Waukegan consumers will continue to pay the old price of 13 cents a quart, which is the same as the new price in Chicago, it was decided yesterday at a meeting in Waukegan of local dealers and a delegation of the Pure Milk association, the farmers' organization.

The farmers supplying milk to Waukegan receive $2.80 a hundred pounds against $2.32 paid by the Chicago dealers, but the Waukegan farmers deliver to the Waukegan plants.

New Governors In

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 5.—(AP)—C. Ben Ross, the first Democrat to take the Idaho executive chair in 12 years, was inaugurated governor with simple ceremonies. He faces a legislature in which the Republicans have a majority in both houses.

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Gov. Fred B. Balzar, Republican, started today his second four year term in office.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Gov. Frank C. Emerson, Republican, was inaugurated for a second term.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 5.—(AP)—George W. P. Hunt, 72 year old pioneer, began his seventh term as governor today without formality. He ordered an immediate audit of state departments and demanded the resignations of several officials.

No Companionate Marriage!

Capital has at last gotten itself definitely married to wage-earning America.

It is no longer a trial marriage. That period is past. And it certainly isn't a companionate marriage. Because a child named Prosperity has already been born. And while that child and its fond parents may be, for the moment, under clinical observation, they are fully expected to recover and flourish heartily.

But the point is the marriage itself. That marriage has been definitely consummated, for better or for worse.

Now let us see how far the metaphor can go.

First, we know that it was capital that proposed and labor that accepted. We know this definitely, because labor was very shy during the courtship. A rather excited and flustered girl was being wooed by a man in top-hat.

Next, we know that the marriage was a happy one. There have been no quarrels of any importance since it occurred. No major strikes nor lockouts. And that is tremendously important.

We also know that it offered a happy solution to the economic problems of both. Capital has been interested in the marriage, has maintained the home, and has been deeply concerned when its helpmate was under the weather.

Finally, we have both parents entirely wrapped up in the interests of their child, called Prosperity.

That is enough of the metaphor. It goes very far. It could go much farther without straining it. But the facts in themselves are interesting enough without the imagery.

And the fact is that this world of ours has definitely started on a new economic era which, beginning here in America, will ultimately encompass the globe.

Those who have the vision to see this will be the ones to leave the next great fortunes to their heirs.

This new era which is just now at its beginning is the second great movement in the modern economic set-up of the world. The first came a hundred and fifty years ago with the advent of steam and the concentration of manufacture. It automatically threw capital and labor into different camps. And for a hundred and fifty years they fought each other with all the weapons at their command.

This second era was ushered in by an entirely new group of basic factors which has drawn capital and labor together just as definitely as the first era had thrown them apart.

Those factors we all now know. They are bracketed in phrases used so glibly that we cease to be impressed by the depth of their significance. Such phrases as "mass production," "automatic line production," "high speed machinery," "low-priced commodity."

"Low-priced commodities" merely mean that everybody can have them. But "automatic line production" means that everybody must have them. So it becomes not merely a desire at the bottom but a pressure at the top.

And if anybody thinks that this new miracle of mass production, which was started in America, is going to stop at our borders, he is simply out of his mind. Neither national boundaries nor tariffs nor wars will ultimately keep the humblest peasant in the heart of the Balkans from sitting beside his radio, or clothing his family in modern garb, or taking them riding in his automobile. Capital will ultimately arrange an adequate method of earning for him in order that his capacity for spending may provide another outlet for this giant Mass Production at the other end.

And that which may be a dream in the future to the Balkan peasant has already become the most real of realities in America today. Economic America has no other problem than that of getting enough of its commodities into the hands of the masses of wage-earning America in order to keep the wheels of its mass production turning at the other end.

Here in wage-earning America is where your mass consumption has to come from, more and more, until it reaches the very point of saturation. Here is where ninety per cent of your effort must be directed from now on. Here is where your advertising dollar will go farther than it has ever gone before.

You are very fortunate (and we say this modestly) in having in True Story Magazine a publication that gives you direct contact with millions of wage-earning America and offers the penetration point of millions upon millions more.

Don't worry about temporary set-backs. The marriage of capital and labor, of your mass production and your wage-earning mass outlet, has been definitely consummated. The issue is—Prosperity. And the child will live.

Children's Sore Throat

Relieve it Without Prolonged and Gagging Gargling!

To clear up a sore throat you have to kill the irritating germs lodged in the throat. That takes gargling with an antiseptic. But your old-fashioned antiseptic is so low in germicidal power it takes frequent and prolonged gargling to make any effect. An amazing new-type antiseptic replaces all that. McKesson's Extol is the "10-second germicide." It is so fast and effective, a one-minute gargling with Extol is equal to hours with ordinary products. Also, it is extremely penetrating, which is just as important! It penetrates the folds and crevices in the mouth and throat. It penetrates the mucous membrane and reaches the germs hidden underneath the outer layer of mucosa. In other words, it reaches the germs that ordinary preparations miss. That's why three one-minute garglings with Extol will usually clear up any oncoming sore throat, nose or head cold. That's why if used daily as a regular measure, Extol will prevent these infections. Extol is delightful to use. So refreshing it makes your ordinary mouth wash seem insipid by comparison. Economical too, as it not only costs less, but permits greater dilution. Get a bottle today. For sale at all McKesson Service Druggists and other independent drug stores. Note the name, EXTOL—a McKesson & Robbins product.

ARMY STRENGTH IS NOT CUT; BILL ASKS 446 MILLION

Measure Is Reported by House Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Maintenance of the army at the same level as at present is provided for by the war department annual appropriation bill reported to the house today by the appropriations committee.

The measure carries a total of 446 millions, of which 334 millions is devoted to the upkeep of the military establishment. The military appropriation is $5,000,000 below the amount voted for the army's expenses during the current year.

Guard to Remain at 190,000.

Although navy enlisted strength has been sharply reduced as an economy move, no reductions are recommended for the army. The enlisted personnel will remain at 118,750 and the commissioned personnel at 11,972. Funds are provided for training the same number of National Guard, C. M. T. C. candidates and officers of the reserve corps as last year. The strength of the National Guard is to remain at 190,000.

As the appropriation bill went to the house it provided that the policy of building up the air corps at the expense of the other combat branches will be continued during the next year. A report submitted by the appropriations committee expressed sympathy, however, for the opinoin held by Gen. Charles P. Summerall, former chief of staff, who contended in his final report that the policy of building up the air corps at the expense of the regular army should be stopped as soon as possible.

Takes No Definite Action.

While the house committee recommended funds for maintaining the present army personnel it failed to take definite action to expedite the development of an armored mechanized force in the army, a move recommended strongly by Gen. Summerall. No funds are included for the specific purpose of building up a permanent mechanized force.

The air corps appropriation is slightly larger than last year amounting to $37,000,000. This fund would give the air corps, the committee said, almost all of the 1,800 airplanes which the army is scheduled to have under the provisions of the five year expansion program adopted in 1926. The sum of $200,000 is included for use in experimentation on metal airship development.

MAY PUT 5 MILLIONS INTO ILLINOIS RIVER PROJECT IN 18 MONTHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—War department engineers plan to expend $5,150,000 on the Illinois river project from Joliet to the Mississippi river during the next eighteen months.

This was disclosed today when the house appropriations committee made public the war department supply bill, carrying $60,000,000 for rivers and harbor improvement work during the 1932 fiscal year beginning July 1.

Although the funds for river and harbor work are voted in lump, Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, informed members of the committee that the department would expend $3,950,000 on the improvement of the Illinois project. This is in addition to $1,200,000 allotted to the Illinois waterway out of the $22,500,000 voted for river and harbor construction work in the 116 million dollar emergency relief bill enacted before the holidays.

Maj. Gen. Brown did not specify where the $3,950,000 was to be expended except to say that almost all of it would be used on the Joliet-Utica state waterway. Congress has authorized $11,000,000 for the combined Illinois river and Illinois waterway projects.

ASK CONGRESS FOR $1,750,000 FOR CHICAGO FAIR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—A delegation from the Chicago Century of Progress exposition was here today in connection with legislation for the appropriation of $1,750,000 for government participation. A bill appropriating this amount as recommended recently by President Hoover at the suggestion of a commission of cabinet officials was introduced in the house today by Representative Carl R. Chindblom [Rep., Ill.].

Arrangements were made for a hearing before the house committee on library on Jan. 15 on the bill.

PARIS COPS FOIL MOVIE THRILLER IN THE REAL LIFE

Save U.S. Girl from Death at Hands of Gangster.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 5.—An American gangster's vengeance against the girl he loves, but who spurns him, and her new lover, has been frustrated—for the time being—by the French police.

The heroine is Miss Margot Yoder of Texas. She was chosen from among 3,000 piano pupils to be a student under the French master, Alfred Cortot. The hero is B. Huntington Allen, a young war veteran, four times wounded, now associated with the Paris branch of an American bond house. The villain is Milton M. Wright, 30, once sentenced for manslaughter, served in Sing Sing and was paroled.

Scene Opens in Hollywood.

Scene one: Hollywood six months ago. Miss Yoder plays musical accompaniments for the talkies. Wright, just paroled from Sing Sing, is a hanger on around the lot. He falls in love with Miss Yoder.

Scene two: The docks in New York. Miss Yoder is about to leave for France to study music. Wright finds her, having followed from Hollywood. She repulses him and he insults her, then beats her.

Scene three: Paris, a month later. Miss Yoder is happy with her music and her new found love, Mr. Allen. She receives a letter from Wright stating that he will arrive in France on Christman, and—"If it's the last thing I do in my life, I am going to kill you."

Scene four: Miss Yoder and Mr. Allen visit the police and the American consulate. They show the letter and relate Wright's criminal record. Wright arrives in Paris and goes to Miss Yoder's apartment, having obtained her address from a detective agency.

Miss Yoder, Mr. Allen, and a mutual girl friend are awaiting Wright. Mr. Allen has obtained permission from the French police to carry a pistol. He poses as a friend, not of Miss Yoder, but of the other girl. The four go out to dinner.

Scene five—The street before Miss Yoder's apartment. Miss Yoder, Wright, Allen, and the girl friend return from an evening of gayety. French detectives seize Wright and take him to the Belgian border, pushing him across.

American Police Advised.

Last reports state that he is waiting at Antwerp for a chance to sneak across the French border to carry out his idea of vengeance. The New York police have been advised of his lurid stories of his own Gotham criminal exploits, recounted to Miss Yoder in a spirit of bravado.

Scene six—Miss Yoder today announced her engagement to Mr. Allen. They will be married in June at Paris.

FOR ANY CHILD

CHILDREN are happy and carefree by nature, so when they cry for no apparent reason any careful mother worries. No one can always guess just what is wrong but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as baby has a fretful spell, is feverish and cross and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes it is constipation. Just keep Castoria handy and give freely for any of the above conditions; relief will follow promptly.

All through babyhood, Castoria is a mother's standby, and wise mothers do not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Just increase the dose of Castoria and keep the youngster's stomach sweet and the bowels in good order.

To be sure of getting genuine Fletcher's Castoria you should look for this signature: Chas. H. Fletcher

Criminal haunts were under police surveillance last night as detectives sought nine gunmen who held up a money wagon of Marshall Field & Co. yesterday on the Orleans street side of the Merchandise Mart. The crime netted the thieves only $165 in Canadian currency and an undetermined amount in Canadian checks.

The robbery was a daring one. Two automobile loads of bandits swept up Orleans street to Bank street and cut off the money wagon. Nine men, some masked, leaped out. Two ran to Mounted Policeman Michael Storen, threatened him with guns and compelled him to dismount. Another awed a group of six or seven startled spectators. The others surrounded the wagon, leveled shotguns and revolvers at Roy West detective agency guard: O. K. Funkhouser, another guard, and Charles Brandon, the driver, the latter two employed by Field's.

Both guards were disarmed, and the money bag seized. The gang boarded their two machines and sped away.

Austrian Foes of War Film Set Fire to Theater

VIENNA, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Arson was added today to the measures taken by objectors to the American war film, "All Quiet on the Western Front," to prevent its being shown in Austria. A theater in which the film was to be exhibited tomorrow was set on fire, but the flames were extinguished before they had spread. The police found an inflammable liquid had been poured over the projection room, then lighted. Four National Socialists were arrested.

The time to buy Real Estate IS BEFORE the upward movement starts

THE people who will cash in on the next upward movement of Chicago real estate values are the ones who are quietly taking advantage of the bargains available today.

These far-sighted investors know that Chicago land values sooner or later will again reach new high levels. Anticipating this inevitable advance, they are watching the market for real estate buys that offer the biggest opportunities for profits.

The market that most of these investors watch is the Chicago Tribune Want Ad Section. Here on week-days and on Sundays they find the cream of the real estate offers in Chicago and suburbs. It is the Chicago real estate market because the Tribune carries more real estate want advertising than all other Chicago newspapers combined.

The time to buy real estate is before the upward movement starts. The time to investigate real estate in Chicago and suburbs is now.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH HOME?

The clock strikes three— too late for children to be out . . . they're still children, you know . . . always will be . . . just children.

A thousand thoughts flash through your mind . . . car crashing into curb, flying glass . . . wonder what sort of a fellow he really is . . . the man, I mean, who came to the door for Betty. Good family, no doubt. But still . . . on and on . . . thought after thought . . . fear after fear. Anything can happen at three o'clock in the morning.

Let's take the wraps off and look at naked facts. What a problem . . . bringing up children these days. The world offers them much . . . bright lights, music, laughter, fun . . . and what not. Everything used to be built around the home, but lately home has been meeting real competition and many think home is losing the fight. Smile, if you will, and wave it off . . . but the average child . . . your child . . . anybody's child . . . can think of a dozen "nicer places to be" than home.

Tick, tick. Was that a car at the curb? No, just the wind again. What can anybody find to do at an hour like this?

Some say home is losing its fight . . . and who's to blame? No one in particular. Times are just drifting that way. We're all to blame. If children would rather be some place else than home . . . don't blame the children.

If night clubs and other places are more attractive than home, this merely means that home is not trying as hard . . . to be attractive.

How to keep the children home . . . that is the one important question today. Far more important than prohibition, business conditions, tariff, or even prospects of another World War.

If this is a problem with you, try this simple expedient and see what a difference it makes. Put entertainment into the home . . . clean entertainment . . . radio . . . things to do. Then start throwing out the drab old furniture, replace it with interesting new things . . . a rug (decidedly unlike the old one), a chair or two, tables, and in the bedrooms bright colorful hangings, an orchid chaise longue against a green carpet . . . the sort of colors Betty has always liked. Any good interior decorator connected with any good furniture dealer will know exactly how to go about it . . . how to make a home out of your house.

At today's prices any good furniture dealer can completely make your home over for practically no money at all . . . as against what things used to cost.

"But we can't afford to spend the money now," you may say; "times are hard and whatever we have . . . we'd better hang on to." Well . . . you have your children.

Hang on to them!

DISCARDING THE AMERICAN FAITH.

Representative La Guardia of New York says it is "the duty of the federal government to take such action as to eliminate suffering, hunger and want in the future."

That is an assertion that would be heartily applauded in Moscow. It represents a fallacy which has a good deal of popularity at this time as in past times of stress. If it is not intelligently and strongly resisted it will produce results lastingly injurious to the nation's economic and political welfare.

Happily for the American people no such fallacy was tolerated by the founders of the American nation. We have progressed and prospered beyond any other people because our forbears had a wholesome distrust of the domination of the central government and of all government and a sound perception of the truth that a free people will work out their own salvation through their own intelligence and character, if interfered with as little as possible by politicians and job holders. The notion that the government is an all-powerful, all-wise, and all-beneficent agency to solve all our difficulties and cure all our diseases, to push us in a perambulator from the cradle to the grave, is the folly of immature minds. It throws a pleasing but deceptive light upon the politician and the official, but the people will prepare their own greater misfortune by following it at this or any other time. The government is neither all-powerful, all-wise nor all-beneficent. It is an organization of men like ourselves at the best, and at the worst of men whose self-interest is to pose as saviors of the people and as venders of remedies which are acceptable to the taste, though injurious in the long run to the patient. At this time, under stress of economic reaction, a flood of these quack remedies is in preparation. There is a general advance of the politicians upon the national treasury and the nation is being vociferously invited to rush into expenditures of public money which will rest like a weight of lead upon productive enterprise for generations.

That certain well considered expenditures upon useful public works are desirable no one will deny. They will assist in our recovery. But that recovery and the maintenance of the prosperity of the people depend chiefly upon the recovery and maintenance of private enterprise, and this truth should not be obscured by self-seeking political hokum or by hysterical exaggeration of conditions. Government expenditures are not drawn from a mysterious mine of wealth possessed by the government. They are drawn from the people, and all the people, the poor man as well as the rich. They create a burden which must be carried by all the people and there is no political hocus-pocus which will save us from its weight. The short-sighted and heedless expenditure of public funds means high taxes which for years will retard the private enterprise essential to the prosperity of the nation and will handicap it seriously at a time when its confidence, its initiative and its energy are most urgently needed.

La Guardia's formula is nothing but socialism in essence and unescapable result. It is a counsel of weakness and a repudiation of the American faith in the free man, a faith brilliantly justified in the material welfare and progress of the American people. That faith is now on trial. We can rush to Washington after the false prophets and quack doctors in search of a government cure-all, or we can put our faith in ourselves as our forbears, who had far worse difficulties to deal with, courageously did. The sufferings of the unemployed and millions who are not unemployed deserve our earnest attention and generous aid, and they are getting them. But their immediate relief is in large degree a local matter, which can be accomplished by private and local initiative. Leaders of business, men of means, ability and practical experience, should be concentrating and coöperating for the solution of the problem which they and not politicians are best fitted to solve. Private giving through well organized and responsible channels should be prompt and liberal. By these means the worst of the misfortunes resulting from business reaction can be met, in the American manner and without the creation of huge public debts, the aggrandizement of irresponsible politics, the repudiation of the American faith in the individual.

RETAIN CHANUTE FIELD.

President Clayton of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce has appealed to our delegation in congress to make a vigorous effort to prevent the abolition of Chanute flying field at Rantoul. The appeal should be heeded and the public opinion of the state should strongly support it.

Pressure has been put upon the war department to concentrate its flying activities at Dayton, O., and San Antonio, Tex. This would eliminate Chanute field, although it is in the heart of the country and its location near the University of Illinois gives it special resources of scientific aid and experiment. Mr. Clayton notes that Illinois pays federal taxes in amount only passed by New York, and that $662,000 appropriated for Chanute field by the 70th congress has been lying idle in the public treasury and is available now for the field's activities. Considering the money spent upon obsolete naval yards which have no such substantial justifications as has Chanute field, we think the Illinois appeal deserves consideration. A generalized plan of concentration should not be allowed to ignore the very special reasons for the continuation of the establishment at Rantoul because of its locale and its unsurpassed facilities through the university.

JOFFRE.

Joffre, with the renown of the first battle of the Marne, was on the French military commission to the United States after the American declaration of war. After months of anxieties and suspense Americans knew they were at war. They did not know how much. Their comprehension of the job was vague. Their purposes were misty and their plan of action inchoate. A war of supplies, money and ships? Joffre told them it was a war of men, of men needed immediately. Realities took shape. One was conscription.

The now dead French marshal symbolized peculiarly to Americans a national awakening to facts. The United States had tried to separate consequences from causes, as it frequently does, and Joffre seemed to be the first on this occasion to attach the one to the other. The United States was in a war which would draw without limit upon its fresh strength and resources. It had to be won if it took every available man and dollar. The Frenchman was the voice of unescapable consequences stating the case quite plainly and that gave him his peculiar place in the American phase of the war.

Inasmuch as the French did not disclose a military genius during the war, Joffre could not be one. What the French did produce was contrary to the popular legend of them prevailing elsewhere. It was dogged character. The fabled elan which would need early success if it were not to succumb to a collapse in despair was merely fable. There were no brilliant masterpieces of attack, but there were stubborn, sticking virtues which must be inspired by character or they cannot be relied upon.

The Germans produced the brilliance of generalship, but their great generals, Hindenburg excepted, did not match the French for character. Von Moltke cracked, Ludendorff crumbled up. It would be asked in vain of the record of Joffre and Foch to show a superlative bit of military conception and execution. The record of it is not there. Of course it was not in the British. The intellect of the war leadership was on the German side, but, with the exception noted, the character was not.

The dogged quality which could stop and turn at the Marne and which could hold at Verdun was, for fables unprepared for it, French. If Joffre is to be regarded as a great soldier his merit must be sought in the moral quality which desperate circumstances will find in character and which will survive in spite of seeming fate.

RUSSIAN MILITARY PLANS.

A dispatch from Moscow makes known the announcement of the plans of the society for aviation and chemical defense which contemplate military instruction and training of 21,000,000 Russians by the end of the five year industrial plan in 1933. The object of the society, which is of course a constituent of the bolshevik government, is "that every man, woman, and child in the soviet union shall be able to handle arms and a gas mask in preparation for the expected capitalist offensive."

Of course, this enormous preparation is presented to the Russian people, as to the outside world, as merely defensive. All armies and navies are officially defensive in these humanitarian days. In some instances, perhaps in most, this is not a fiction. War as an instrument of policy is supposed to be outlawed, but if the soviet despotism ever has at its command an organized and properly equipped military force of any number approximating that planned by the society for aviation and chemical defense, its assertion of defensive intent would not be reliable. There is nothing in the ethics, doctrines, or policies of bolshevism which suggests that it would not use its army aggressively. On the contrary. The essence of communism is aggression. The conduct of soviet foreign policy is essentially as aggressive as that of czardom. Expediency is the only check upon it. The talk of defense from capitalist attack is good internal politics, but no government in the world is more certain to use force aggressively than that of Moscow.

With this the future must deal as best it can. The threat is not imminent. Modern military operations on a large scale cannot be carried on without an equivalent industrial establishment. If communism can create and efficiently maintain the latter, it can make its vast supply of men militarily effective. Then other countries will have to sink their differences and combine for their common defense. Until the danger of soviet aggression is immediate they will not. Nationalist egoism will postpone it to the eleventh hour.

LEARNING FROM EXPERIENCE.

Canada will take no steps to fix the price of wheat or take any action on the lines which the Stabilization corporation is following in the old crop deliveries at Chicago. This is what Premier Bennett said in his Regina speech of Dec. 30. Through a costly experience Canada has learned the futility of price control through the so-called "orderly marketing" and stabilization schemes. The United States, thrusting its fingers into the same fire, should be the next one to learn the lesson well.

For two years Canada, in the face of an increasing supply of wheat, has been clinging to the fetish of "orderly marketing," which, in the last analysis, means attempts to reverse the law of supply and demand. As a result at the close of the crop year in 1929 the carry-over of old wheat was more than double the normal amount, and in 1930 it was still larger, and customers, instead of being forced to their knees, were cheerfully buying wheat from other countries that would sell at world prices.

From around $1.40 wheat at Winnipeg has declined in the two years until it has sold this season at 50 cents a bushel, with Canada holding a large supply. The pool plan has collapsed, and the words of the premier clearly indicate a desire that Canada abandon all price fixing ideas and recognize the fact that he who deals in world markets must deal on the basis of world conditions.

If the United States, like Canada, cannot absorb its wheat in domestic consumption, then what the premier says is unwise for Canada would be unwise for the United States. The records show that the United States has never been able to absorb its wheat in domestic consumption. The normal domestic needs for food, feed, and seed can be covered with 650,000,000 bushels. Average production is over 800,000,000 bushels, and this present season it was 851,000,000.

TREATMENT FOR BURNS.

THE treatment of burns is on a very satisfactory basis. This is true of the home treatment of milder burns and the medical treatment of the severer ones. In the case of mild burns the best procedure is to cover the surface well with sterilized petrolatum and cover this with a clean dressing. The old time mixture of lime water and grease, called carron oil, did not cover and exclude the air so well as petrolatum and it was always full of bacteria and oftentimes it was rancid. If a fresh, unopened jar of petrolatum is available it should be used. If none is at hand, except in a jar already opened, it can be sterilized by heat.

The treatment of deeper burns by tannic acid continues in favor. A 2 to 5 per cent solution in water is used. This is sprayed over the surface. The spraying is repeated several times. The object is to change the surface of the wound to a dark brown. When this has been accomplished the tannic acid is discontinued. In fact, no further treatment is used except that a protective covering may be applied. If no way of spraying the tannic acid solution is available it may be applied by means of saturated gauze. The tannic acid tans the burned tissues, and in that way retards their decomposition and prevents absorption of poisons from the wounds.

A burn that is even moderately severe causes considerable shock. Therefore it is well to have the patient lie down, especially while the dressing is being done. Arising suddenly, changing posture may cause him to faint. The use of warm tea or coffee or of some stimulant such as aromatic spirits of ammonia or camphor is advisable. Sometimes a dose of a simple sedative helps.

In more serious burns the body suffers from loss of water. The drinking of fluids such as water, milk and soups should be insisted on. In many cases the physician must get water into the system by one of several injection methods. There is a tendency to acidosis. To combat that in severe burning, soda or some other alkali or alkaline water is given.

BEDBUGS.

S. S. writes: To get rid of bedbugs apply kerosene to all the outer portions of the bedstead, go over outer edge of mattress, except at head of bed, with gasoline, particularly the seams and niches. Now wind up the battle at the head of the mattress. It is this part particularly which the little public enemies like to occupy and for that reason gather there from the other parts of the bed. Apply no remedies here that will leave any odor or after effect. Heat fully answers such purpose. Turn the head of the mattress upward and lay a wet cloth thereon and go over same with a hot flatiron. Repeat two days later.

The housekeeper who is compelled to face trials of this kind often wastes a lot of time and effort because she applies the remedies in a way to scatter the invaders over the bed and room. Furthermore, she never dreams that these little pests can live and breed in men's hats and around hat hooks and down in the toes of shoes.

REPLY.

You should be careful about using heat, gasoline, and kerosene on the same fabrics, or in the same room, and at the same time.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

Mrs. C. M. M. writes: Why is there no cure, or even relief from chronic bronchitis?

REPLY.

Some people with chronic bronchitis are cured by residence in a warm, dry climate. A warm, dry climate suits some cases. A moist one suits others. Some are cured by operation. In some there is an asthmatic element which may yield to treatment. Chronic bronchitis is a rather inclusive term. In the group are some cases which deserve the adjective you use, the reasons for the incurability being various.

LOCATION IS IMPORTANT.

J. L. writes: How long does streptococcus last? Can it be cured by any diet?

REPLY.

Streptococcus is a variety of microbe. I judge you left off a word, and that you intended to ask how long does a streptococcus infection last. Even then your questions cannot be answered. The location of the infection must be taken into consideration. In addition there is more than one kind of streptococcus, and people vary as well.

A BAD BREAK.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—[Friend of the People.]—Please notify the proper authorities about the deep hole in the street in the 2300 block of Lister avenue. About fifty trucks a day bump over this, causing such vibration as to make clocks stop and dishes break. E. C.

Street repair activities for the season of 1930 were finished a few weeks ago. However, the brick pavement in Lister avenue will be placed on our schedule for attention when activities are resumed for the season of 1931. JOSEPH J. BUTLER,
Superintendent of Streets.

2. No, but it is the usual practice to give notice. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WELL, ACCORDING TO REPORTS—

the Wickersham commission is going to make all of us line up at 12 noon each and every day and give three rousing cheers for the 18th amendment. And also that hootch will spout from all city fountains and be free to one and all. Likewise the government will be asked by the commission to build a jail on every corner and have a federal courthouse in the middle of every block. Also that government enforcement sleuths will be turned over to the bootleggers to help them make and distribute gin and likker. And, furthermore, that anybody with the odor of alcohol on his breath will be rushed straight to the penitentiary and locked up for life. And, again, that people refusing to drink a cocktail at a party, will be exiled to Siberia, and also that pipe lines will be laid direct from Canada to all principal cities and likker pumped through in unending quantities. Also that the Wickersham committee didn't know they were expected to consider prohibition and have been investigating the peewee golf question and its effect on posterity. Likewise, that the army, navy, and all the marines that Sandino isn't keeping busy in Nicaragua will be turned loose next week to round up everybody that's had a drink in the last five years. Well, there's a lot more talk in the newspapers about what they're going to do, but maybe we'd better wait until the commissioners turn in their report.

THE QUEST ETERNAL.

This is the quest since Time began,
The blessing and the curse of man:
To woo the sky and spurn the mire,
To dream, to struggle, to aspire;
To reach, no matter what the odds,
And sit upon the throne of gods.

With telescope and microscope
We search celestial ways, and grope
Amid the maze molecular
Beneath our feet; yet, near and far,
Lie stranger things and vaster things
That lure us with their beckonings,
While barrier on barrier
Appears our footsteps to deter.

Whether we climb the rainbow's bars,
A brother to the sun and stars,
Or creep, a brother to the ants,
In humble insignificance,
Along the little peaks of clods,
Remote, elusive still, the gods
Recede, ascend, and give no sign,—
We are but human, they divine.

EOLUS.

EVERY DAY we read the news of the new cars in the New York auto show and the new doodads on 'em, and not one word about an electrical automatic arm clutching a big club that comes down on the head of the rooster that tries to steal our spare tires.

WE DISLIKE, oh, how bitterly we dislike to talk shop, but we just must mention to K. V. K. that she needn't be all het up because she got her 1930 Linebook in a 1929 envelope. We ran out of 1930 envelopes and had to use last year's, and she's in luck she didn't get a 1928 envelope. Anyhow, the envelope isn't really worth reading; all the quips and poems and everything are in the book. And while we are on the subject we may as well add that the 1930 Linebook is now on sale at 10 cents the copy on the hoof or 12 cents by mail. And never mind about the envelope.

UP TO THE HOUR of going to press yesterday neither King George of England, Alfonso of Spain, nor Comrade Stalin of Moscow had announced they would begin immediately the publication of daily columns in American newspapers. But the week is yet young.

SONG FOR ALL EDITORS WHEREVER.

I'd like to write
A wistful song
Or tragedy
Of life gone wrong.

If I could choose
My melody
My tears I'd use
For fantasy.

My blood I'd draw
If when I'm done,
They'd say—"She did
Not write for fun."

But I was born
With impish smile
And slight regard
For things worth while.

E'en when I die
The saints will say—
"You beat it, girl,
You've lost your way."

Winged editors
Will then point down
And finish up
The little clown.

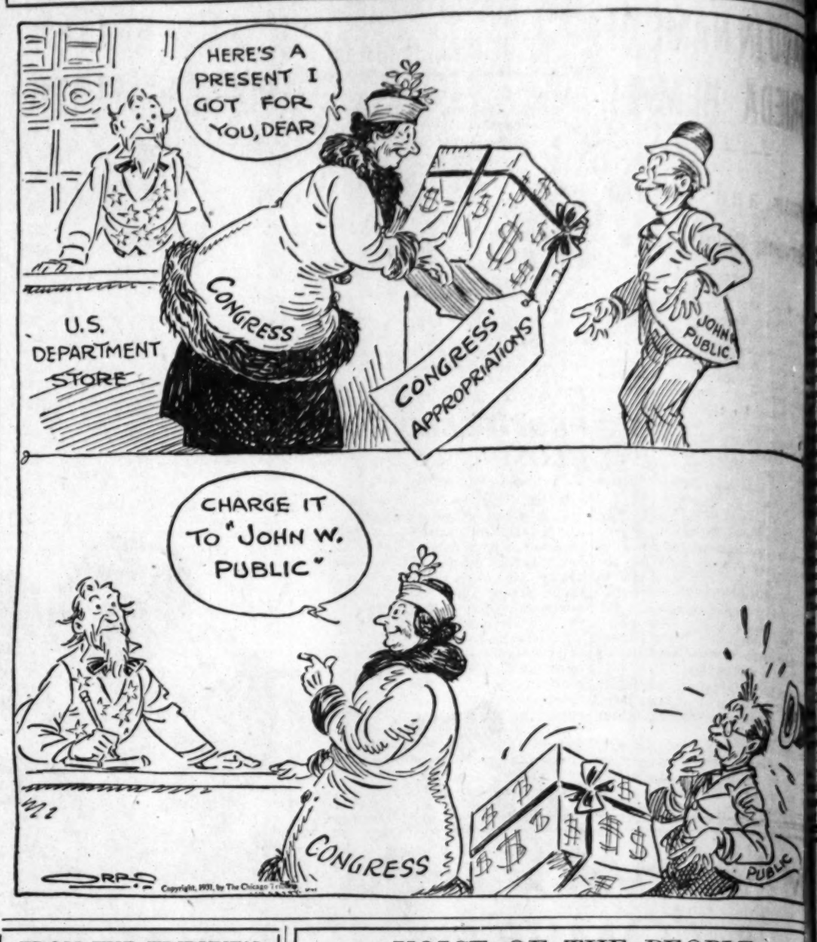
THE GENEROUS GIVER



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 6, 1915.

PARIS.—The French official statement conveys the first intimation of another advance into Alsace at a point near Orbey or Urbeis, which is 14 miles to the west of Colmar, the gains being made by terrific fighting.

PETROGRAD.—According to details of battles at Sari-Kamysh and Ardahan, in the Caucasus, as given in an official announcement, the Turks apparently have suffered the worst defeat of the war. Beside the annihilation of the Ninth Turkish army corps (38,400 men) and the rout of the Tenth at Sari-Kamysh, it is stated that the repulse of the First corps at Ardahan has been almost as complete a victory.

AMSTERDAM.—A dispatch from Rosendaal says that Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium and archbishop of Malines, has been arrested by the German authorities and held a prisoner at his own archiepiscopal palace at Malines under military guard.

PARIS.—The military situation is now so satisfactory that the government has begun gradually to relax the rigors of the war régime for Parisians. Louis J. Malvy, minister of the interior, now permits bakers to make fancy bread, a practice forbidden since Aug. 7.

CHICAGO.—The Federal league filed suit against the National and American leagues and the national commission, charging that they were operating as a monopoly in restraint of trade and in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. It was the Federal league's trump card in a desperate battle against organized baseball.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 6, 1901.

NEW YORK.—Miss Henrietta Crosman brought her presentation of "Mistress Nell" at the Savoy theater to a sensational close. Just as it was time for the curtain to go up she stepped in front and declared that she found it impossible to continue here because of "indignities heaped upon her by the management" and because of the "persecutions of Klaw and Erlanger, heads of what is known as the theatrical trust."

PEKIN.—Advices from an official source are to the effect that Russia has arranged to sign a treaty with China at St. Petersburg. This probably means that Russia will withdraw from the concert of powers so far as China is concerned as soon as the demands contained in the preliminary note of the ministers have been complied with.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Carter H. Harrison cautiously started his third term mayoralty canvass with the aid of a number of leaders of organized labor and of the Tuscarora club, a new organization of the north side Democrats.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 6, 1881.

NEW YORK.—Gov. Elect Porter of Indiana, for whose inauguration on Jan. 10 at Indianapolis extensive preparations have been made, was married to Miss Cornelia Stone, niece of Walter S. Gurnee, at whose home the ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Freeman of Lockport, a relative of Miss Stone. The bride is the daughter of a wealthy farmer of Cuba, N. Y.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—A Murfreesboro special says that a band of Ku Klux visited the house of Henry Miller, a Negro, to whip him for supposed arson. Miller refused to open the door and shot at the mob, instantly killing L. B. Newman. The mob dispersed, leaving the body where it fell.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Vice President Wheeler has now received certificates of the electoral vote in each state in the Union. The messengers' certificates from Louisiana and South Carolina arrived yesterday.

LONDON.—The Boers' treacherous slaughter of the 94th regiment is officially confirmed by dispatches received at the war office.

CHICAGO.—Joseph F. Armour of Armour & Co., packers, died suddenly at Cincinnati. Mr. Armour was born in New York and when quite a youth moved to Milwaukee, where his brothers, Philip D. Armour and Henry O. Armour, were engaged in the packing business. During the war a branch house was opened here under the management of Philip D. and Joseph F. Armour. The funeral will take place tomorrow from the residence of P. D. Armour, 2115 Prairie avenue.

THE POET LAUREATE.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—In your editorial of this date on "Rudyard Kipling," you appear to be unnecessarily mystified concerning the failure of the British government to take proper notice of its most famous living poet. Your mention of Tennyson recalls the extremely conservative nature of the British authorities in dealing with their literati.

When, in 1850, the post of poet laureate was offered to Samuel Rogers [then in his 69th year] the venerable author of "The Pleasures of Memory," declining the honor because of his advanced age, ventured to suggest Alfred Tennyson for the place.

"We know nothing of this gentleman," replied the British premier, Lord Palmerston.

Twenty years after the publication of his first volume, eighteen years after the publication of his "Morte d'Arthur," "Ulysses," and "Locksley Hall," three years after publishing "The Princess," and in the very year of the appearance of "In Memoriam," the British government had never heard of Alfred Tennyson, the greatest of Victorians!

Give them a little time. Perhaps they have not heard of Mr. Kipling, who is twenty-four years younger than was Rogers when offered the laurel crown and has only now reached the age attained by Tennyson when made a peer. The British must follow precedent and do nothing in a hurry.

THOMAS SPEED MOSBY.

AFTER THE DIRECT PRIMARY.

Bronson, Mich., Dec. 30.—You printed an editorial "The Old Bear Oil." A disciple of A. Hamilton, Esq., wrote it. Alec himself never could have made a more cautious observation regarding the common herd than your editorial effort. Alexander was not in favor of a democracy nor a republican form of government. He wanted G. Washington to be crowned and reign. He felt it would be safer to have a king than a president. He was such a wise, practical man and, above all, visionless. He decried this imagination stuff. He was for cold gold and a king. That was the way to handle humanity. He was a patrician and if any one was not a patrician after his own heart he was not fit to vote directly for his chief "public servant." How that term "public servant" must have chilled the marrow in his bones if any there was to chill. He wanted a ruler with an iron jaw and an iron hand and he must needs be a superman, up and above the beings who were to be the "subjects" of this new nation.

And today, 150 some years after the republic was born, we have in you, sir, the fruits of Alexander Hamilton. You asseverate "the democracy already indicates that its appetite is too big for its digestion." "It can't take care what it eats." "The doctrine of direct primary overidealizes the voting population. It supposes for it to be information, more willingness than has to accept the serious responsibility of making considerate decisions, more than its actual freedom from prejudice and unwise enthusiasms and even a high a purpose."

Now then, old lace and lavender, will you kindly tell us if you are certain that a committee of wise patricians, free from all the faults of the lowly American herd, could choose better "servants" than the unknowing, prejudiced, big mawed American electorate could? Could you, the writer of "The Old Bear Oil," pick out the representatives that would serve better in the interests of the electorate than the men they stumble on by direct primaries?

Once THE TRIBUNE printed "The Tribune of the Kings" and some time some future some editorial writer looking up for a topic may write "The Tribune of the Hamiltonians."

We can't go completely wrong by referring sovereignty on every soul, and pretty soon now we shall decide that we cannot go very wrong, either, by arranging it so that we hand to every soul an equal amount of the good things of life created through the industrial processes. Then we may cause all minds to be cultivated and in some way inject into all of them a desire to know something not only about labor but about the better ways of conducting our political government. In the meantime, lace and lavender, be snootie as you please and see if it gets you anything.

N. L. HOLMES.

RAILROAD TAXES.

Johnston City, Ill., Jan. 3.—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and Mr. McCutcheon are to be congratulated upon the current issue that appeared in today's issue regarding unfair discrimination of freight and bus companies against railroads.

Taxes from certain railroad lines in this county [Williamson] have maintained several school districts for years. Within the last few months railroad lines have been removed from two districts because of unprofitable business through loss of freight traffic. As a result, one of the districts is in debt for the first time in its history. The taxes received from bus and truck lines in this county are practically nothing.

But there is even a more unfair discrimination. There is practically no enforcement as to limiting the weight of loads carried by freight trucks, and the great system of hard roads is certainly showing the effects of overloaded vehicles.

man and Austrian Servants Chief Losers.

ew York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The e of Frieda Hempel, opera singer, d to obtain more than $150,- from German and Austrian serv- s, waiters, and other small wage ers, through the fraudulent sale ock, according to Deputy Attorney eral Henry H. Spitz of the state au of securities. He obtained a r order today enjoining "The da Hempel, Inc., from further ings in securities. The order was ed by Supreme Court Justice ah R. Strong of Brooklyn.

ccording to Mr. Spitz, more than ,000 shares were issued to Frieda mpel, for a number of formulas for ufacturing preparations and for the e of her name. Stock was sold in Frieda Hempel, Inc., to the public $8, $12, and $14 a share. Mr. tz said that the diva lost about ,000, the other losers being Austri- s and Germans who had been in this untry but a short time.

Purchasers of the stock, according Mr. Spitz, were told that Miss Hem- l had a substantial interest in the rporation.

Mr. Spitz also contended that only very small portion of the money ob- ined from the sale of stock was ed for the manufacture and sale the products of the corporation.

WESTERN COACH LINE BUS NOT IN A CRASH NEAR GREEN RIVER

Moline, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Thomas W. Sarrell, Peoria representative of the Western Coach line, has informed the Associated Press that it was not one of his company's coaches which figured in the accident near Green River last Saturday in which a number of passengers were injured, as was reported.

Investigation reveals that the vehicle was the property of the Great Western Stages, operating between Omaha and Chicago, which skidded and overturned on the frosty pavement on route No. 7.

The Associated Press is glad to make this correction.

ITALY TO ABOLISH PROFITEERING BY CLOSING UP FIRMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 5.—A new weapon against merchants and tradesmen, who are holding out against the Fascist program of price reduction, was hauled out today in the form of a threat to abolish wholesale firms and establish shops where goods will be sold directly to customers in districts where the profiteers are keeping prices up.

This proposal was embodied in a circular issued to all local Fascist chieftains by Giovanni Giuriati, national secretary of the party. In addition, the circular insists that no social class should be allowed to evade the sacrifices imposed in the present economic situation, and that vigilance be increased to prevent profiteering.

The circular declared that shopkeepers who maintain fair price scales will be rewarded.

WOMAN IS BOUND, GAGGED, BEATEN, AND SET AFLAME

Note Is Found Signed as by 3-X Maniac.

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Seven persons were at work today in the P. & M. book bindery on the eighth floor of a building at 124 White street. They chatted as they worked, quite unaware of any possible danger. Then a flickering light, about 25 feet away from where they stood, led Miss Lucy Pianno to the washroom. There she found Mrs. Betty Hirsh, another employé, who had been brutally beaten, bound and gagged and thrown into the center of a flaming pool of gasoline.

Upon the chest of the young woman her attacker, using either his fingernails or some sharp instrument, had scratched a huge "M."

Find Strange Note.

In the hands of the injured girl, who was taken to the Beekman street hospital, where physicians said she suffered a fractured skull, was a note. It was written on cheap paper, and carefully folded.

It read:

"She put up some fight last time, but I made sure that I make a good job of it now. She will not struggle any more. Revenge is sweet, and how!"

And the signature printed on that note was:

"XXX—Maniac."

But detectives, who arrived as employés extinguished the flames with hand extinguishers, were not inclined to believe that the attack upon Mrs. Hirsh, who is 35, was the work of the so-called "3 X" slayer, who terrorized residents of Long Island some few months ago.

Climaxed Strange Series.

This attack, according to Inspector Francis Kear, was the climax of a series of strange events.

One month ago, the police learned, Mrs. Hirsh, who is separated from her husband, was attacked while in her home. She said nothing of the occurrence, but the police believe that was the struggle referred to in the note.

One week ago the officials of the book binding company received a note. It was written on paper similar to that used today. It read:

And last Friday, the police were told, an unidentified man slipped a note into Mrs. Hirsh's hand. That commanded her to meet the writer at a given address.

So Mrs. Hirsh and an officer of the company kept the appointment. But the man failed to appear.

The burning gasoline, the police said, surely would have caused the death of the young woman, and probably would have destroyed the building if it had not been discovered.

The address of Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, at the banquet of the United Furniture Industries rally at the Stevens hotel from 8:30 to 9 o'clock, will be broadcast from W-G-N. The subject of the address will be, "Looking into 1931." Fred E. Clark of the commerce department of Northwestern university and a national authority on marketing also will speak at the banquet. Thomas H. Beck, president of Collier's, will be the toastmaster.

TRIES TO HOLD UP BANK TO AID HER BROTHER IN JAIL

Captured by Ohio Posse; 2 Men Also Held.

Monroe, O., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. America Longworth, Franklin, O., a nineteen year old mother, was captured by a sheriff's posse in a woods near here today with two young men companions after, officers alleged, the trio failed in an attempt to rob the Monroe National bank.

Butler county officials said the girl told them she planned to rob the bank to get money to help her brother, Albert Higgins, fight a case in Warren county. Higgins, the officers said, faces a charge in Warren county of robbing a Franklin taxicab driver of his machine and money.

Previously, the officers said, Mrs. Longworth told them she needed money for her seven months old baby because her husband had not been employed for several months.

Returned to Monroe after surrendering without a fight, the prisoners were identified by Austin Smith, 38, bank cashier, as the persons who tried to hold him up.

The girl's companions gave the names of Noel Craft, 16, and Rex Wireman, 20, both of Middletown.

Smith said one youth held a machine gun while the girl, carrying a revolver, approached the cashier's cage and demanded money. He said he pretended not to understand her request and that she fired at him, but the bullet flattened harmlessly against bulletproof glass. The cashier then fired three times and the robbers fled.

The fugitives' automobile was wrecked near here when it crashed into a culvert. A farmer woman saw the motorists run and called police. The latter organized a posse and found the trio hiding under a thicket in a woods.

ADMITS $15,000 SHORTAGE.

Kirk Harrison, head salesman for four years for the Kerber Packing company of Elgin, was charged with embezzlement yesterday after a shortage of $15,000 had been found in his accounts. He admitted the charge.

HIGH COURT BARS DRY RAID MINUS SEARCH WARRANT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Prohibition came up for decision before the United States Supreme court and for discussion in the house of representatives today.

A government motion to advance, and a defense counsel's motion to delay arguments in the appeal from the decision of Federal Judge William Clark, who held the dry amendment unconstitutional because it was ratified by state legislatures instead of state conventions, were laid before the Supreme court.

In a decision in the case of the Go-Bart Importing company of New York the Supreme court reversed the judgment of the Circuit Court of Appeals, second circuit, and upheld a citizen's right to be protected against search and seizure without a legal warrant.

Drys Asks $543,370 More.

In the house the reporting of the first deficiency appropriation bill disclosed the demand of the prohibition bureau for an additional $543,370 including $149,500 for 1930 additional prohibition agents. And Representative John C. Schafer [Rep., Wis.] found consideration of the drought relief bill the occasion to appeal for real relief by repealing the eighteenth amendment.

Solicitor General Thacher, representing the department of justice, asked the Supreme court for an early hearing on the Clark decision. Frederic M. P. Pearse of counsel for William H. Sprague and William J. Howey, the defendants, denied that Judge Clark's decision was prejudicing the enforcement of the dry laws and asked that the hearings be set not earlier than April 15. He sought to refute the supposition that the Supreme court was "foreclosed" on the issue because of previous decisions. In his brief appeared the claim that "the questions raised do not arise concerning and do not affect any other amendment to the constitution."

Enter with Nuisance.

In the Go-Bart case, in which prohibition agents acting on a "nuisance" warrant ransacked the company's offices and seized and held its papers, the opinion delivered by Justice Butler, said:

"The second clause of the amendment [the fourth] plainly prevents the issuance of warrants on loose, vague or doubtful bases of fact. It emphasizes the purpose to protect against all general searches. Since the creation of our government such searches have been deemed obnoxious to the fundamental principles of liberty. The amendment is to be liberally construed and all owe vigilance for its effective enforcement lest there shall be impairment of the rights for the protection of which it was adopted."

With the submission of the deficiency bill, which will be acted upon by the house tomorrow or Wednesday it appeared that the reorganization of the prohibition administration and its increased activities are to cost $543,370 more than was first estimated. The reorganization, according to testimony given in committee by Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, will require additional appropriations totaling $200,070, while 24 instructors, 130 additional agents, increased travel expenses, and the dissemination of information account for $343,300.

Representative Schafer's address recalled former speeches in which dry adherents had claimed that prosperity flowed from the eighteenth amendment. He wondered, he said, how they would argue now during the depression. He warned that no relief was to be expected from the Democrats. They followed the "whip crack of Mr. Roskob," but stayed dry in the south, he declared.

U. S. Appellate Court Finds No Flaw in Amendment No. 18

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The eighteenth amendment was held to have been legally adopted in a decision today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, ruling on a case in which the defense was the same as in the recent Sprague case in New Jersey, in which Federal Judge William Clark held that the amendment had not been legally ratified.

The Court of Appeals affirmed the conviction of Louis E. Thibault of Windsor, Vt., who was accused of possessing and selling two pints of whisky. Counsel for the losing side announced today that appeal would be taken to the United States Supreme court.

In each case counsel defending the accused person contended that after adoption of the tenth amendment, no amendment giving the national government additional powers over the people or over their rights could be adopted except by the people in convention, or by their delegated representatives.

Legality Questioned.

The eighteenth amendment they contended was not legally ratified by the states because it was approved by the legislatures instead of by state conventions gathered for the express purpose of considering it.

Judge Clark, supported and elaborated upon this contention in the New Jersey federal court and freed William Sprague, the defendant in the case, on the ground that the prohibition amendment had not been legally adopted and therefore the Volstead act was without force.

The Court of Appeals declared, in its decision today, that the Supreme court had already held the Eighteenth amendment to have been lawfully proposed and ratified. The amendment, it ruled, "had become a part of the constitution and must be respected and given effect the some as the other provisions of that instrument."

Reviews Constitution.

"There has been a long acquiescence and approval of the method of proposing and ratifying amendments as followed in the case of the Eighteenth amendment," the decision said. "The constitution was adopted in 1789. The first ten amendments were adopted in 1791. All, even the first ten amendments, were proposed and ratified in like manner to the eighteenth. Pursuant to article 5 the alternative power was vested in the people, to be exercised by a choice of the members of the legislatures of the several states, or the constitutional conventions, and by choice of representatives in congress.

"If it is the will of the people to change by amendment the constitution, the method in article five was effective even after passage of the Tenth amendment. Supreme court cases referred to are authoritative and binding upon us. It follows that the defense interposed of unlawful ratification of the Eighteenth amendment is without merit."

The government was represented in the case by Harry B. Amey, federal attorney of Vermont, while Selden Bacon and Daniel F. Cohalan, who also assisted in presenting the Sprague case to Judge Clark, appeared for Thibault.

"To me, hair is a valuable asset"

"Personally, I consider hair a very valuable asset," a successful business man told us. "An asset for which there is no substitute. A faultlessly tailored suit and a tastily chosen cravat help to give a man that 'successful look,' but the picture is not complete unless he has a good head of hair. We unconsciously associate youth and manly vigor with a good head of hair."

There is no reason why you, too, cannot have this precious asset—a good head of hair. BY DORNFORD YATES

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Riechtenburg, are united at their estate near Littai, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos in many adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she does not come.

Prince Paul, ruler of Riechtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and swore revenge. Fearing for Marya's safety because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, go secretly to Virgil, capital city of Riechtenburg, where Marya resides. A peasant named Ramon, whom they befriended, leads them through a secret border passage.

Marya tells them that she sent no message. Realizing the telegram was a ruse to lure them to Virgil, they are preparing to flee with Marya when the prince appears. They escape and reach the border, but find it is so closely guarded that crossing is impossible. Asylum is sought and he hides Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, in his house, while Chandos and Rowley join a traveling circus. Marya sends Carol to take them to Bariche, across the border, in a car which they recognize as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived at the inn in Bariche, they receive a message from Marya stating that she is to be pardoned but she must remain in Riechtenburg and not communicate with them.

Knowing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement with Grieg, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is discovered. He proves to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg arrives and leaves with the prisoner for Virgil. Hanbury and Rowley, knowing their friend's plight, hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive to the estate of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left, tied to a post along the roadside.

Marya tells them that she was married that morning to Grieg—her price for their freedom. Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned at this news. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and kill him to free Marya, but Grieg has escaped. Chandos returns to Baron Sabre's and overhears the prince, who has arrived, arguing with Grieg. Grieg is forgiven when he tells the prince he has a trap set to catch his prey that evening at the secret border pass, as well as Leonie, who is to meet them there. The prince departs. Chandos narrowly misses a bullet fired by Grieg. He intercepts a telegram to Grieg from Littai—one of many which Lelia, a young peasant girl, has delivered. Lelia leads Chandos to a mill where his friends are hiding. He finds Hanbury sleeping. Marya implores Chandos not to kill Grieg, and while he is bathing in the mill pond Marya disappears. Chandos sends George and Rowley to follow Marya, and he leaves for the border near Lelia, who has fallen in love with Chandos, at the risk of her life, finds him and tells him that Leonie has entered the country an hour before. Grieg traps them and fires at Chandos, but Lelia throws herself in front of him and receives the bullet.

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII.

RETRIBUTION.

When I got to my feet I saw that the moon was clear.

To my left stood the detective that I had come to know. He had started against the rock and covered his eyes. In front stood Grieg and the smuggler. The latter was standing, staring, with his head on one side, but Grieg was swaying a little, with his right hand up to his head.

The smuggler cleared his throat and spat on the ground. Then he took a step or two forward, to peer at Lelia's face.

I raised my pistol and shot the beast through the head.

As he fell, Grieg fired again upon me, but his bullet went wide. I never so much as heard it, and I think the man was shaken with what he had done. Indeed, I now know that he was, for I afterwards learned that he thought, as did all, that Lelia was Leonie, who had, after all, come to meet me where the water came down. And when I had called upon her, so alike were the names that those that heard me made sure I was calling upon my wife.

So, though she lay dead, Lelia served me for the last time.

That must have been Grieg's last round, for as I fired—and missed him—he took to his heels.

I never would have believed that he would run before me, and I never would have believed that he could run so well, but I think that I could have caught him if he had girdled the earth.

Except where the shadows fell, after that fatal darkness the place seemed as bright as day, and Grieg kept clear of the shadows because, I suppose, he was afraid of stumbling if once he ran into the dark.

He led me back past the fall and in a moment I saw he was seeking the bridle path. I, therefore, ran to his right to cut him off from the police. We reached the path together, but I was nearer its mouth.

I had thought that when he saw this he would stand and fight, but Inch by Inch I forced him toward the brink.

I now put up my pistol, for I am a poor marksman and I knew that to fire at him running would be to waste a round; and I did not try to catch him, but only to cling to his heels, for I knew he must come to the chasm, from which the bridge would be gone.

The path lay sometimes in shadow and sometimes in the light of the moon, but though I could see him glancing from side to side, he did not try to leave it, because I think he was glad to stick to a line where the going was good.

He was tiring now and I could have caught him had I wished without any fuss, but instead I spared myself for what was to come.

It was now manifest that he did not know what was coming, for he made a sudden effort and almost doubled his pace.

I fancy that he had expected that the guardroom would be open and had purposed to call on the sentry to save his life. Be that as it may, when he saw that the door was shut he ran straight on.

So he came to the deep ravine and the girders, whose floor was gone.

I saw him stop and boggle and glance to either side, but when he turned I was standing between him and the guardroom ten paces away.

For a moment he stood uncertain. Then he flung up his heavy head.

I could see that his lips were moving, but the water raging below us drowned his voice, and because I thought he was bidding me come and take him I stood my ground.

So, for perhaps two minutes. Then he shrugged his shoulders and turned back the way we had come.

I was by his side in an instant and touching him on the sleeve.

"Not that way," I shouted.

He drew back and looked me up and down.

"Where, then?" he demanded thickly.

In a flash I had him by the shoulders and had turned him to face the gorge.

"That way," said I. "You chose it. And now, by God, you shall take it—and take it alive," and with that I hurled him forward with all my might.

He let himself fall and saved himself by a foot, but such scornful usage stung him as nothing else could have done, and he was up in an instant and crouching like any beast. I waited for him to attack me, or seek to go by.

Of the end my condition of mind allowed no doubt. I seemed to myself so strong that I could have torn him to bits and have flung the murderer piecemeal into the gorge, and such is the power of confidence that I had for that time a strength before which he could not stand.

Be sure I needed it.

He turned as though to avoid me and as I leaped to stop him he changed direction and sprang. I almost lost my balance before the shock and, quick as a flash, he had my back to the gorge, but I twisted him round again and tore his hand from my throat.

The ease with which I did this must, I think, have shown him his hour was come, for he caught his breath in a sob as a man that has been startled by the touch of some unseen hand. The next instant he was fighting, with, he thought, I think, to kill me, but only to save his life.

His game was, of course, to grapple, and I must say he played it well. Twice I fought myself free, but before I could follow my advantage each time he had closed again. It was as though he had boasted that if he went into the gorge he would not go alone.

The punishment he took was frightful, but his arms were like irons upon me, and when I had torn one off he fastened his teeth in my shoulder and bit me down to some bone. But, though he fought like a madman, his effort began to fail and I felt his muscles quivering under the strain, and at last I had my way and had turned him round.

We were now both facing the gorge and I was standing behind him and had him fast by the wrists. If he was thus at my mercy I showed him none, for all I could see was Lelia and the rare and exquisite light which he had put out.

Inch by inch I forced him towards the brink.

We were very close now and the bellow of the turbulent water, God knows how far below us, was very loud. The sound was awful, and conjured up for me those ancient pictures of the Last Judgment, where the righteous are ascending and the wicked are falling headlong into the power of monsters that hail their prey. If it did so for Greig I do not know, but I felt his sweat running on my fingers and I fancy his soul was quaking as he looked over the horrid portal by which he was to go into hell.

I forced him forward six inches and let him gaze. Then I twisted his head to make him leave his foothold and when at last he did so I set my knee in his back and thrust him down.

The effort sent me backward, but as I got to my feet I saw him swinging by a girder which he must have met as he fell. For a moment I won dered whether, after all, I had failed, but the iron was cold and unfriendly and, ere he could draw himself up, he lost what hold he had and fell like a stone.

Slowly I made my way back to where Lelia lay.

The moon was sinking now and the darkness was coming back, but as I neared the spur I saw three figures standing by where I had laid her down.

I went to them directly and gave the sergeant my pistol without a word. Then I passed to where Lelia was lying and fell on my knees.

Good morning!

This uproarious farce comedy, adapted from the old stage success, gets you where you laugh hardest. Three-fourths of its rib tickling success is due to the admirably conducted antics of Charles Ruggles in the title rôle. The other fourth of the credit may be divided equally between the supporting cast of adept players and the director, who knows his Stop and Go signals.

Though loud and lively, "Charley's Aunt" as presented has occasional subtle drollery that is like a soothing caress. It is slapstick, all right, but not doggedly and persistently slapstick. It relapses now and then into a state of quiet ridiculousness which hits the spot.

Sound, sets, photography, and dialogue please the taste. As for the story, which you probably know, it's like this:

Over in dear old England two Oxford students are deeply in love with the niece and ward, respectively, of a crotchety old fellow who disapproves of them for certain reasons. On of them [Charley] is notified by wire that his rich aunt ["from Brazil, where the nuts come from"], and whom he has never seen, is about to visit him that day. A chaperon! Hi, lee!/Hi, lo! WHAT a chance, think Charles and Jack, to invite the girls to lunch at their rooms, where, away from the madding guardian, they can propose to the damsels.

Invitation is issued. Maids accept. Charley's aunt wires that she's changed her plans! What to do? A friend, one Lord Fancourth Babberly, has at hand an old lady's costume which he is planning to wear in a school play. He is hauled into duty, introduced to the young ladies—who would never, never have come to lunch had they not thought there would be an elder woman present—as Aunt Lucia and—— Enter's Jack's father, Sir Francis Chesney! Enters the combination guardian and uncle! Enters the real aunt and her ward, WHO is the girl beloved and believed long lost by the masquerading Lord Babberly. Enters—what you shall see when you witness the picture.

This piece is packed with laughs and moves fast. It makes Old Man Gloom take to his heels and run.

This farce sends memory leaping back to the days of the old Keystone comedies, and has a pie-throwing orgy that goes the erstwhile offerings one better.

Jack Oakie is the featured player but his presence in the cast is not what makes the piece a success. This star has lost his savor and I'm beginning to suspect there's no way to salt him. However, his vanished pull in no way detracts from the charmingly absurd chronicle of doings aboard a training ship of a mythical Sainte Cassette navy, nor the airy, whole-hearted way in which directors and other players pull together.

Mr. Oakie is seen as a lightweight champion of the United States navy. For reasons the picture'll show you he takes the place of a slacker, named O'Brien, who for one year must serve on the high seas if he is to win an inheritance. O'Brien vanishes in a cloud of debt and disgrace, leaving his frantic attorney [impersonated by Harry Green, and you know how funny HE is] holding the bag.

INVISIBLE LIGHT RAY GUARDS PERSIAN ART WORTH MILLIONS

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Sixty centuries of Persian art, from the early Elamite to the Safair shahs, is reviewed as a whole for the first time in the priceless collection assembled for the international exhibition of Persian art in Burlington house. A press view was held today, a private view will be held tomorrow, and the public opening will take place Wednesday, the exhibition continuing to the end of February.

There are art objects sent from thirty nations, and the collection of 2,500 objects is insured at $10,000,000, in addition to the owners' insurance on individual items. Prof. Arthur Upham Pope, an American and one of the directors, said today the exhibits were worth at least $30,000,000. The whole exhibition is guarded by an invisible light ray, any interruption of which immediately sets off warning signals throughout the building.

There is a great granite vase whose inscription testifies it was once the property of Artaxerxes II. and other things ranging from 1400 to 400 B. C.

The American contribution included not only the expenses of a preliminary survey but also funds to bring about the congress on Persian art, which is to be held throughout the opening week of the exhibit.

In the central hall of Burlington house hang four of the world's most famous carpets; a recently discovered early sixteenth century medallion carpet and a pendant of the famous Ordabil carpet, both lent by Sir Joseph Duveen; an emperor carpet, lent by Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick of Chicago; and an animal carpet from the Sanguszko collection, lent by the Polish government.

Lawyer Grabowski has a scheme which results in the Doyle impersonation of the O'Brien.

The ship is commanded by a captain who has charming daughters, AND The things that happen on that man o' war

You ne'er before have heard of, near or far.

Albert Conti, as captain, does much to make "Sea Legs" a good picture. He's a fine, finished actor, with a keen sense of comedy. Lillian Roth is adorable as the preferred daughter. Charles Sellon brings some laughs as an Admiral O'Brien.

The funniest episode in the piece is where the captain goes overboard and the entire crew after him, at the moment when a most unkindly disposed inspector comes to give the boat a once over.

Action moves along at a lively clip, and no attempt is made at any sort of sobriety or authenticity. In other words, "Sea Legs" is an out-upon-you-fie-upon-you-bold-face farce—and you're for it.

See you tomorrow.

Revivalists Tell Stories of Fight on Sin

Like Selling Insurance, One Declares.

Differences of opinion as to the most successful methods of converting members of their audiences were voiced yesterday by ministers attending the first convention of the Interdenominational Evangelistic association. Sessions are being held in the Moody Memorial church, North avenue and Clark street, and will continue throughout the week.

Here is what some of the evangelists said:

Harry W. Vom Bruch, Long Beach, Cal., president of the association: "I have given the gospel message in 15 countries, and I've converted 25,000. Presenting the gospel in the last 15 years has taken the highest type of salesmanship. My methods are like Billy Sunday's, except I'm not vitriolic. My appeal, I would say, is both intellectual and emotional. It's just like I was selling a life insurance policy.

"At the end of an evangelistic sermon, I often say, 'Gentlemen, I've delivered the goods. All you have to do is sign on the dotted line.' And they come down front. Often there isn't a dry eye in the house."

The Rev. George Dibble, evangelist singer on tour in Pennsylvania and New York with Mrs. Dibble, who does the preaching: "One of the real efficiencies of the evangelistic song leader is the ability to tell just what a crowd needs.

"I never arrange a program ahead. I wait and size up the crowd and at the psychological moment I give them what they want. 'Just As I Am' has sung more people into the kingdom of heaven than any other song.

"Now I hate to be pessimistic, but 'Tell Mother I'll Be There' used to be by far the biggest puller we had, and now it doesn't pull at all. I've seen thousands of men in a man's massmeeting go up front weeping at that. This sounds awful, doesn't it—but mothers aren't the same these days.

"Now, 'Old Rugged Cross' and 'In the Garden' are favorites, and 'Since Jesus Came Into My Heart,' which Aimee McPherson always sings, is another."

The Rev. Charles Reign Scoville of Wilmette: "I've converted many millionaires and politicians. I simply tell them, 'Christianity doesn't interfere with your being a success. It helps. It'll bring dollars and cents into your pockets. You're a failure if you're not a Christian."

The Rev. E. R. MacKinney, field secretary of the International Union of Gospel Missions in eight states: "I was converted when I was 16. The minister's wife got me to read the Bible every day. Of course, I had a good wholesome fear of hell. Now, among the men I convert, some of them feel they have to make a demonstration to get a free supper and bed. Others are scared into it. Some won't scare, and then you have to tell 'em about the joys of heaven."

Dr. L. W. Munhall, 88 years old, of Philadelphia: "I never haved a soul—the Lord has. But in my meetings I've seen the Lord convert 200,000. I tell 'em the truth and shame the devil.

"Jesus had more to say about hell than he did about heaven or about love. Why shouldn't I talk about hell, 'where the fire burneth and is not quenched'? If there's nothing to be saved from, it's not worth it being saved."

BETROTHED

[Bernie Photo.]

THE STAGE

ETHEL BARRYMORE in the much-discussed play, "Scarlet Sister Mary," will be the next offering of the Dramatic League of Chicago in its subscription season at the Harris theater. She will follow "As You Desire Me," opening Monday, Jan. 26, for a four weeks' engagement. This arrangement cancels a recent announcement to the effect that Miss Barrymore would bring the dramatization of Julia Peterkin's novel to the Selwyn theater Feb. 2.

The executives of the Dramatic league are congratulating themselves upon the addition of Miss Barrymore to their program. They point out that this will be her first affiliation with subscription activities in the drama, although she happens to have been the first professional "patron" of the league. Last year Miss Barrymore endowed a pair of seats at the league's plays for the benefit of students of acting, setting an example which was followed by other stage celebrities.

No mention of "Scarlet Sister Mary" is complete without proclamation that it gives Miss Barrymore the rôle of a Negress. Statements that she appears in "black face," however, are not precisely accurate. As a matter of fact, her complexion in this characterization is a light chocolate or a dark saddle color.

The dramatic critics of New York were almost unanimous in rating "Scarlet Sister Mary" as an artistic error in Miss Barrymore's career. But H. T. Parker, the veteran theatrical observer of the Boston Transcript, begs to differ. He recently wrote:

"Whether 'Scarlet Sister Mary' is successful or unsuccessful, Miss Barrymore's persistence in the rôle marks her as an actress respecting herself, her calling, the theater, even the public. She is making valiant and honorable protest against the contented routine, the placid inertia, that would set every notable player of our stage in a labeled niche, not to be deserted. She is speaking out for individuality, courage and audacity."

The new management of the Blackstone theater will begin its régime with the premiere of Mrs. Fiske in "Ladies of the Jury" next Monday night, and hopes to make it a gala occasion. Ten per cent of the gross receipts of the first night will be donated to the civic unemployment relief fund.

Fred Stone and his company will give a special performance of "Ripples" at the Illinois theater Sunday night, Jan. 18, as a benefit for the Actors Fund of America. This will be the only Sunday performance of the "Ripples" engagement.

The Goodman Repertory company will give Tchekhoff's "The Sea Gull" a premiere tonight, thus launching the fourth production of its season. This is one of the most famous plays of modern Russian drama. It has not had professional acting in Chicago since the visit of Paul Orleneff and Alla Nazimova, with a Russian company, in 1905 . . . Maurice Gnesin, head of the Goodman's school of drama and stage director of "The Sea Gull," will lecture upon Tchekhoff in the Goodman's studio playhouse next Thursday evening at 7:30.

County Forests, 33,000 Acres, Open to Public

Cermak Report Tells of Further Plans.

The Cook county forest preserves were increased by 500 acres during 1930, bringing the total to 33,000. This was revealed yesterday in the annual report of President Cermak.

The total area is now 2,000 acres short of the present legal limit of 35,000. The program for 2,000 more acres practically will be completed during 1931.

The report praises the advisory committee of the forest preserve board's plan for development. Improvements in the preserves have been made according to the recommendations of that committee. Headed by Abel Davis, it includes Edward E. Brown, Fred W. Brummel, Daniel Burnham, Walter J. Cox, Rufus C. Dawes, William S. Elliott, John C. Lewe, John T. McCutcheon, Charles W. Seabury and Robert Kingery.

The income of the forest preserve board, from sources other than taxation, has been increased from $181,084 in 1929 to $231,285 in 1930, the report shows, through small fees for golf, swimming, etc.

An important improvement was completion of the swimming pool in Cermak park in the village of Lyons. This was the first unit in the forest preserve plan as recommended by the advisory committee. During the first season the pool accommodated 132,000 persons who paid fees amounting to $22,000.

The planting program reached its peak during the year with a total of 126,309 trees and 50,765 shrubs planted. In the Palos Hills area, where the danger of fire has been a constant source of trouble, a fire patrol and fire equipment were established. This system of fire protection will be extended throughout the entire district during this year, the report says.

The forest preserve board now operates three 18 hole golf courses and one 9 hole course. They produced an income of $152,000 in 1930. New picnic tables, shelter houses and fireplaces were built. Through the coöperation of the county highway department, contracts for five bridges to be built in the forest preserve district have been awarded and construction will start in March.

The 1931 program calls for the construction of a swimming pool at Milwaukee and Devon avenues and two golf courses, one at 142d street and Harlem avenue and the other at Cumberland avenue and Forest Preserve drive. The proceeds of the $2,500,000 bond issue authorized at the Nov. 4 election will be used largely in improving sanitation in the forest preserve district.

Magicians Will Work for Health of Mountaineers

A "magical Melange" will be given by professional magicians next Friday evening in the Haven school, Evanston. The performance is sponsored by the Northwestern university and the Evanston alumnae chapters of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Proceeds will benefit the group's national philanthropic project, a health center for the mountaineers of Currin Valley, Va.

MRS. W. H. McLAUGHLIN.

Mrs. W. Hampton McLaughlin, 1222 Jarvis street, Chicago, is chairman of the general committee in charge of the program. Mrs. Samuel J. Lang is chairman of the patroness committee; Miss Vyrna Welch is chairman of the ticket committee.

Theodore Roosevelt Died 12 Years Ago Today; Widow Returns

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Jan. 5.—(AP)—To carry out a custom she has observed ever since her husband's death, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Sr. returned today to Sagamore Hill from San Juan, where she spent Christmas with her son, Theodore Roosevelt, governor of Porto Rico.

Twelve years ago tomorrow Theodore Roosevelt died, and his widow has spent each anniversary at the home which all through his public life formed a quiet background for his vigorous personality. On many occasions she has received the pilgrims who journeyed on that day to his grave.

In the 12 years which have passed since the day when he was buried, Oyster Bay neighbors have seen a remarkable transformation in the cemetery where Roosevelt is buried.

His grave is at the top of a knoll across the road from Sagamore Hill, surrounded by some 50 other graves of pioneers. When the former President was buried there was not even a footpath to the top of the little hill. Soon a small footpath was worn, then a wider one, and now a broad way goes up to the top of the knoll. It was found necessary at length to build timber steps into the side of the hill. Never a day passes that some pilgrim does not pause at the Roosevelt grave.

Recently a description of Sagamore Hill from the late President's own pen came to light.

"At Sagamore Hill," he wrote, "we love a great many things—birds and trees and books and all things beautiful and horses and children and hard work and the joy of life. We have great fireplaces, and in them logs roar and crackle during the long winter evenings."

BEG YOUR PARDON

Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis writes to correct a mistake published in yesterday's TRIBUNE. Mrs. Lewis attended a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Eames MacVeigh on Sunday to meet Miss Louise Prussing, the Chicago actress now playing in "Berkeley Square." But she says she did not take any part in any citizen's meeting for the purpose of indorsing Judge John H. Lyle as candidate for mayor. Mrs. Lewis is not on any committee to indorse any candidate and has never taken a public part in political matters in Illinois. She asks that the newspapers do her the courtesy of correcting this erroneous statement.

Barkis Is Willin' to Kiss His Wife, but She Objects

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Remember a couple of weeks ago a wife complained about a husband who couldn't keep from kissing the girls, protesting as he kissed that there wasn't a bit of harm in it? Remember, too, that we suggested for the peace of his household that he restrict himself to home exhibitions——

Well, "Martyn" says that's all right as far as it goes. But what are you going to do if you have a wife who hates to be kissed and makes no bones of her distaste for what we thought would be an appreciated home talent? The woman's mother before her showed even less grace toward her mate's amatory advances. When she went to a hospital for a serious operation she shook hands with her daughter and husband.

"So now, Dorie," says Martyn, "if you were a natural born kisser what would you do if you had a wife who would not respond under the most ardent pressure? Now, I have you cornered, you who tell us men to confine our osculatory talent to home consumption."

That IS something else again, is it not, Martyn?

That's where the psycho-analyst has to be invited in on the family discussion, or your family physician might lend a helping word to the cold natured woman. The woman is a case study, no doubt, a specimen the psycho-analyst could put into the witness box and extract information from about the why of unresponsive women. Of course, he might have begun on the mother before her and cleared up some of her prejudices, to the daughter's benefit.

It's one of the cruel quirks of fate that a man of deeply affectionate nature gets himself tied to a woman without affection, or without the power to demonstrate affection. It is the cause of a great deal of difficulty in a domestic situation.

One wonders how people like that clear away the moments of friction that are bound to happen in almost every menage. Without being able to kiss and make up, life must develop into a gritty, grinding venture, and sympathy is all we can offer the unlucky devil who is willin' but has a Mrs. Barkis who isn't.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Polite Dismissal.

"Dear Miss Blake: Several times I have asked a girl for a date, but each time she has told me she would be busy the rest of the week. Kindly advise. AL."

It's just a polite way of discouraging you.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mother's Letter.

"I am the mother of four small children. My husband is a war veteran and has been out of work for several months. The children are in need of shoes and underwear and the baby, 5 months old, needs a crib which I cannot buy. The girls are 8 and 7 years, and the boy is 6. MRS. B. O."

Unemployment is the source of this family's suffering, but perhaps you can help to relieve a bit of it. Clothing for the children and a crib for the young baby would help immensely.

Stiff Black Satin Makes This Daring Ensemble

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The newest Paris fabrics for formal wear have a whole lot of zip and body to them. There are the thick ribbed silks—surah, wide wale ottoman and that wavy ribbed silk launched by Binachini—which are all ultra-smart for tailored frocks and afternoon suits. Satins as stiff and crisp as taffeta, in both their dull and shining varieties, are taking the place of velvet in ensembles designed for late winter and early spring wear. And there are all sorts of stiff moire satins and satin finished failles that are as smart as they are varied.

Lucien Lelong is among the creators who will particularly stress these dashing silks in his spring collection, and all the leading creators will give them considerable space.

Jane Regny's latest evening ensemble, sketched here, is in stiff black satin. The draped coat has a scarf, edged with silver fox, that entirely covers one sleeve in a graceful cape effect. The visible sleeve is a slender raglan.

The frock is one of the most original affairs I've seen this season. It is tightly fitted, being trickily cut into nine sections that run up into points in front and down in back to meet the stiff, graduated, jabot flounce that cascades from décolleté to hem. The generous décolleté is higher in front. It is underlined by a circular flounce which is echoed by a less flaring one that breaks the skirt line just below the hips. All these flounces are lined with black taffeta to make sure they will stand out crisply, accentuating the slender effect of the figure. The hem just escapes the floor but the skirt is split in front almost to the knees.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Happy Ever Since.

One night I was rather tired and fell asleep on the train. The conductor called out my station and I hurried to the front of the train. As I got off I tripped and fell into the arms of a young man whom I had been trying to impress. I hurt my hip and as he had his car there he took me home. It was pretty embarrassing but I have been happy ever since. H. M. S.

Steps in Making Over Woman Who Feels All Wrong

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A correspondent asks what one should do first in an attempt to make over a woman of 38 who has everything wrong with her. Not everything wrong exactly, she modifies, but everything could be improved she is sure. She is too fat; her hair needs something and a new coiffure. Her hands aren't nice. She has good teeth, even, strong, and white. Skin good, but hasn't been taught makeup. Not bad legs and ankles.

Sounds like a cheerful model to work on, if you ask me.

By all means begin with the figure; also begin with the hair and nails and hands at the same time. But I emphasize the figure because I know the psychological value of the loss of a few heavy pounds. Nothing puts a woman into beauty fighting mettle like a few pounds lost. I've rarely seen it to fail with a woman who went in for reducing in a serious and sensible way but her whole person was improved into the bargain.

I think at the moment of one concrete case. The woman actually never knew what grand hair she had until she began taking the pride in herself that her new silhouette inspired. Her hair was graying fast—a process that often does send a prolonged wave of depression over a female spirit. Without real excuse for the slump, either. The woman had fourteen pounds too much of her. This is, she was a better woman without them. When about ten of them were removed her family was amused at the new coiffure that was sprung, the becomingness of it and the complete new outlook of hope and promise exhibited.

So, I say, concentrate on the reducing idea and get the rough edges hewn down. Find out what the hair needs if it is more than brushing and waving once in two weeks. If it is dry, treat it. If it is only, treat it. But be working on the hair as the flesh is shed. And there's no time like the present for starting in on the hands. Get a few professional manicures just to put you in good spirit. Then get some hand emollient, whitener and softener, and apply it nightly and again throughout the day.

Pay for a facial with makeup trimmings and learn what color is good and how to apply it. Don'e scorn the artificial blush, since most of our beauties do all their blushing that way. It's quite good form and apt to be quite beautifying, really. Send along a self-addressed stamped envelope for reducing course, hair help and hand, and watch this column for makeup hints which we often indulge in.

WOMAN'S DRESS.

In this distinctive model of navy blue wool crêpe the contrast is presented in a plain woolen of a lighter shade. It gives prominence to the deep flared cuffs and the becoming cowl neckline. A circular fan, unpressed inset at the center front of the skirt, tends to give the figure length, besides furnishing a graceful fullness to the hem.

The pattern, 2829, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material with ⅞ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Country's Ideal Is Well Rounded Child, Experts Say

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A Mothers' and Fathers' Litany for the New Year, signed by Mrs. Bevans, will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

One of the most interesting impressions the White House conference left behind was its comprehensiveness. There was no phase of children's well being that was neglected.

It is a well rounded child that is our personal ideal—and this was the ideal of the conference, too. Not the good of his body nor his mind alone, but his spirit and his talents and his emotions were considered. Not the well being of only the mentally normal child, but that of the subnormal and the supernormal. Not only the physically normal child, but the ill or handicapped child had his full share of attention and study.

Not only the school work of the child, but his recreation and wise use of his leisure were considered of vital importance. Not mere schooling, but true creative education was recognized as his right.

Not only the city child, but the country child must have every possible advantage in health and education. The improving of home conditions was worked for as well as the improving of outside influences. The waif and the orphan were to have their full share of protection as well as the child with a home.

Nor did the conference limit itself to the welfare of the school child nor the baby from the day it was born. Rather was it part of the concern of the conference to care for the child even before it was born, by caring for and educating the mother during pregnancy.

And what might seem an intangible concern for a country wide gathering of specialists to concern themselves with led the Twenty Points, which will be the introduction to the final report. This intangible but important recommendation was:

"Every child is entitled to be understood, and all dealing with him should be based upon the fullest understanding of the child."

Drama League Gives Luncheon for Stage Stars

BY THALIA

THE Drama league's distinguished guest luncheons are almost always enjoyable [the Alexander Woolcott luncheon a couple of years ago was one of the most memorable and so was the one for the all star cast of "Trelawney of the Wells"] and yesterday's at the Palmer house was particularly pleasant—and enlightening as well.

The D. G. table had a good looking and interesting lineup, with Lee Simonson, scenic designer for the New York theater guild, sitting in the center next to Mrs. Miner, and the others, all of them active in some phase of theatrical design, including Louise Prussing of the "Berkeley Square" company, who had broken another engagement to be present; Edward Everett Hale III. of "Subway Express," Robert Lee Eskridge, Nicolas Remisoff, Andreas Pavley, Dorothy Schmidt, Frank Parker the diseur, and Mrs. Philip B. Maher and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III., who do a lot of the Junior league scene designing.

Ironic Art of Theaters Explained to the Guests.

Don Ament was so busy working on the sets for the new Goodman play that he didn't get to the party.

Announcements for Mr. Simonson's talk, "The Varieties of Scenic Design," had said, "Sixty lantern slides with illuminating comments." The comments were illuminating—fortunately, too, because the slides were decidedly not illuminated, and the speaker had to and did make a successful speech in spite of the somewhat inadequate picture machine, the bobbing of shadow hats onto the slides, one guide down slide, and a request for "Louder!" from the rear.

Mr. Simonson's disposition and his engaging way of telling about the fascinating intricacies of the scene minimized the distractions. [He must always have his mental suitcase packed and be ready for such emergencies as discovering whether the player of a 17th century gusla sits or stands and what is it—what kind of nightgowns were worn in Bulgaria at some obscure time, this for "Arms and the Man," and like complications.]

He explained also that the art of scene designing is only 16 years old. Before that, scenes were designed and executed like "pouring ice cream into tomato sauce." After showing slides of the amazing back stage mechanics of "Rear, China," Mr. Simonson said, "For a country that is as progressive in mechanics as this one, we are extraordinarily behind hand in the mechanization of the stage. All of the mechanical aspects of our stage are hopelessly old fashioned."

Helen Shimmin Is the Bride of John Gray Seiler.

The marriage of Miss Helen Shimmin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Shimmin of 1320 North State street, to John Gray Seiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Seiler of Louisville, Ky., was solemnized yesterday afternoon at St. Chrysostom's church.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Sims, wore a gold and white brocade dress and a turban of metal cloth.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Howard Richardson and Mrs. Jack Schweizer, were gowned in white crêpe and wore close fitting silver hats. The bride carried a sheaf of calla lilies and her attendants held Easter lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Seiler will motor south on their honeymoon and will be at home in Louisville in the latter part of this month.

Mrs. Eleanor Freer Willson and Leonard Karcher to Wed.

Mrs. Eleanor Freer Willson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald E. Freer of 33 Bellevue place, is to be married on Saturday afternoon to Leonard D. Karcher, son of Mrs. Louis Karcher of 1120 Lake Shore drive. The wedding is to take place at 5 o'clock at the New England Congregational church, and only the families and a few very intimate friends are to be present. Afterwards, the wedding guests, about 30 in all, will attend the wedding reception and buffet supper at the Drake.

Social and commercial, too . . . Elizabeth Jackson Webb is bossing a whole office force to take care of the mail order sales for "The Strategy of Handling People" . . . Mrs. Howard Linn has been busy "doing" the fourth floor of Saks for the installation of an Antoine beautifying department, to open next week with the Junior league taking it over for a week or so [it's to be just darling, all modern with that satiny hardwood, and each booth papered in an entirely different gay figured paper, with shamrocking basins, cupboards, and woodwork done in rose, peach, silvery blue and other satisfying colors] . . . Dan Morgan's cards, announcing that he will give lessons in contract, are most dignified and good looking . . . Mrs. Ford Carter works so hard that she can hardly ever take time off for a luncheon date.

Some News That May Be of Interest to You.

You may be interested to know: That Francis Neilson, author, critic, and playwright, is to give 22 lectures on "Art, Science, and Religion" at the University of Chicago on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the winter quarter [open to the public without charge], this resulting from the interest aroused by Mr. Neilson's shorter series last fall.

That Lieut. Warren and Janice McNear Towle waited until after Helen Shimmin's and John Gray Seiler's wedding yesterday to take their departure on their return to Honolulu, and left last night.

That Deedee Schuttler's name is not spelled d-i-d-i, as we had it. . . .

Mrs. Oliver Dennett Grover has returned from Detroit, bringing with her her sister, Mrs. Edwin C. Bolton.

That Mrs. Howard L. Willett and a new interpretive committee for the Playwrights theater is to have a tea meeting at the Casino on Friday to discuss the coming performances at the Goodman on Jan. 26 and Feb. 23.

That the Charles Hull Ewings had a motor accident on their way to Florida, and that Mrs. Ewing had a compound fracture of the right arm and is getting along all right. . . . And that Mrs. George Richardson had a luncheon for Nancy at the Deerpath inn on Sunday.

Budget of This and That About Affairs of Today.

Daily budget. . . . Today's affairs include the January Junior Friends of Art meeting at the Palmer house with "Our Debutantes" as guests, and a gifted pianist—new here—Mme. Blonca Renard, on the program; the tea at Mr. Harold F. McCormick's Rush street house for the people who are to work on the Olivet institute benefit concert [to be given by Gigli at the Opera house on Feb. 3]; the La Chorale Française benefit performance for the unemployed at 8:30 o'clock this evening at the Chicago Woman's club, preceded by dinner at 6:30; the opening of "The Sea Gull" at the Goodman; a Ladies of the Consular Corps luncheon at the Illinois Women's Athletic club [they're to have the third anniversary dinner-dance at the Belden-Stratford on Feb. 7]; an English-Speaking Union tea at the Arts club for members of the Berkeley Square company; the Chicago Vassar club luncheon at the Chicago Woman's club for Margaret Culkin Banning, and the Indian lecture, "Influence of Indian Art on Modern America," by Fred Leighton, at the Petit Gourmet with Evergreen Tree, a Pueblo, giving songs, imitations and dances.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Burton and Lady Eliot, Mrs. Burton's mother, have returned from Westbury and are at their apartment before going to Aiken for the remainder of the winter.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Elaine Rockefeller McAlpin and Henry Clinch Tate on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 22, at the Colony club.

Society at the Opera

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., the latter in cloudy blue chiffon with a filmy shoulder scarf, were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. James L. Houghteling and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Carton. Mrs. Houghteling wore cream colored satin and Mrs. Carton was in black chiffon with diamente trimming.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Stirling Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull Jr., and Edwin D. Krenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick had with them their son, Gordon McCormick, who is here from England on a visit, Miss Angela Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Scott. Thomas W. Hinde was host to Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. William Judson, Miss May Birkhead, Arthur Heun and Robert Eskridge. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Ettelson had as guests Mr. and Mrs. William G. Swartchild and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney B. Pollak.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Dr. and Mrs. Hugo Simon and Joseph Uhl were guests of Mrs. Jacob Baur. Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson's party included Mr. and Mrs. William A. Nitze, Miss Florence Lowden and Harold H. Swift.

The John F. Jelke box was occupied by a group composed of Dr. Ernest G. Guthrie, Miss Margaret Guthrie, Mrs. E. V. Graham, Miss Lucille Skidmore and James G. Skidmore. George W. Dixon had a family party including George Dixon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zaring and Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Blatchford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell.

Sounder Hearts, Care for Ailing Goal for Year

VALENTINE'S day is six weeks away, but into the mails yesterday went a flood of 2,000,000 small heart shaped stamps. They were sent to friends of the Chicago Heart association in hope that returning checks will form a $20,000 budget to fight heart disease in Chicago.

The last available statistics—in 1929—show that deaths of 7,347, or one of every five in Chicago that year, were due to heart disease. That was an increase of 21 per cent over ten years before.

The Chicago Heart association was founded in 1922 by a group of physicians, headed by Dr. James B. Herrick, and laymen alarmed over the increase of fatalities due to heart disorders. They established headquarters, raised a fund, and started to educate the public toward prevention and care of heart disease cases.

During the eight years since the association has effected the coördination of all agencies dealing with heart disease, promoted research and new clinics, and has done much toward convalescent care of patients. The results of this effort and plans for the future will be told the association board today by Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, executive secretary.

"As a direct result of the work of our organization," says Mrs. Britton on her report, "facilities for convalescent care are increasing.

"Through efforts of the association in 1924 the Stock Yards day nursery tried a plan for the care of children afflicted with heart ailments, taking patients from Mercy, Children's Memorial, and Presbyterian hospitals. The experiment proved so successful they gave up nursery work, making the nursery a convalescent home for cardiac boys under 12, and cardiac girls under 14. La Rabida Convalescent hospital is a direct outgrowth of this experiment.

"When this association was organized there was not a bed either in a convalescent home or summer camp where a cardiac patient could be sent. At present every convalescent home in Chicago is taking cardiacs [women and girls], and five summer camps are making special provision. During 1930 500 individuals were sent to summer camps. But while there is a change in policy of convalescent care it in no way meets the needs. We must have at least 1,500 beds. We now have less than 400 with little or no provision for men and older boys, and no provision for Negro patients."

Pointing out Chicago's rapid increase of fatalities due to heart disease, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen yesterday issued a set of rules.

The coroner's advice follows as ways to avoid heart disease:

1. Rest in bed if you have a sore throat.
2. If sore throat persists, consult a throat specialist.
3. In case of "growing pains" or rheumatism, consult a doctor and do not wait for the third attack.
4. If you are nervous, have St. Vitus dance, see a doctor and follow his advice explicitly.
5. If you tire more easily than usual while doing about the same amount of work, consult a doctor.

PROVIDENT HOSPITAL GIFTS NOW $3,300,000; MORE CASH IN SIGHT

Ninety thousand dollars has been received in gifts since the $3,000,000 campaign for the Provident hospital as a Negro medical education and hospital center. The total now is $3,300,000. This was announced yesterday together with the receipt of a check for $500,000 pledged at the time of the campaign last year by the Conrad Hubert estate.

The Commonwealth fund of New York City has voted $100,000 from its current income, the announcement stated, available when the total for the Provident hospital reaches $3,400,000. If this gift is received it will insure for three years the community health center service for Negro mothers.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

THE prize awards in the Chicago Galleries member show, held twice each year, are always anticipated with interest. Because of various factors they are never announced until the exhibition is on the verge of closing, but in spite of the handicap the interest in the announcement still is keen. The last members' show is just over and the prize awards are just made public. The jury who gave the prizes consisted of George B. Harrington, Thomas E. Tallmadge, Gerald A. Frank, Adolph Heinze, and Othmar Hoffler.

The first prize of $1,000 was awarded to "The Young Hostess," by Karl A. Buehr, a veteran among Chicago painters and one whose brush is possessed of great charm and a delightful habit of color. Karl Ouren won the $750 prize with his superb "Fishing Boats Coming Into the Svolvaer Harbor," a painting we saw last year at the Palette and Chisel club show and welcomed here before it was dignified with a prize. "Beneath the Cottonwoods," by E. Martin Hennings, was given the first $500 prize, and "Fountain—Place de l'Observatoire," by Frederic Tellander, won the second prize of $500.

Awards of $400, $350, and $300 were given to Wilbur G. Adam, Joseph Allworthy, Dixie Selden, O. E. Berninghaus, Oskar Gross, J. Jeffery Grant Pauline Palmer, Felix Russmann, Carl C. Preussl, Carl R. Krafft, Charles P. Killgore, Marshall D. Smith, Sudduth Goff, Frank C. Peyraud, Macena Barton, Claude Buck, Arthur G. Rider, J. Allen St. John, Richard A. Chase, and again to Oskar Gross and J. Jeffrey Grant.

The jury of awards for small sculpture, consisting of John Paulding and Alfonso Iannelli, gave the Mrs. E. Mansfield prize of $200 to "Noorka," by Ruth Sherwood; the Chicago Galleries prize of $100 to Malvin Marr Albright for "Fragment" and "Unknown Man," and the Chicago Galleries prize of $50 to "Ruth Taylor," by Alice Littig Siems.

Food Talk.

Some of the most economical and pleasing meat dishes may be made of heart, and either beef, pork, or lamb heart may be used. Heart is firm muscular tissue and therefore has a high protein content with a small inedible portion. Because of its tough muscular structure we must be careful to select a method of cooking that will soften the tissues. Extreme heat is not advisable, as it will toughen even the most tender of steaks. Boiling and simmering are the best methods of preparing as the continued slow heating will make the muscle tender.

Experienced cooks as well as initiates must be careful in the selection of heart, whether it be beef, pork, or calf. Calf heart is smaller than the others, but it is more tender and delicate in flavor. In buying be sure the fat around the top of the heart is clear and lively in appearance.

Hearts may be stuffed and baked or stewed to serve as the main meat dish. They are good sliced as cold meat, and they may even be used in mince meat, meat loaf, sausage, and chili con carne with tasty products resulting.

Calf's heart and rice is one appetizing way of service. For an average family two hearts will be needed. Wash them in cold water, cut into dice, and stand for 15 minutes in a pan of cold water. Drain. Cover with boiling water and add 1 cup of diced onions and carrots. Simmer slowly for 3 hours, being sure to have enough water all the time to keep the meat covered. At the end of this time heart should be tender. If not, continue the cooking until it is. Add salt and pepper as desired, and 2 tablespoons of flour rubbed until smooth with 3 tablespoons shortening. Boil for 5 minutes and add 1 tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice. Put this mixture in the center of a dish. Arrange around it a border of boiled rice or mashed potatoes. Sprinkle with parsley and paprika.

French Movie Star Likes Yankee Man and Gum

Mme. Huguette Duflos, French film actress, who is on her way to Hollywood, stopped over in Chicago yesterday and revealed that in the two weeks since she landed in New York she has mastered the great American art of gum chewing and also has sized up American men and women. The men, she declared in French, are "good boys," the women she considers silly "because they utter such fiery sighs of love every time they see Maurice Chevalier." She has been making films in France for the last five years.

LOYOLA PICKS DATES FOR U. S. BASKETBALL MEET

MARCH 18 TO 22 CHOSEN AFTER PREP CANVASS

Only National Play for High Schools.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The color and thrills that national high school basketball tournaments have brought to Chicago each spring for twelve years is not to be lost to local fans. This was learned yesterday when the Rev. George Kiley, S. J., director of athletics at Loyola university, announced that the north side institution will conduct its eighth annual national Catholic interscholastic tournament March 18-22, inclusive, at Loyola gymnasium.

Loyola's action in continuing the series inaugurated in 1924 makes it the sponsor of the only national competition for high school quintets. The University of Chicago announced the abandonment of its national interscholastic basketball meet on Dec. 9, succumbing to the fire of several educational associations after years of attack.

Late in Announcing Date.

Father Kiley's announcement yesterday ended the rumor that Loyola would follow Chicago's example in discontinuing tournaments. It has been customary to announce the dates for the following year's tournament on or about Dec. 15, Robert Morris, graduate manager of athletics at Loyola, said yesterday. The announcement was not made at that time this year, pending the result of a canvass of principals and athletic officials of schools which had competed in previous meets at Loyola.

The result of that canvass, according to Morris, proved that Catholic high schools throughout the country are overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the tournament at the north side university, and directors of the meet have acted accordingly.

Whether or not Loyola shall encounter the same difficulties which ended the Stagg tournament remains to be seen. Loyola, like the University of Chicago, is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, which at present has under consideration a resolution which would prohibit member schools from holding any high school meets.

To Vote in the Spring.

The resolution was presented at the last annual meeting of the association and was approved in purpose, but was referred back to the committee for rewording. Failure to obey the resolution "shall be taken into consideration in accrediting any higher institution of learning." The North Central body will act on the resolution at its annual meeting this spring.

Among the schools which favor continuance of the Loyola tournament, from which letters have been received, are St. Stanislaus academy of Bay St. Louis, Miss.; Roman Catholic High of Philadelphia, Pa.; Jasper academy of Jasper, Ind.; Bishop England High of Charleston, S. C.; Campion academy of Prairie du Chien, Wis.; Columbia academy of Dubuque, Ia.; Spalding institute of Peoria, Ill.; De La Salle High of Minneapolis, Minn.; Trinity High of Bloomington, Ill.; De La Salle High of Joliet, Ill.; St. Theresa of Hutchinson, Kas.; De La Salle of Kansas City, Mo.; Father Ryan High of Nashville, Tenn.; Decatur Catholic High of Decatur, Ind.; St. Louis University High and McBride High, both of St. Louis, Mo., and Neumann High of Williamsville, N. Y.

College Stars Have Played.

Among stars who have appeared in the Loyola tournament in past years and who have gone on to collegiate fame are Marchmont Schwartz and Tom Conley of the 1930 Notre Dame football team. Schwartz played with St. Stanislaus, while Conley starred for Roman Catholic of Philadelphia. Jim Bausch, star of the University of Kansas football team last fall, appeared with Cathedral High of Wichita, Kas.

The idea of a basketball tournament for high school players from all corners of the country was originated by A. A. Stagg in 1917. Teams from practically every state in the union appeared on the floor at Bartlett gymnasium each spring to battle for the national title, and many of them, such as Lexington, Ky., and Carr Creek, Ky., are still talked about.

Illinois Teams Win Six Titles.

Illinois teams apparently have a monopoly on the Loyola title, since six state teams have been victors in the seven tournaments held thus far. Spalding of Peoria captured the first tournament and Paddy Driscoll's St. Mel High team came through in the second. The lone outsider, St. Xavier of Louisville, Ky., interrupted the Illinois succession by winning in 1926. De La Salle of Joliet then won in 1927 and 1928, and De La Salle institute of Chicago holds the last two championships.

Brother Peter, president of St. Stanislaus, which furnished a runnerup in the 1928 tournament, was one of the foremost among those canvassed to urge continuance of the meet. He pointed out that the one vital objection to the tournament—that it takes players from their studies—was answered by the educational benefit derived by travel and contact with boys from all parts of the country. He concluded his letter with the statement, "Let's abolish provincialism."

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Pudge MacKenzie's lift shot in front of the Minneapolis net at the five minute mark in the extra period tonight gave the Chicago Shamrocks a 2 to 1 victory over the Millers and first place in the American league.

Minneapolis was a man short in the overtime when four Shamrocks swarmed around its net. During the mixup, Wiseman shoved the disc in front of the goal and MacKenzie lifted it into the laces for the winning score.

Game Fast, Hard Fought.

The game was one of the fastest and most bitterly contested of the season. Penalties proved the downfall of the Millers for Chicago scored both times while Minneapolis players were serving time.

Gordon Brydson, Chicago speed merchant, increased his lead in league scoring by getting a goal in the second period. Like MacKenzie, he took a pass from Headley and knotted the count at one all.

Miller Scores Unassisted.

The second period of the struggle was the most exciting of the year. Early in the session Minneapolis stepped out in front when Riley scored unassisted. The Millers had only four men on the ice with three minutes of the period remaining and the Shamrocks tied the score on Brydson's shot.

HAWKS AT BOSTON

Boston, Mass., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks are due to arrive here tomorrow morning 18 strong ready to battle the league leading Bruins at the Boston garden tomorrow night. All signs point to a sellout as this hockey town is unable to figure out how its pets have suffered defeats in both of this season's encounters with the Chicago aggregation.

The Hawks surprised the Bruins when they started three forward line combinations and tomorrow night they will go still farther by using four lines three minutes apart.

Honesty Just Has to Be the Best Policy in Football

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—If the ethics of the football coaches are all that the coaches say they are, why is it, I wonder, that when a substitute player is sent out upon the field to relieve one of his colleagues who has just been thumbed in the eye or victimized for a ten yard loss, the referee finds it necessary to resolve himself into a committee of surveillance and shadow that young man in such a manner as to imply very frankly to the crowds that the young man is a potential cheat?

Why, also, is it considered necessary, whenever the physician, the trainer, or the water boy enters upon the playing yard to perform some official duty that the referee shall attach himself to him and haunt him like a private detective at a keyhole?

But Make Sure.

These obvious acts of suspicion occur many times during every football game and they would seem to suggest that honesty cannot be taken for granted in football. The boys may be honest, but it is considered a good idea to make sure.

Now, who do you suppose made all this necessary? Not President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard nor President James Angell of Yale, because it just does not agree with their reputation in the community. I feel quite sure that neither President Lowell nor President Angell ever grabbed a substitute by the ear as the substitute trembled on the sidelines, prancing and fidgeting in anticipation of the great moment, and adjured him to tell the quarter back, the dumb cluck, to try the so-and-so play.

Just Some Coaches.

Rather, I suspect, it was the coaches, and not the coaches of Harvard and Yale, but just some coaches, who were trying to run the teams exclusively from the side line and were sending in substitutes as errand boys with their instructions.

Presently it was agreed that unless the players were to be frankly classed as dummies, without sufficient independence or intelligence to select their own plays in an amateur game, the practice of coaching from the benches ought to be abolished. So it was agreed to cut it out.

But in order to make sure that one coach would not evade the agreement to the disadvantage of another the detective or eavesdropping branch was organized. That is why nowadays a school with a fine reputation and high ideals and all that sort of thing sees its athletes and its attachés shadowed as though they would cheat at the slightest opportunity.

Pegler Wonders About Presidents.

Sometimes, seeing a player dash out to report and seeing the referee fall in with him to make sure that he did not communicate instructions illegally to his associates, I have wondered that the president of the university did not hop over the little fence, call his team around him and say, "Inasmuch as we are regarded as a bunch of crooks, let's call it all off and play some gentleman's game."

The shadowing persists for the duration of only one play, so, of course, it does not prevent the coaches from communicating instructions with regard to ensuing plays, and it is only natural to suspect that the substitutes do convey orders from the bench as soon as the surveillance is legally ended. But this police work always strikes me as a frank expression of suspicion extending far beyond the individual player and the coach to the character of the school itself. In a Harvard game it implies that Harvard is not to be trusted.

Must Be Humiliating.

Granting that the coaches have been scolded more than the majority of them deserve, this is one feature of football which must be slightly humiliating and which may be ascribed to evasions of the rules by the coaches.

It should be sufficient that a player reports himself on the field, with perhaps some such remark as "I understand that I am not to communicate any instructions from the coach to the team."

But obviously it isn't enough.

NEW BOYS' CLASS IN SILVER SKATES INCREASES FIELD

Expect Entries to Equal Last Year.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Early entries for THE TRIBUNE'S fifteenth annual Silver Skates Derbies, Jan. 24 and 25, at Garfield park, indicate that as many will compete this year as in other seasons. Last year, when six Derbies were held, the entry list exceeded 3,300. A new division has been added for the fifteenth meet. This is for boys under 12. Boys 12 and 13 now will compete in the boys' juvenile Derby.

Contestants under 16 years of age do not have to register with the Illinois Western Skating association, the governing body in this territory. This association is an amalgamation of the Western Skating association and the Illinois Skating association.

Older Boys Must Register.

However, all contestants 16 years of age and over must register with Harry Berz, 3714 Polk street, secretary of the registration committee of the Illinois Western Skating association, to be eligible for any skating event in Chicago. The registration fee is 25 cents. The contestants under 16 are registered without charge from the entry blanks for THE TRIBUNE meet and other competitions.

Entries for THE TRIBUNE Silver Skates Derbies will be accepted if post marked by midnight Sunday, Jan. 18. But it is advisable to enter before the last day. Individual entries may be made on the blank printed daily in these pages. Team entries may be listed separately when sent in by the captain, secretary, or club official.

Compete for Team Trophy.

As in other years a team trophy will be offered to the club, playground or other organization scoring the most points in the seven Derbies. Last year the Barrett A. C. won the team trophy with 150 points with Avondale playground second with 110 points. Fifteen organizations scored.

Twenty-one pairs of skates are the major prizes in the seven Derbies. Winners will receive solid silver skates. Second place prizes are silver plated skates while third place winners will receive bronze skates. In addition fourth and fifth places in each of the seven races will be awarded gold and silver medals. Gold medals for lap prizes are offered in the three longest races for skaters leading the greatest number of laps.

As in other years each contestant who goes to the mark in the preliminaries will be given a bronze button.

Hank Bruder's Wedding Not a Secret for Long

Hank Bruder, captain and half back of Northwestern university's 1930 football team, is receiving the congratulations of friends following his surprise marriage Sunday afternoon at Waukegan to Miss Omega Gilbert of Evanston.

Bruder, known as football's most luckless player, due to his injuries and illnesses, returned to Evanston last Saturday from San Francisco, where he played in the all-star east-west charity football game. He attended the Notre Dame basketball at Patten gym Saturday night, but told no one of his matrimonial plans.

Sunday afternoon the pair, in company with Lee Gilbert, the bride's brother, and Jane Fitz and Mrs. Harriet Monfort, motored to Waukegan, where they were married by Justice of the Peace Wilfred Hall.

Meet at Fraternity Dance.

They were the guests of friends in Chicago Sunday night and returned to Evanston yesterday, where Bruder went to the Delta Upsilon fraternity house and Mrs. Bruder went to 1016 Greenleaf street, where she has been making her home.

News of the marriage was first reported from Waukegan, where Justice Hall admitted that he had married the pair after their names were found on the court records.

Mrs. Bruder, who is 20 years old, is the daughter of James A. Gilbert of Mattoon, Ill. She is not a co-ed. She has lived in Evanston for two years and has known Hank for a year and a half. They met at a fraternity dance at Northwestern and have been close friends since that time.

Bruder stated that he plans to withdraw from school and go to work. James Armstrong, dean of men of the university, stated that Bruder could remain in school if he so desired since the university ruling in regard to student marriages is only effective when both parties are students.

Will Go to Work.

"I am married now and just got to work," said Hank yesterday. "I have had several offers and as soon as I make up my mind I will take one."

Although Bruder was noncommittal, it is known that he has received offers to play professional football next fall. He was beset by injuries throughout his collegiate career and feels he has a lot of good football left in him.

Coach Dick Hanley before he left for the coast as coach of the east all-star team admitted that he would like to have Hank back as one of his assistants next fall.

Court Upholds $450 Tax Levy on Golf Club Stock

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—In a decision described as important to golfers and clubmen, the federal Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today that E. O. Munn correctly was assessed $450 on his purchase of two shares of stock of the Deepdale Golf club at Great Neck.

The assessment was made under a provision of the revenue act taxing initiation fees 10 per cent. Federal agents said golf and social clubs have adopted the practice of selling stock to prospective members since the tax became operative.

John G. Jackson, counsel for the United States Golf association, appeared for Mr. Munn and argued the money paid was not an initiation fee. The court held, however, that it was a "condition precedent to membership" in the club.

Ruch Elected President of Phillies Ball Club

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Lewis C. Ruch, vice president of the Philadelphia National league baseball club, was elected president at a meeting of the club's board of directors today. He succeeds William F. Baker, who died recently in Montreal. Douglas Nicholson was elected vice president; Gerald P. Nugent, business manager; Robert F. Irwin Jr., secretary.

ONLY 6 POINTS SCORED IN FIRST HALF OF GAME

Nelson, Poser Lead Wisconsin.

Games Tonight

Purdue at Michigan.
Ohio State at Notre Dame.
Chicago at Marquette.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Illinois lost its first game of the season here tonight to Wisconsin in the opening battle of the Big Ten conference season, 12 to 9. The Badgers jumped in to an early lead and held it throughout.

At half time the Meanwell team held a 5 to 1 lead over the Illini, having gained that margin by a basket by Poser and three free throws. The only Orange and Blue score during that time was a free throw by Harper.

Illini Cagers Rally.

In the second half, the Illini came back and scored three points when Bartholomew made a field goal and was alloted a free throw when he was fouled by Griswold. Nelson added to the Badgers' lead with a basket and Fencl brought the Illini within two points with a free throw.

Poser made a long shot and Fencl counted with two free throws on Steen's foul. Poser made good a free throw and Owen made the second basket for Illinois from the free throw line, making the score 10 to 9 in Wisconsin's favor.

Steen Makes 2 Free Throws.

Steen put the Badgers out in front by three points with two free throws. The Illini were unable to score in the remaining seconds and Coach Meanwell ended the game by chasing the referee about the floor when the gun failed to discharge.

Nelson and Poser were the leading Badger scorers with five points each and Bartholomew led the Illini with three points. Fencl, Owen and Harper each made two points for Illinois while Griswold counted the remaining two for Wisconsin.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The University of Minnesota basketball team closed its practice season with a 29 to 17 victory over Iowa State here tonight.

Compared with Saturday's victory over Carleton, tonight's game was ordinary. After the Gophers assumed a short lead at the outset, it was obvious that they would win as they pleased.

Coach MacMillan started substituting and at the close had only two regulars in the lineup. Capt. Schoening and Licht shared the scoring honors for the Gophers, each with three field goals. Thompson and Hawk featured for Ames.

IOWA BEATS DRAKE, 21-20

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Iowa university's basket ball team tonight defeated Drake, 21 to 20.

The Hawkeyes took an 11 to 1 lead, but the Bulldogs rallied around Schultz to crawl up to a 12 to 9 margin. Rogers and Koser then sank a pair of goals to give Iowa a 16 to 10 lead at the half.

Iowa was far in front again, 21 to 12, about the middle of the last half, but from there to the finish, it was all Drake. Summary:

DE PAUL WINS, 31-23

De Paul university's basketball team defeated North Dakota State, 31 to 23, with a fast passing attack last night before a crowd of 5,000 at De Paul gym. It was the sixth victory in seven games for the Blue Demons.

De Paul piled up a 17 to 10 lead in the first half, with Heine Coan sinking four goals. But the Dakotans rallied when McDonald and Olsen made long range shots to put the Dakotans only a point behind at the intermission, 17 to 16. Lineup:

LEACH STOPS JACK DILLON IN THIRD ROUND

Davis K. O.'s Johnson in Sixth at White City.

Fight Decisions

At White City—Gary Leach stopped Young Jack Dillon [3]. Jackie Davis knocked out Carl Johnson [6].

At Springfield, Mo.—Clyde Chastain beat Johnny Wagner [10].

Gary Leach, hard punching middleweight from Gary, Ind., scored a technical knockout over Young Jack Dillon of Indianapolis in the third round of their eight round windup bout at White City last night. The fight was stopped after Dillon twice had been knocked down for counts of nine. Leach weighed 159 pounds and Dillon 165.

32 ROUNDS AT CICERO

Thirty-two rounds of boxing, including a ten round main event, a six round semi-final, and four four round preliminaries, are offered tomorrow night at the Cicero Stadium by Promoter Billy Cepak.

Natie Brown, California heavyweight, will meet Tom Jones, rugged Chicago colored boxer, in the windup. The semi-finalists will be Mickey Patrick, East Chicago 170 pound youngster, and Tuffy O'Dowd of Pocatello, Idaho.

Mickey Patrick vs. Tuffy O'Dowd, 6 rounds, 170 pounds.
Bobby Hines vs. Lou Friedman, 4 rounds, 154 pounds.
Vincent Kowalewski vs. Brisk Kannel, 4 rounds, heavyweights.

RETZLAFF, NERON SIGN

Charlie Retzlaff, Duluth heavyweight, who has scored a long string of knockout victories, has been matched with George Neron, giant Greek, in one of the supporting numbers to the Jimmy Slattery-King Levinsky fight at the Stadium on Jan. 14.

Negotiations were started yesterday for a Mickey McFarland-Gary Leach bout on the Jan. 14 card. McFarland is agreeable, but Leach refused to talk fight until he had gone through with other matches already scheduled. Barney Ross, lightweight star from the Ghetto, also has accepted terms to appear, but no opponent has been found for him.

In the meantime Levinsky has been undergoing a special course of instruction under the guidance of Red Mason, manager of the late Harry Greb. Mason has been showing the King a lot of Greb's old tricks. Slattery will arrive tomorrow morning from Buffalo and will begin training in the afternoon.

WEAR, DAVIS CUP CHAIRMAN, DROPS TENNIS ACTIVITIES

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Joseph W. Wear of Philadelphia, chairman of the American Davis cup committee since 1928, today announced his decision to retire from active participation in lawn tennis affairs.

Pressure of his private business affairs and the exacting duties required of him as chairman of the alumni board of Yale university were given by Mr. Wear as the reasons for his decision to give up the work in which he has served with distinction for three years.

It has been expected that Mr. Dailey's successor as president, in all probability Louis J. Carruthers, now first vice president, would name him as chairman again to serve for 1931. Mr. Wear will not only refuse to consider the Davis cup portfolio again, but he also will decline to accept the office of vice president in the U. S. L. T. A.

Asked as to whom he considered the man best qualified to succeed to the chairmanship, Mr. Wear named Fitz-Eugene Dixon of Philadelphia, who has been his right-hand man for the last two years as captain of the Davis cup team.

STEELE DEFEATS FRED GROBMIER IN MAT WINDUP

Ray Steele of California defeated Fred Grobmier, Iowa heavyweight, in the windup of a wrestling show at 132d Infantry armory, Madison and Rockwell streets, last night before 2,000 spectators.

Steele won the first fall in 49:58 by escaping from the Iowan's scissors hold and applying a succession of headlocks and a reverse body lock. Grobmier was unable to continue and forfeited the second fall.

Leo and Parker Prep Cage Teams Split Double Header

Leo of the Catholic league and Parker of the City league divided a practice double header on the latter's floor yesterday. Phillips led the invading heavyweights to an 18 to 14 victory, while Taylor starred in the Parker lights' 19 to 16 triumph.

POTPOURRI.

It is a bit early to be talking chances of candidates for the Kentucky Derby in May, with winter only fairly opened, but the matter is brough to our attention by future book quotations, of a St. Louis operator. They are 6 to 1 against Equipoise, 8 to 1 against Twenty Grand, and 20 to 1 against Don Leon, Insco, and Jamestown.

Of course, these prices are unofficial, for nominations do not close for the big Kentucky race for more than a month, but venturesome ones are accommodated at the quoted figures on a play or pay basis. "Play or pay," as you recall, means that if the horse on which you wager does not start it's just too bad—you lose your money anyway.

Incidentally, the prices indicate there will be a future book. There had been some doubt whether any big bookmakers would take the risk, as recent ventures have not proved profitable in comparison with the capital menace involved.

Betting sweepstakes, long known in England, have invaded France, where many tickets are being sold on the Grand National steeplechase sweep, conducted to aid Irish hospitals. These sweeps are not bets on horse races in the true sense of betting, but really lotteries. Drawings are made and those fortunate enough to draw the names of horses starting receive cash prizes, with a sizable fortune to the holder of the winning horse. Wasn't it in "Tom Brown's Schooldays" that an incident based on a sweep occurred?

Pro basketball is competing against the collegiate article less successfully than pro football. There are many reasons, but we wonder if one of the more important is not because pro basketball has few former college players compared to pro football. College players, for one thing, attract a following. On the other hand, few college players have made good in pro basketball, while they dominate pro football.

Wanton Lyrics.

Make us free and let us go
Our skyward way a-winging
Past the stars! For we must know
The nature of all singing!

Gravity and earth can bind
The mortals who live in it.
Magnetized with truth we'll find
Attractions that will spin it.

Love will be our troubadour
O love will soon be singing
Wanton songs that fly and soar
For wanton hearts rebringing!

Worlds of color . . . worlds that sing!
Winged freedom will be giving
Melodies of youth that bring
The lightness to all living! J. D.

STROTZ LEAVES FOR EAST, SEEKS SCHMELING BOUT

Sidney N. Strotz, president of the Chicago Stadium, and Nate Lewis, matchmaker, left yesterday for New York to confer with Joe Jacobs, manager for Max Schmeling, relative to holding a heavyweight championship fight in Chicago between the German titleholder and Will [Young] Stribling.

The seven day limit set by the New York boxing commission in which Schmeling must sign to meet Jack Sharkey or suffer suspension expires today. Strotz anticipates Schmeling will be suspended in New York. In that event the contract which Madison Square Garden holds for Schmeling's services will be void, and it will be possible to arrange the local fight. The Stadium has offered Schmeling $500,000 for a title defense in Chicago with Stribling as his opponent.

HOCHSTADTER IS BURIED; NOTABLES ATTEND RITES

Funeral services for Harry Hochstadter, veteran Chicago sports writer, yesterday were attended by a notable and large gathering from the sports world.

The services were conducted at the chapel at 936 East 47th street, and while the Masonic and Hebrew rites were said many representatives from baseball, from the turf, from the prize ring and from the amateur sports ranks paid their final respects.

Rabbi Gerson Levi conducted the Hebrew rites and the Washington Park lodge was in charge of the Masonic services. The pall bearers were John C. Schank, Warren Brown, William Blinn, Don L. Omo, George Ferguson, Robert Ruhl, Charles Dunkley, and French Lane.

Preps Swim Jan. 9 and 10 in Annual Maroon Meet

The University of Chicago's seventh annual Cook county swimming interscholastic will be held in the Bartlett gymnasium tank this week end. Preliminaries will be run off Friday afternoon and evening, with the finals on Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

1930-'31 Duck Season Ends Tomorrow

BY BOB BECKER.

It'll be "curtain" for Illinois waterfowl hunters tomorrow as the 7th is the last day of the 1930-'31 season. When sundown comes tomorrow evening the boys can clean up fowling pieces and lay them away until next fall, because there will be no more duck shooting this season in the north country.

Indiana, according to the statutes, has until the 15th to finish its duck hunting, but in Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa the season closed on Dec. 31. Farther south the open season continues until Jan. 31.

Looking back over our notes for the last few months we find far too many entries which say, "too warm and too quiet" for good duck hunting. In fact if we were to sum up some of the discouraging features of the season which goes off the books tomorrow, conclusions would read like this:

Hunters Are Disappointed.

Too much heat and not enough rain; too many weeds and not enough ponds; too much mud that made too much work navigating in the lowlands; too much waiting for too few birds.

The big flight through Illinois came down with the storm that broke Oct. 16, a Thursday night, and resulted in wonderful waterfowl hunting that week-end. But from that time on there was many a disappointment served to thousands of gunners who devoted one or more week-ends trying to get a mess of ducks.

On our trips into the Illinois river waterfowl country it was not difficult to see the many changes which this year of unusual weather conditions produced. So drained and dry were some sections of the lowlands that not even batteries of pumps and pipe lines could replace a fraction of the water which should have been in these marshes.

Field Holes Dry Up.

Several years ago when we drove into one part of the Illinois valley we used to pass pen after pen way back in the fields, all with mallards working to them. This fall not one of these so-called "field" shooting holes with which we are familiar produced a shot.

The same blinds which we hunted from in a normal stage of water and had to paddle to, this year were either bone dry or with so little water that one had to wallow in oozy mud in order to reach them. Sportsmen will not grieve over the passing of this 1930-'31 duck season. It was a heartbreaker in many respects, one which because of unnatural conditions presented many problems.

HOUSE OF DAVID, TRUNKS RESUME BASKET RIVALRY

Whiskered and long haired athletes of the House of David and the Taylor Trunk girls will resume their rivalry at the Broadway armory, Broadway and Thorndale, tomorrow night. The teams met four times last season and each won two games.

Serving as the final half of the double bill will be the meeting of the Chicago Bruins and the Brooklyn Visitations in an American Pro league game. The Bruins defeated the league leaders last Saturday night.

TRUNKS BEAT HARVEY, 20-13.

The Taylor Trunks girls basketball team kept intact its string of victories last night, defeating the Harvey All-Stars, 20 to 13, at Harvey. The Trunks led, 10 to 8, at the half.

PACIFISTS START NEAR RIOT AT WAR HERO'S BIER

Thousands Pay Homage to Marshal Joffre.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Two anti-militarists were arrested and several women jailed in the course of a tremendous march as more than 100,000 men, women, and children thronged past Marshal Joseph Joffre's simple camp bed bier in the tiny war chapel today.

The pacifists, walking up to the head of the block long column waiting to view the Marne hero's body as it lay in state, suddenly shouted:

"Down with war! Down with marshals!"

Police and republican guards dragged them off to jail. They turned in a call for reinforcements when the confusion developed into a near riot, and 100 gendarmes came on the run.

Throng Streams By.

Inside the chapel utmost reverence was maintained as the public passed the figure of "Papa" Joffre. At his feet were the marshal's baton and sword, which he seldom wore, and his many French and foreign decorations. Standing at the four corners of the catafalque were four officers of his staff, immobile, performing a last service for their chief before being dispatched to other army jobs.

The streaming crowd was largely proletarians — postmen, coal heavers, clerks and other white collar men, and midinettes, eager to see the great soldier, essentially a commoner, son of a barrel maker, who fought his way up to an exalted military position. They filed past in silence.

At the arrival of Mme. Joffre the unseemly straining throng relaxed magically to allow the stricken widow to enter. She went to the balcony and knelt at prayer for an hour.

Another Throng Today.

The thousands who came to pay homage to the "defender of Paris" were still marching in and out of the chapel at a late hour tonight. Authorities said they would permit all to enter the chapel before closing it to the public for the day. Another throng will obtain their last glimpse of the warrior tomorrow.

Tomorrow night Marshal Joffre's body will be taken to the Arc de Triomphe and then to the Cathedral of Notre Dame for Wednesday's funeral services. The body will rest five minutes beside the tomb of the unknown soldier en route. The firing of cannon will mark the beginning and end of this period.

Prefect of Police Chiappe has ordered all street lamps darkened during the procession to the cathedral. The only illumination will be provided by the flickering torches of a cavalry escort.

It was learned tonight that the American colors and American war veterans will not be represented in Wednesday's funeral procession as the result of a request to the Paris post of the American Legion not to participate. The request is understood to have come from the American embassy.

Members Show Resentment.

It is not clear whether the request originated at the embassy or in Washington, or is part of a blanket order by French authorities barring all allied ex-service men. Several American Legion members expressed their surprise and resentment at the request.

There was some criticism after the funeral of Marshal Foch that the appearance of the Paris post's color guard was unmilitary. Unless there is a last minute change the United States will be represented solely by Ambassador Walter E. Edge and his staff.

FIND WOMAN'S DEATH A SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday in the case of Mrs. Grace O'Byrne, 39 years old, who shot herself in her husband's parked automobile Sunday in front of 8015 Dobson avenue.

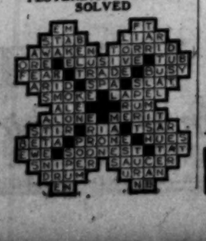
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Student

C. G. CONN, MAKER OF INSTRUMENTS FOR BANDS, DIES

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Charles Gerard Conn, founder of the band instrument manufacturing company which bears his name, died following a short illness here today at the age of 86.

Born in Ontario county, New York, he moved to Elkhart, Ind., with his parents when 7 years old. During the civil war he served in the Fifteenth Indiana volunteers and First Michigan sharpshooters, and before being taken prisoner near the end of the war had risen to the rank of captain. His service brought him a congressional medal for valor.

Soon after the war he started his band instrument manufacturing enterprise. He served as mayor of Elkhart, assemblyman, and for one term in congress, declining a renomination. He established the Elkhart Daily Truth in 1890, and during his term in congress, from 1893 to 1895, was owner of the Washington Times.

Mr. Conn is survived by his widow and a son, Charles Gerard Conn Jr., 12.

SENATORS URGE RATE INCREASES ON ALASKA ROAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—An increase in rates, a reduction in train mileage, and adoption of more efficient methods were proposed by a special senate committee today as a means of reducing the annual deficit of the government's "white elephant," the Alaska railroad.

The recommendations are the result of a first hand investigation made last summer by the committee, which is composed of Senator R. B. Howell [Rep., Neb.], chairman, and Senators John Thomas [Rep., Idaho] and J. B. Kendrick [Dem., Wyo.].

It was proposed that passenger rates be increased from 6 to 10 cents per mile and that freight rates be revised so as to provide at least 50 per cent more revenue. A reduction of train mileage of about 100,000 miles as compared with that of the fiscal year 1930 was advocated, together with enforcement of strict economy and business efficiency.

M. W. Dickey, 52, Editor of Springfield Union, Dies

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Maurice Woodburn Dickey, 52, for several years president of the Union Newspaper company, managing editor of the Springfield Union, and president of the New England regional division of the Associated Press, died today in his home after ten days of illness with pneumonia.

Mob of Jugo-Slav Exiles Stone Legation in Vienna

VIENNA, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Crowds of Jugo-Slav exiles and sympathizers stoned the legation of their country tonight in a demonstration on the eve of the second anniversary of the Jugo-Slav dictatorship by King Alexander. Police dispersed them and arrested six after numerous windows were smashed.

34 CHANGES URGED IN LAW GIVING AID TO WORLD WAR VETERANS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Amid echoing demands for cash payment on adjusted certificates, Chairman Johnson of the house veterans committee today prepared to introduce a bill proposing the greatest liberalization asked by the American Legion since existing provisions were enacted seven years ago.

The bill drafted by the Legion would amend the world war veterans act in 34 separate ways. It would increase pension rates, provide hospitalization for all veterans regardless of service connection of their ills; extend present temporary dependency allowances to dependents of permanently disabled; and supply additional widows and orphans pensions.

Advocates of certificate payments renewed their demands for a hearing on a number of such proposals, but Chairman Hawley of the ways and means committee stood firmly against taking them up.

The American Legion bill includes two provisions which experts said last year would call for an outlay of $30,000,000 and $12,000,000 each.

PLAN TO BURY PRINCESS LOUISE IN ROYAL GROUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Princess Louise, Princess Royal and eldest sister of King George, will probably be buried in the royal cemetery at Windsor at the end of this weak unless her will states that she wishes to be buried at the side of her husband, the duke of Fife, at Braemar. Private funeral services will be held at St. George's chapel at Windsor.

The Windsor cemetery was consecrated in 1928 to take up the overflow from the vaults of St. George's, now reserved for sovereigns and those in the direct line of succession.

The royal family was in mourning today, and at the changing of the guard ceremony at Buckingham palace today, the guards wore bands of black crepe. It is understood that Princess Mary, the only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, will be made Princess Royal through royal warrant. She is seventh in line of succession.

Founder of Pi Beta Sorority Is Dead at Monmouth, Ill.

Monmouth, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. A. P. Hutchinson, nee Clara Brownlee, one of the founders of Pi Beta Phi sorority, died here today. Pi Beta Phi, first of the college sororities, was founded at Monmouth college, April 28, 1867, and has since expanded to about 75 college campuses and membership of 18,000. Twelve Monmouth co-eds founded the organization, then known as I. C. Sorosis, early in 1867, and of that group only five now survive.

Wins Her Third Divorce from the Same Husband

Mrs. Bessie Salnitsky, 28 years old, 5027 North Troy street, yesterday won her third divorce from Nathan Salnitsky on grounds of cruelty. The couple were married in November, 1922; divorced in July, 1925; remarried in September, 1925; divorced again in September, 1926; remarried in February, 1929, and divorced for the third time yesterday. "He's so good to me when we're separated that I just can't help marrying him," Mrs. Salnitsky told Superior Judge Lewis.

Italian Ship Remains Under Sea 20 Minutes at 340 Feet

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 5. — The Italian submersible Fratelli Bandiera, an 830 ton craft, remained for 20 minutes at a depth of 340 feet during a test today. This is believed to have set a record for this kind of performance, and important from a naval standpoint as plunging ability is the principal protection of submarines.

His service brought him a congressional medal for valor.

Soon after the war he started his band instrument manufacturing enterprise. He served as mayor of Elkhart, assemblyman, and for one term in congress, declining a renomination. He established the Elkhart Daily Truth in 1890, and during his term in congress, from 1893 to 1895, was owner of the Washington Times.

Mr. Conn is survived by his widow and a son, Charles Gerard Conn Jr., 12.

CLAIMS CANCER GERMS CURE T. B. AND VICE VERSA

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Jan. 5.—At the second national congress of the Italian Anti-Cancer league in Bologna a possible new method for combatting cancer has been suggested by Prof. Eugenio Centanni, director of the Pathological institute of the University of Bologna.

His method is based on the observation that concer and tuberculosis never co-exist in the same individual. As the result of many tests performed on animals for the study of cancer he found that, when tuberculosis develops cancer disappears, and vice versa. In some cases cancer and tuberculosis mutually destroyed each other, leaving the animals completely free of both diseases. Even when the mutual destruction of the two diseases was not complete Prof. Centanni found that cancer could always be conquered by tuberculosis.

Prof. Centanni's method is still in its infancy, never having been tried on human beings. The principle upon which it rests has been applied in the treatment of other diseases. It is known, in fact, that paresis may be cured or checked by the injection of malaria germs.

BRITISH ADMIRAL DIES AS SOCIETY PRACTICES WALTZ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Tragedy stalked the glittering ballroom of the Savoy hotel in London tonight, when, in the midst of a gay scene during a dress rehearsal for the Strauss ball one of the dancers, Admiral Sir Charles Royds, acting commissioner of the metropolitan police and deputy chief of Scotland Yard, suddenly collapsed and died of heart attack.

Sir Charles was dancing to the strains of the famous Strauss waltz with Mrs. Fitzmaurice of Orkney, who was to have been his partner at the Strauss ball, when he collapsed. The music stopped and the dancers, comprising the leaders of London society, all attired in Victorian costumes, fluttered around.

Sir Charles was a member of the first Scott expedition to the antarctic in 1901. Sir Ernest Shackleton named Cape Royds, his base in the antarctic, after the admiral.

82 KNOWN DEAD, FIFTY MISSING IN FILIPINO TYPHOON

MANILA, Jan. 5.—(AP)—With eighty-two dead and fifty missing, fears were felt tonight of even greater loss as a result of a typhoon which roared across the central Philippine islands last week-end.

Wires were prostrated and roads blocked, but belated reports indicated the list of casualties probably would be lengthened with restoration of communication.

A large number of native fishermen perished in the sinking of many small boats off the coasts of Leyte and Cebu islands. Property damage on those islands was reported more than $500,000 and $250,000 respectively.

KILLED BY HIS OWN WEAPON.

Nick Duva, 32 years old, 1430 Polk street, who was shot with his own weapon last Saturday night after he had tried to hold up Stephen Pardus, 6323 South Kildare avenue, near his home, died yesterday in the Bridewell hospital.

NAB DAUGHTER OF ALD. MASSEN AS A SPEEDER

Miss Elinor M. Massen, 19 years old, daughter of Ald. John A. Massen of the 48th ward, was arrested yesterday for speeding 40 miles an hour in Forest avenue, Evanston. Miss Massen explained that she was hurrying to attend her 9 o'clock class at Northwestern university, but she was compelled to go to the police station, where her case was set for hearing on Jan. 8.

"That was my first class after the vacation," Miss Massen moaned. "I'll get charged with three 'cuts' instead of just one for missing it."

Whereupon Policeman Fred Wynn volunteered to serve as escort and away they sped for the university, where the policeman explained the matter to the professor. Miss Massen is a senior and is chairman of the editorial board of the Daily Northwestern.

DIES AS RESULT OF BURNS.

Martin Gustavson, 27 years old, 4132 Kenmore avenue, died yesterday at the county hospital of burns received last August when a can of kerosene exploded as he was trying to light a fire with it.

Have Color in Cheeks

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling — you should try Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel — were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study.

Olive Tablets have a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no nimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

ATTACK INSANITY DEFENSE OF LAKE FOREST BURGLAR

Antonio Rendon, who early on the morning of last Oct. 2 terrorized the home of Mrs. Leverett Thompson of Lake Forest, and who was sent to the Elgin State Hospital for the Insane, was rearraigned yesterday before Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan.

Judge Dady appointed Justice of the Peace Wilfred Hall to defend Rendon and continued the case to permit Hall to prepare a defense.

Rendon was recalled from the Elgin hospital after Sheriff Lester Tiffany learned that he had been arrested for burglary several times and always had escaped after managing to have himself sent to the Elgin hospital. If Rendon pleads insanity again the court is to be asked to send him to the Chester hospital for observation.

CUBA RATIFIES REVISED STATUTE OF WORLD COURT

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, Jan. 5.—Cuba, which alone prevented the protocol for revision of the world court statute from going into effect in September, deposited here today its ratification of that instrument.

This, however, will not end the delay in enforcement of the protocol, for Cuba has accompanied her ratification with serious reservations, which now have to be recommunicated to all other signatories to see whether they accept them.

The Cuban reservations cover points to which it previously objected. The first is article 4 of the protocol, which made ratification by all members of the court unnecessary for its enforcement. The second is article 23 of the revised statute, requiring the court to remain in permanent session, obliging the judges to remain always at the disposition of the court, save when ill or vacationing and limiting leave for overseas judges to six months every three years.

The Cuban objections to the latter article are generally attributed here to personal objections of the Cuban member of the court, Judge Debustamente, to remaining permanently at The Hague.

Cuba makes no reservation to the amendments to the statute concerning advisory opinions, which Secretary of State Stimson has stated were of importance to the United States in connection with its entry into the court. The only difficulty consequently remaining on this point is the delay in enforcement of the protocol caused by the other points on which Cuba does make reservations. Since it alone has objected to them, it may be difficult to get the others to accept its reservations.

ACTIVE CHICAGO STOCKS FINISH A LITTLE HIGHER

Packing Issues Improve on News of Modification

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Counter influences made for irregularity in price movements on the Chicago exchange yesterday, but when trading was brought to a halt at 2 o'clock a majority of the active shares were selling at prices above the level of last week's final quotations.

The advancing tendency in the motor shares, so pronounced last week, was checked, at least temporarily, and the group was weak during most of the day. The utility stocks and a few specialties pushed forward to assume market leadership.

Reports of merger negotiations by Grigsby-Grunow company had little influence on the firm's shares, but a flash of strength was shown around midday by the shares of its affiliate, Majestic Household. The flurry of activity, which sent the Majestic issue up to 7½, subsided as the trading wore on and the stock settled back to finish with a gain of a fraction. Official confirmation of the report that Grigsby is dickering for a merger with other firms in the field could not be obtained.

Modification Aids Shares.

Modification of the packers' consent decree, announced early in the day, injected life into Libby-McNeill shares, which were exchanged in the heaviest volume in several weeks. Swift & Co. was in moderate demand and slightly higher. The granting of permission to the packers to deal in food products had been looked forward to by the various companies as providing an opportunity of expanding the business and utilizing their present distributing facilities.

The announcement had no adverse effect on Mickelberry's Food Products stock, which pushed forward for a modest gain with the publication of an earnings estimate by President E. J. Engel. Mr. Engel said that profits for 1930 will be in excess of $1.50 a share on the 131,349 common shares outstanding after provision for preferred stock. Last month was the second largest in the firm's history, he added.

Utility shares, led by Cities Service and Insull, moved up moderately. Middle West was unchanged on heavy sales at 20. Earnings of Middle West Utilities for 1930 will be equivalent to about $1.55 a share on the stock outstanding, according to estimates.

Encounters Good Buying.

Commonwealth Edison encountered good buying and moved up 2 points to 228. The board of directors of the company yesterday carried on the company's dividend tradition of 41 years' standing by voting a regular quarterly payment of 2 per cent. When the payment is made the firm will have distributed its 165th quarterly disbursement.

Gains of a fraction to 2 points were scored by National Standard, North American Car, Marshall Field, and Butler Brothers. Bendix and Borg Warner finished on the other side of the ledger with small losses, and National Republic Investment sold down 2 from its previous close.

SEARS-ROEBUCK DOLLAR SALES SECOND LARGEST

Dollar sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago mail order and chain store concern, were the second largest in history last year. Total sales were $390,382,107, compared with $440,665,720 in 1929, the banner year, making a decline of $50,283,613, or 11.4 per cent. This percentage decline, however, would indicate that the tonnage volume last year was about as large as in 1929, considering the decline in commodity prices.

Sales for the four weeks ended Dec. 31, which was the final period in the company's thirteen months year, totaled $39,075,133, compared with $50,334,270 a year ago, a decline of $11,259,137, or 22.4 per cent.

December sales of F. W. Woolworth company amounted to $42,319,770, against $44,153,724 in the 1929 month, a decrease of 4.1 per cent. For the full year 1930 sales were $289,288,552, compared with $303,034,223, a decrease of 4.5 per cent.

HEAR RUMORS OF ANOTHER LARGE RADIO MERGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Rumors that another big radio merger involving some of the leading companies of the country is in the making gained circulation with the arrival here today of R. J. Grigsby, head of the Grigsby-Grunow company of Chicago.

Mr. Grigsby would not discuss the reports in any particular, but did concede that he "might possibly have something to say later on."

Asked outright if General Motors, mentioned some time ago as about to take over his company, was involved in the supposed negotiations, the Chicago manufacturer said, enigmatically: "I can't say."

He had the same reply to queries involving the Columbia Gramaphone, Jenkins Television, and De Forrest. Mr. Grigsby will be here several days.

Persons in touch with the company's affairs here scouted the idea that Jenkins Television, Columbia Gramaphone or De Forrest Radio are involved in the rumored deal. It is believed that the company is negotiating with representatives of General Motors corporation. The company's plant is now shut down, as is usual at this period of the year.

A suggestion from an old, estate-minded institution

This is an opportune time to Review Your Will

TO all owners of estates The Northern Trust Company today suggests: it is an opportune time to review your Will.

Readjustments in the securities market and the resulting alterations in values may have made specific bequests inadequate for the purpose intended. An important reason, in many instances, for a restudy of the Will.

In other cases the years that have passed since the writing of the Will may have brought a need for new or altered bequests. Births, business changes, deaths, marriages, new capacities shown by beneficiaries—each suggests a further possible need for revision.

Write for informative booklet

We have a booklet containing practical suggestions for making Wills based on our more than forty years' experience as executor-trustee for many hundreds of estates. These suggestions may be of value as you review your present Will. An officer of our Trust Department will be happy to explain them to you.

Once you have decided upon the changes you wish to make, the redrawing of your Will is a task to be entrusted to your attorney. He will find The Northern Trust Company ready at all times to cooperate.

At its home on the northwest corner of LaSalle and Monroe Streets an officer of The Northern Trust Company is always at your service.

THE DIRECTORS OF THE NORTHERN TRUST COMPANY ARE:

A. WATSON ARMOUR, Director, Armour & Company
SEWELL L. AVERY, President, U. S. Gypsum Company

More than 40 years in the service of Chicago

NORTHWEST CORNER LA SALLE AND MONROE STREETS

Walter S. Gifford,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company

"The present volume of business of the Bell System is favorable when compared with the general level of industrial activity. Each month of the year has shown an increase in the business done over the same month of last year. The net gain in telephones for the first nine months of 1930 was 120,000.

"The number of shareholders has increased 70,000 since the first of the year. The total at the end of September was 540,000."

Message to stockholders on October 15, 1930

WITH its predecessors, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company has paid dividends regularly for forty-eight years. It is constantly seeking to bring the nation's telephone service nearer to perfection. It owns over 91% of the combined common stocks of the operating companies of the Bell System, which furnishes an indispensable service to the nation.

For such reasons, skilled counselors have continually recommended investment in this company.

For the same reasons, this company is one of the 30 "Super-Corporations" whose common stocks form the fixed portfolio of Super-Corporations of America Trust Shares.

These shares offer in a single moderate-priced security wide diversification, immediate marketability, liberal return and attractive possibilities for profit. We shall be glad to furnish full details. Send for circular CT-7.

GOOD RECORD IS HUNG UP IN '30 BY PFD. STOCKS

Hold Reputation as Sound Investment.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Preferred stocks of America's premier industrial and railroad corporations vindicated their reputation as sound investments last year. In a year in which market values of common stocks melted away, the preferred stocks incurred much less depreciation and in some instances even appreciated in value. In fact, their general action almost merits the term "depression proof."

For example, United States Steel preferred shares finished 1930 at 142¾ after selling as high as 151¼, whereas its final price for 1929 was 141¾. American Tobacco preferred finished 1930 at 125½, compared with 120¾ in 1929. American Can preferred was 148, compared with 142⅞. Du Pont debenture stock was 121½ against 114¾. National Biscuit preferred was 148 against 145½.

Others Show Gains.

Other preferred issues to show gains ranging from one to several points were American Woolen, Cluett-Peabody, Commercial Credit, Eastman Kodak, Fair Store, Gold Dust, Loews, Norfolk & Western, North American, Philadelphia company, Public Service of New Jersey, Union Pacific, United Cigar Stores, United Gas Improvement, and others.

And other preferred stocks that did not fare as well managed to come off with relatively small losses. In this class were Allied Chemical, American Power and Light, American Smelting, American Steel Foundries, Atchison, Bethlehem Steel, A. M. Byers, Columbia Gas and Electric, Crucible Steel, International Harvester, S. S. Kresge, Liggett & Myers, Loose Wiles, and Studebaker.

In contrast to the action of preferred stocks was that of leading common stocks. The market appraisal of 100 leading common issues declined $8,700,000,000 last year, or from $29,434,453,000 to $20,734,263,000, according to a compilation by Frazier, Jelke & Co.

Cites Comparison.

This recession compares with a decline of $2,709,474,000 in 1929 and a gain of $10,204,722,000 in 1928. At the low levels of Dec. 17, 1930, the group was valued at $19,386,310,000, or $24,666,724,000 less than at the end of August, 1929, the approximate peak of the bull market.

Each one of the 13 sub-groups which make up the 100 issues showed a loss for the year, the largest decline being in the mines, which dropped 57.1 per cent, and the smallest being in the foods, 6.6 per cent. The oils depreciated 42 per cent; the equipments, 40.9 per cent; the retail shares, 38.4 per cent; the amusements, 36.9 per cent; the electrical manufacturing issues, 29.6 per cent; the chemicals, 29.4 per cent; the rails, 24.5 per cent; the miscellaneous industrials, 24.4 per cent; the motors, 23.6 per cent; the steels, 20.9 per cent, and the utilities, 18.6 per cent. In 1929, the decline in the automobile group contributed 96 per cent of the total depreciation, while in 1930 the biggest loss was in the oils and amounted to 21.7 per cent of the total change.

Average Rail Yield.

The average yield on 38 leading dividend paying railroad stocks is 8.64 per cent at current market prices, according to the Standard Statistics company. But better things ahead are predicted.

"Obviously, deflation of rail stocks has been so drastic that they will be very sensitive to any indications that a turn in the tide of traffic and earnings is at hand," the survey says. "Gross earnings will in the aggregate compare unfavorably through the opening months of 1931 but with better control over expenses net earnings should tend to stabilize. In the last half of 1931 it is natural to expect not only seasonal gains in revenues but an uptrend stimulated by emergence of general business from current extremes of depression."

Stock Offerings Shrink.

Another indication of the trend toward sound investments is the fact that new stock flotations, which came in a flood in 1929, declined sharply last year. On the other hand, new bond offerings increased moderately Stock offerings in 1930 totaled only $1,270,281,000, compared with $4,523,107,000 in 1929; while bond offerings aggregated $5,846,064,000, compared with $4,879,953,000, according to a survey by Lawrence Stern & Co., investment bankers. The combined offerings of bonds and stock totaled $7,116,345,000 last year, compared with $9,403,060,000 in 1929 and $9,222,948,000 in 1928.

"Curtailment of new issues is an important factor with respect to the future course of the bond market," the survey says, "since it is generally admitted that a considerable part of the difficulties which have been met in the bond field are due to past overissuance of bonds, leaving the market flooded with an undigested surplus. The only cure for this situation is a drastic curtailment of new issues and this curtailment obviously is taking place."

Tell How Motor Transport Cuts Into Railway Traffic

BY SCRUTATOR.

How both freight and passenger traffic is moving from the railroads to trucks and buses was outlined yesterday in vivid fashion at an interstate commerce commission examiner's hearing in the Hotel Sherman. Officials of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad gave the figures showing that their business in agricultural products had gone in wholesale fashion to the highway vehicle.

The hearing is one of a series being held in various parts of the country. The commerce commission wishes to get a complete picture of present trends to determine what steps may be taken to establish a legal basis for more effective coördination of agencies with a view to greater economy and efficiency in national transportation.

Against Coördination.

In the past three years the railroads themselves have increased their owned bus business by 600 per cent and now have forty-one million dollars invested in highway vehicles, according to Leo J. Flynn, the presiding examiner. The Frisco line officials, however, seemed to be unanimous in their opinions that no coördination of railroad and buses and highways would be advantageous.

The recommendation of J. E. Hutchison, former vice president in charge of operations and now special representative of the president of the road, was that every highway truck should be brought under severe regulation. Even contracts trucks should be forced into common carrier standing, he added, and should accept all freight that is offered them. As to regulation of their rates, he declared for a rate level equal to that of railroads for similar distances, with added charges for the pickup and delivery advantages offered.

He would except only trucks in which farmers hauled their own individual production to market. He would impose, he added, taxes large enough to pay for the use of the highways by the trucks and buses.

Preceding him had been two experts from his road who advanced no theories as to what should be done, but confined themselves to showing how their traffic had been lost, particularly in the fruit and vegetable growing Ozark region. W. L. English, head of the agricultural development department of the Frisco, asserted that in some cases apples had been hauled in trucks 700 miles to reach points in New Mexico.

Although his company had been active in getting grapes grown in the Missouri and Arkansas hills, he said, 50 per cent of the grape crop was now moving out by motor vehicle, and with refrigerator trucks as efficient in preventing spoilage as railway refrigerator cars coming along rapidly since their introduction last spring, the percentage promised to be larger in the future.

As for vegetables shipped from Frisco territory in Arkansas during 1929, from 25 to 30 per cent went by truck, but in 1930 this had risen to from 50 to 55 per cent.

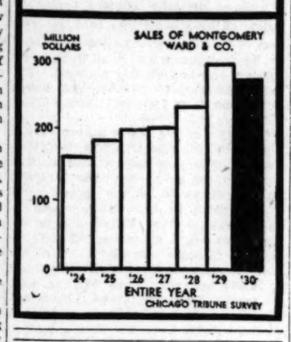
Live Stock Hauling.

Shipments of live stock to a half dozen principal markets in the railroad's field of operation had also been going largely to trucks although trucking rates were generally higher per pound than rail rates. Between 1925 and 1930 the trucks increased their haulage to these markets from 200 to 1,200 per cent. Instead of returning empty it was stated that these trucks accepted loads back at any rate they could obtain.

B. H. Stanage, in charge of traffic for the Frisco, asserted that 90 per cent of the jobbers' traffic in groceries moving out of Springfield, Mo., was handled by truck, and that all merchandise shipments by rail from that point in 1930 were only half what they were in 1925.

Stanage declared that the truck lines first found out what the rail rate was and then offered a usual discount of 20 per cent. This applied especially to meat out of Kansas City.

MONTGOMERY WARD SALES WERE THE SECOND LARGEST IN THE HISTORY OF THE COMPANY



CURB MARKET RIDES THROUGH SELLING WAVES

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The curb market held a steady undertone through several waves of selling today and closed irregular, with some of the utilities slightly lower, the oils little changed, and numerous industrial specialties a point or two higher.

The broad recovery of last week made realizing rather inevitable, and sales of stock on which holders had a fair profit were numerous. Volume of trading, 462,800 shares, was larger than last Friday.

May Take Advantage of Low Interest to Retire U. S. Bonds

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—An increase from $20,000,000,000 to $28,000,000,000 in the second liberty bond act to give the treasury more freedom in its refunding operations was recommended to congress today by Secretary Mellon.

The proposal would permit the floating of bonds at a lower rate of interest than carried on the first and fourth liberty loan bonds, which mature within the next two years.

Chairman Hawley of the house ways and means committee said the legislation would not result in an increase in the public debt.

Tax Exemptions.

Hawley plans to hold hearings on the measure, which also would authorize the secretary to exempt further issues of securities from both the surtax and the normal tax. It would exempt the bonds from all taxes except estate and inheritance taxes.

A total of $1,933,545,750 of first liberty loan bonds, which bear interest at 4¼ per cent and 3½ per cent, can be called in June, 1932. In addition, $6,268,241,150 of 4¼ per cent fourth liberty loan bonds are callable in October, 1933.

Under the second liberty bond act, as amended, the secretary was authorized to issue bonds not exceeding $20,000,000,000. Upon that authority $18,107,942,750 in bonds has been issued, leaving a balance of only $1,892,057,250.

For the purpose of maintaining a well balanced public debt the treasury desires to have the outstanding securities in the form of short term bills, certificates, bonds, and notes, such as will prove popular with the investors and banks.

Reserve Bank Earnings.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Gross earnings of the 12 federal reserve banks amounted to $36,424,000 in 1930, which was slightly more than half the amount for 1929.

The federal reserve board announced today that gross earnings in 1929 amounted to $70,955,000.

Current expenses of the banks totaled $28,343,000, as compared with $29,691,000 in 1929. Net earnings in 1930 amounted to $7,988,000, as compared with $36,403,000 the preceding year.

Five banks, those in New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Minneapolis, and Dallas, had net earnings sufficient to pay accrued dividends in full, the board said, while the remaining seven banks paid their dividends entirely or part out of surplus.

Total dividends for the system aggregated $10,269,000. Two of the banks, Minneapolis and Dallas, paid $17,308 into the United States treasury as franchise taxes.

The surplus of the 12 federal reserve banks combined after the closing of the books at the end of the year amounted to $274,636,000, a net reduction for the year of $2,298,000. The subscribed capital amounted to $339,280,000.

New York, Jan. 5.—The stock market was a pretty flabby affair today. The pivotals backed and filled uncertainly, the motors had a topheavy burden of profit taking to struggle with, the rails were reactionary, and the merchandise section was under the weight of some discouraging sales reports and rumors of impending price cuts.

A fresh fall in commodity prices and a decline in silver were other factors of bear account.

About the beginning of the final hour of trading the market appeared

ATTENDANCE AT FURNITURE MART BREAKS RECORD

With a record-breaking attendance of buyers from every section of the country crowding the building, the semi-annual furniture market and style show at the American Furniture mart, 666 Lake Shore drive, opened yesterday.

When the doors closed, 1,634 buyers had registered, the largest number to attend the opening day of a winter market in the history of the mart, breaking the record established in January, 1930. Officials of the mart termed the record "extremely gratifying," especially considering the current depression of business generally.

An unusually large number of orders were also written on the opening day, a check of the 700 manufacturers maintaining displays in the building indicated. One reported the best day in the history of the company. The majority of the orders, however, were for relatively small amounts of furniture.

More dealers will arrive in Chicago today, when the National Retail Furniture association opens its three day annual convention at the mart, while others prefer to wait until the opening rush subsides. The mart exhibition continues for two weeks. At tonight's banquet of the association the principal speaker will be Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE.

Lake Shore Trust Deposits Gain $702,000 in 3 Months

Deposits of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank showed an increase of $702,000 in the last three months of 1930 and not a shrinkage, as indicated in the table printed in yesterday's TRIBUNE on the condition of Chicago banks at the close of the year. Total deposits on the Lake Shore bank were $9,089,000 as of Dec. 31, as compared with $8,387,000 as of Sept. 30. In the previously published table the Dec. 31 figure was erroneously reported at $6,677,000.

WHEAT VALUES ARE SENT LOWER BY PROFIT TAKING

July Delivery Drops 2c from Saturday.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A weakened technical incident to the sharp upturn in prices last week was reflected in an increased disposition to secure profits on the part of longs in wheat. While foreign news was somewhat more encouraging to holders, July delivery dropped 2c yesterday from Saturday's finish to 64¼c, with sellers of bids forced to protect themselves on the way down. The close was 1⅝c lower at 64⅜@64½c. There was no pressure on the old crop deliveries, which finished ⅛@¼c higher, March being 80¼c, and May, 81⅛@81⅜c.

Houses with southwestern connections were credited with selling wheat in Chicago. There was also some selling for the northwest. However, trade in the aggregate was small, and the market easily influenced. Winnipeg showed fair strength early with houses with English and continental connections buying futures, but later hedging pressure made its appearance and the close was 1½c lower.

Crop News a Factor.

With the period only a few weeks away when comments on the new winter wheat crop will commence to be a factor in the market, the trade is paying some attention to the continued dry weather prevailing in parts of belt. Eastern Kansas and Missouri have joined the area east of the Mississippi in claiming a need of rain or snow to assure the crop coming out of the winter in good condition. Drought continues in India, and had some effect in Liverpool, which closed 1@1⅛d higher. Small world shipments, and a decrease of 4,216,000 bu in supplies on ocean passage were also a factor in the English market. Supplies afloat are now 27,272,000 bu, falling below last year's for the first time in many weeks.

Traders were somewhat disappointed by an increase of 1,155,000 bu in the domestic visible supply, the total being raised to 189,264,000 bu, compared with 175,518,000 bu last year. Buenos Aires wheat closed ¼@½c higher with showers over part of the belt, which will further interfere with threshing and the movement.

Corn in Easy Close.

While there is a general disposition to take the buying side of corn outside speculators refuse to follow the advances. Profit taking by local operators caused a break of 1⅛@1⅞c after a small advance early, and the close was 1¾@1⅝c lower with March, 69¼c; May, 70⅛@70⅝c, and July, 71⅛c. Weakness in wheat had some influence, as did reports of larger country offerings in parts of Nebraska.

However, the country failed to show a general disposition to sell cash grain and local handlers booked only 16,000 bu to arrive, which was regarded as small considering the recent advance. Shipping sales aggregated 100,000 bu.

An increase of 839,000 bu in the visible supply of corn was somewhat under expectations, although the total is now 16,390,000 bu, against 9,892,000 bu last year. Primary receipts of 765,000 bu compared with 2,089,000 bu last year and attracted some attention, but the weakened technical position caused all bullish influences to be ignored. Buenos Aires was ⅛@⅜c higher at the last.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

General run of reports from the seaboard indicated a much better undertone in cables, although sales of wheat in all positions for the day were finally estimated at 800,000 bu. There was some inquiry for Canadian coarse grains.

Local handlers sold 15,000 bu wheat, 100,000 bu corn, 95,000 bu oats and 2,000 bu rye to the domestic trade, with 16,000 bu corn booked to arrive.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Monday: Wheat, 98 cars; corn, 107 cars; oats, 16 cars; barley, 9 cars.

The Nova Scotia Fruit Growers association recently passed a resolution urging the provincial government to recommend to the federal government the granting of a license to a plant for research into apple by-products, including those containing alcohol.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Grain markets are not getting the kind of support that will keep prices on the upgrade. This is attributed to January not being a good bull month, in spite of the fact that prices are the lowest in years. The general situation as regards supplies and demand is not such as to inspire large buying by outsiders and the disposition to take profits on all bulges results in numerous setbacks.

Profit taking in wheat was on in Winnipeg by local traders there, as indicated by late advices to J. E. Bennett & Co. Elevator people were said to be hedging with good buying on foreign and continental account. Export sales were 300,000 bu. Net losses at the last were 1½c, July being 57⅞c.

"Every day we come nearer to the new crop of wheat," says the Uhlmann Grain company, "and it still looks to us as though the supplies on July 1 would be the largest ever known, both in this country and in the world. In the United States we expect to see a carryover of 300,000,000 bu, Canada has about all of its crop to dispose of, and if they ship 5,000,000 bu every week for the next 26 weeks there would be 170,000,000 bu left on the first of July. Argentina and Australia have 300,000,000 bu for export, and if they ship 180,000,000 bu during the next 26 weeks they would still have 120,000,000 bu left on the 1st of July when our new crop starts moving."

LARD TRADE SLOW

Interest in lard was limited yesterday and price movement narrow with the price 5c lower on January, 2½c up on March, and unchanged for May. Liverpool futures were unchanged to 6d higher, the latter on January. Export clearances for the week were 9,190,000 lbs. against 17,391,000 lbs last year. Of bacon they were 7,325,000 lbs, against 8,523,000 lbs last year. Cash trade was quiet. Offerings of bellies were light and the buying of 50,000 lbs for January delivery advanced the price 27½c, to $10.87½. May bellies were nominally 17½c higher at the last. Hog prices were practically unchanged, with receipts larger than a week ago, but smaller than a year ago. Predictions are for continued liberal receipts as farmers are said to be in a liquidating mood. Prices follow:

ELECT MURRAY PRESIDENT OF BOARD OF TRADE

The annual election for officials of the Board of Trade was held yesterday and James C. Murray, a director of the Quaker Oats company, was chosen president without opposition. He received 727 votes.

Siebel C. Harris of Scott, Burrows & Christie was elected vice president, receiving 739 votes out of a total of 779 votes polled. Last year the vote was 772. Peter B. Carey, second vice president, automatically became first vice president.

The fight was all on the directory. Gale Smart, one of the youngest members on the board, received the largest vote, 549; Thomas Y. Wickham, 490; Barnett Faroll, 390; Charles V. Essroger, a vice president of the First National bank, received the highest vote, 661; John E. Brennan, who ran on the independent ticket, had 507 votes.

The defeated members for the directory were K. S. Templeton, with 346 votes; Roland McHenry, 344, and Harry L. Freeman, 265. There was no opposition to the candidates for the committee of appeals and arbitration.

Retiring officers are John A. Bushnell, president. Retiring directors are Francis B. Fox, Edwin T. Maynard, Ervin L. Roy, and Kenneth S. Templeton.

Would Abandon Canadian Wheat Farming for a Year

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Abandonment of wheat production in western Canada for one year was advocated today by George Pangley, former minister of municipal affairs for Saskatchewan.

UTILITY SECURITIES COMPANY
230 South La Salle Street
CHICAGO

To the shareholders of

The Swedish Match Company
(Svenska Tändsticks Aktiebolaget)

The Board of Directors of the Swedish Match Company have issued the following statement:

The business of The Swedish Match Company has during the past year shown steady progress. The most important step in the consolidation of the Company's position during 1930 has been the ratification of the agreement regarding the German match monopoly, which became effective as from June 1st., 1930, and is operating in a satisfactory manner. The depression now prevailing in most other lines of business has had little influence on the match industry and the consumption of matches in most markets seems to have increased during 1930 at practically the same rate as during previous years. Although no final figures are as yet available it has been established that profits for the year 1930 will be in excess of those for the year 1929, and the Board of Directors will propose a final dividend of 10%, payable after the ordinary general meeting in 1931, thus making a total dividend of 15% for 1930.

In May, 1931, the Company will take up at 93 per cent. $37,500,000 6% German Government bonds, being its share of the $125,000,000 loan to the German Government contracted for in connection with the German match monopoly and representing 50 per cent. of the final instalment of that loan. The Company has further called for redemption on February 15th., 1931, its outstanding 7% Bond Loan of 1921, totalling kronor 20,000,000.

To provide funds for these and other transactions in connection with the industrial expansion of the Company the Board of Directors have decided at a meeting held today, subject to the approval of the extra ordinary general meeting to be held on January 13th., 1931, to increase the Share Capital of The Swedish Match Company from kronor 270,000,000 to kronor 360,000,000 through issuing 900,000 new B-shares (of the par value of kronor 100 each) at the price of kronor 150 per share. At the same time the Board of Directors have authorized an issue of kronor 60,000,000 bonds, which will be offered for subscription in Sweden in the immediate future.

The Board of Directors consider that the future prospects of the Company are very satisfactory and are confident that the profits for 1931 will be such as to enable the Company to pay on the increased capital the same dividend of 15% that has been paid in respect to previous years. They also have every reason to believe that for the following years that dividend can be maintained.

The issue of the new B-shares will be made on the following terms:

1/. The new shares will carry No. 22 and subsequent coupons and will have equal rights with old shares in profits from January 1st., 1931.

2/. The existing shareholders have preferential rights to subscribe at a price of 150% to the new B-shares, in the proportion of one new B-share for each three old A- and/or B-shares held. In the event of the issue being oversubscribed allotment will be made according to the direction of the Board of Directors, this, however, without prejudice to the preferential rights of the existing shareholders to acquire one new B-share for each three old A- and/or B-shares held.

3/. The subscriptions will be received at the offices of Skandinaviska Kreditaktiebolaget, Gustaf Adolfstorg 22-24, Stockholm, from January 7th. to February 3rd., 1931, both days inclusive.

4/. The subscriptions should be accompanied by payment of kronor 30 per new B-share as first instalment, or of kronor 150 per new B-share as payment in full, together with accrued interest at the rate of 6% per annum on the amount paid from and including January 1st., 1931, to the date of the payment.

If payment in full is not made on subscription the remaining instalment of kroner 120 per new B-share, together with accrued interest at the rate of 6% per annum from and including January 1st., 1931, to the date of the payment, should be paid on or before March 14th., 1931.

5/. The share coupon No. 20 will entitle to subscription, and The Swedish Match Company has decided that said coupon shall be used only for the purpose of this subscription. The final dividend for the year 1930 will be paid on the coupon No. 21.

6/. From January 7th. up to and including January 14th., 1931, receipts will be issued in respect of all subscriptions received, but after January 14th., 1931, subscription certificates will be issued in respect of partly paid subscriptions and definitive share certificates will be issued in respect of fully paid subscriptions.

On and after January 15th., 1931, the receipts in respect of partly paid subscriptions may be exchanged for subscription certificates and the receipts in respect of fully paid subscriptions for definitive share certificates. On the surrender of the subscription certificates, accompanied by payment of the final instalment, definitive share certificates will be delivered.

No payment can be received in respect of fractions of shares but fractional rights certificates will be issued, which may be amalgamated with other fractional rights certificates and/or coupons to aggregate complete shares.

7/. The coupons No. 20 and the fractional rights certificates will become invalid after February 3rd., 1931.

8/. The new B-shares will be registered in the name of Administratie Maatschappij voor Algemeene Nyverheids Waarden and will be endorsed in blank by that company.

9/. Swedish stamp on the new B-shares will be paid by the Company.

10/. Rights to subscribe for the new B-shares can also be claimed in Belgium, Germany, Great Britain, Holland and Switzerland, and holders of shares wishing to claim their rights in any of these countries can obtain the necessary directions from Messrs. Lee, Higginson & Co., 37 Broad Street, New York, N. Y., 70 Federal Street, Boston, Mass., and 137 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

BY AL CHASE.

Nathan William MacChesney yesterday presented his son, Alfred Brunson MacChesney, a senior at Yale, with property on East Wacker drive. Both are leaseholds, one for ninety-nine years and the other for 199 years. The ninety-nine year leasehold is at 71-73 East Wacker drive, adjoining on the southwest the Mather Tower. The fee is owned by the Porter Realty trust. The land is 50x100. The lease is dated Jan. 15, 1926, and contains a clause calling for the erection of a building to cost not less than $100,000 within fifteen years.

N. W. MacCHESNEY

The 199 year leasehold is the 24x113 parcel at 63 to 65 East Wacker drive, the fee of which is owned by Martha E. Braun. The lease is dated May 1, 1927. The lease contains the provision that the lessee must erect a building prior to May 1, 1932, to cost not less than $100,000.

Control 174 Feet of Frontage.

The average annual ground rental on the property at 71 and 73 is $16,979 and on the property at 63-65 $12,500. The total ground rental for the two parcels will be $4.169.500. Mr. MacChesney owns the 68x100 property adjoining on the southwest the parcel he gave to his son at 71 and 73, also the twenty-four foot alley adjoining. He also owns the twenty-four foot parcel adjoining on the southwest the property at 63 and 65. In all, Mr. MacChesney and his son now control a frontage of 174 feet on Wacker drive extending from the Mather Tower to the Murray Wolbach property at the corner of East South Water and Wacker.

Cancel 99 Year Lease.

According to the county records, the lease between Edward P. Casey, as lessor, and the 175 North Wells Building corporation, as lessee, dated Aug. 1, 1928, for ninety-nine years, for the property at 175 North Wells street, has been canceled.

The Standard Oil company has purchased the southwest corner of Brier street and Winnetka avenue, in Winnetka, from the Union Bank of Chicago, trustee, for an indicated $27,500. A filling station designed along old English architectural lines will be erected when the plans have been approved by the architectural commission of Winnetka, which passes on designs of proposed buildings.

DEMAND FOR BONDS FLOWS ON UNABATED

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Following the strong recovery in bond prices last week investment demand continued unabated today. While the main body of domestic issues moved forward in orderly fashion, it was the spectacular comeback made by many obligations that have been neglected by buyers for a long time that was the feature of the day's trading.

Utilities were buoyed by a strong demand that extended to a wide field of prime and second grade issues American Telephone debenture 5½s advanced a point to within shooting distance of its 1930 high.

Some of the changes in the rail group read like a movement in stock shares. Ulster and Delaware bonds infrequently traded, advanced 5 to 10 points. Seaboard Air Line 4s of 1950 regained 10. Oregon, St. Louis Southwestern 5s, Illinois Central 4s, St. Paul 4½s E, and Cuban 5s rallied 2 to 4. International Great Northern issues climbed 5 to 8.

Many industrials recovered sharply from the five year low level reached in the 1930 decline. Armour & Co. 4½s rose 6 and bidding was brisk for such issues as Consolidated Coal of Maryland 5s, Chile Copper 5s, Detroit River Tunnel 4½s, Goodrich 6s, Lorillard 5½s. Newberry company 5½s advanced 8. The 8s of the Fisk Rubber company, which was placed in receivership Saturday, closed 4½ higher

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Buick Motor company, a division of General Motors corporation, produced and shipped 4,092 cars in December, against 7,177 in November and 6,242 in December, 1929. The plant was closed the last two weeks in December for inventory, but production has been resumed and the January schedule calls for output of 6,044 cars.

Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board of National Steel corporation, in a letter to stockholders said the corporation earned almost double its $2 common dividend in 1930, the first year of its existence.

Metropolitan Chain Stores announced that contracts have been entered into with D. Miller and Sons, Inc., under which the latter will operate ready-to-wear and millinery departments in the various stores of the Metropolitan Chain.

RULES AGAINST I. C. C. AUTHORITY OVER RAIL FUND

Decision Affects Control of Reorganizations.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—With Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone dissenting, the Supreme court today decided the interstate commerce commission had no authority over a special fund of $3,500,000 raised by stockholders during reorganization of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway.

Chief Justice Hughes took no part in the decision, having been counsel for the railroad in the lower courts which decided the commission had no control over the fund.

The railroad went into receivership in March, 1925, protective committees for security holders were formed and then Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City company set up as managers of a reorganization plan.

Get New Securities.

Under it stockholders were assessed about $70,000,000 for which they received securities of the new company. The plan called for the payment of obligations totaling about $53,000,000, the balance of $16,500,000 was to provide new equipment, working capital, franchise and other taxes and reorganization expenses.

All the $16,500,000, however, was not made available to the new company. The managers were permitted to retain a part of the assessment amounting to $1.50 a share and to pay out of it their own fees and the fees of various committees and counsel. The $1.50 a share assessment made up the $3,500,000, the crux of the controversy.

The interstate commerce commission approved the issue of securities for the reorganization on condition that the disbursement of all the funds should be subject to its approval.

An Important Case.

The railroad argued the $3,500,000 was contributed especially for the managers' use and that the commission had no authority over it. The commission's power to impose conditions on the issuance of securities, it said, was limited.

The case was regarded as of unusual interest since it affects vitally the control of the commission in reorganization plans. Justice Stone in his dissenting opinion said railroad credit and the marketability of railroad securities had been profoundly affected by reorganizations "in the course of which junior security holders had found it impossible to save more than a remnant of their investment, and that only by the assumption of a heavy bulden of expense, too often the result of wasteful and extravagant methods of reorganization."

January Funds

Woods Brothers Corporation enjoys the unmatched leadership in its field of activity—namely that of inland waterways engineering projects.

A profitable field for the employment of January funds is in the Corporation's Preferred and Common Stocks. Quarterly dividends on Preferred Stocks have been paid continuously for 18 years—while earnings on the Common amounted to $3.77 per share before taxes for the first 10 months of 1930.

A convenient partial payment plan has been worked out whereby investors may purchase these securities on monthly installments. Inquiries invited.

CATTLE—Bulk of sales yesterday	$ 8.50@11.00
One month ago	7.75@ 9.50
One year ago	11.50@14.75
SHEEP — Fed western range lambs	$ 6.75@ 8.75
One month ago	7.50@ 8.65
One year ago	13.00@14.00
Top yesterday, $8.75; average, $7.90.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 45,000 hogs, and 16,000 sheep.

The broadest shipping demand of the season offset the fact that hog receipts at 67,000 were among the largest on record for the first Monday of the year and much of the loss was recovered after a 10@20c lower opening yesterday. Some light and underweights finished up about steady.

The extreme top was off 15c at $8.05, while the general average showed 10c loss at $7.70, being only 5c under last Friday's average. Outsiders bought 20,000 head and some orders were unfilled at the close when larger houses were among the best buyers. Only 3,000 were left, with five markets reporting 88,000 for today against 94,900 last Tuesday.

April Hogs Bid $9.00.

Bids of $9.00 were made on light weights for delivery anytime during the month of April. March light were bid $8.75 and February contracts carried bids of $8.00. January light were offered at $8.40 and bid $7.85. March mediums were bid $8.10. Mediums for next April were offered at $8.50 and bid $8.00.

Little change was noted in the condition of the cattle market yesterday, in spite of the decrease in supplies. Good grades were scarce and few sales were made above $11.00, the bulk of total arrivals going at $8.50@11.00. Choice 1,040@1,069 lb yearlings reached $13.75, the day's top, while $13.00 obtained best heavy steers.

Butcher stock continued slow at the the recent decline. Best calves were strong and others steady. Stockers and feeders were scarce and steady. Receipts at the seven leading western markets yesterday at 52,000 were 5,000 smaller than a week ago and 20,000 smaller than a year ago.

Yearling Sheep at $7.50.

The market for yearling sheep advanced 25@50c yesterday, choice 73 lb averages on the lamb order reaching $7.50, while 82 lb yearlings sold at $7.00. Lamb offerings were below expectations and a reaction of the market was averted. Light reached $8.75, equaling last week's peak, while most good grades sold at $8.25@8.50, although all interests paid the top for a few. Aged sheep were scarce and unchanged. Feeding lambs sold steady.

REALIZING IN COTTON

Cotton traders became suspicious yesterday that shorts had covered quite freely during the morning and a selling movement started in toward the last, which carried prices down, with a close around the lowest of the day. Cables were lower early but Liverpool closed unchanged to a point higher, with spot sales 2,000 bales. Silver made a new low in London, but in the face of these factors fair buying orders were in evidence.

Unfavorable labor news from Manchester, England, caused some uneasiness and resulted in lighter buying toward the last, with the close around the lowest of the day, with active futures in Chicago 9 to 17 points lower and other markets off 12 to 18 points. Spots in New York dropped 15 points to 10.15c, with New Orleans off 10 points to 9.65c, while Galveston was 9.90c and Houston, 9.80c.

Exports last week were 155,753 bales, against 179,420 bales last year. For the season to date they were 3,050,000 bales, against 4,200,000 bales last year. Prices follow:

Lambert Co.

Lambert company common stock has been recommended to me to buy as an investment returning about 10 per cent on the present market, with dividends likely to be continued and safe so far as principal is concerned. Am I correctly informed?—M. A. P.

Lambert company, which was incorporated in Delaware March 15, 1926, owns 95.83 per cent of the stock of Lambert Pharmacal company, manufacturer of pharmaceutical products, including liquid antiseptic, tooth paste, shaving cream, and throat tablets. Factories are located in St. Louis, Mexico City, Toronto, Madrid, and Paris. In February, 1930, in exchange for 50,000 shares of common stock, Lambert company acquired the capital stock of Pro-phy-lac-tic Brush company, Delaware.

The Lambert company has no funded debt, its outstanding capitalization on Sept. 30, 1930, consisting solely of 748,996 no par common shares. Consolidated net income in 1929 was $7,019,349, equal to $10.04 per share on 698,996 shares, against $4,447,135 in 1928, $2,997,979 in 1927, and $1,288,084 in 1926.

Like other companies engaged in the manufacture of drug products, Lambert company last year was able to hold earnings fairly close to the 1929 level. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1930, net profit after charges and taxes was $5,668,471, or $7.57 per share, against $5,768,568, or $7.70 per share on the same basis, in the first three quarters of 1929.

Earnings for 1930 complete are expected to be slightly under $10 per share, despite heavier advertising expenditures and the possibility of federal taxes being levied at the rate of 12 per cent rather than 11 per cent of net.

It was stated in September that although earnings of Pro-phy-lac-tic were not up to the levels of other Lambert enterprises, that division was operating on a profitable basis and better results were expected following rehabilitation of the property.

At the close of 1929 Lambert company's consolidated balance sheet indicated current assets of $5,424,236 and current liabilities of $1,419,045, leaving a net working capital of $4,005,191. Earned surplus was $3,692,077. Inasmuch as earnings in the first nine months of 1930 were within 43 cents of covering the $8 yearly dividend payments, there should be a sizable balance left to add to surplus.

SWEDISH MATCH CO. ANNOUNCES NEW FINANCING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 5.—Announcement of new financing aggregating more than $52,000,000 was made today by the directors of the Swedish Match company of Stockholm. The financing will take the form of both stock and bond issues.

The increase in capital stock will be made through the issuance of rights to present stockholders to subscribe to 90,000,000 kroner, or about $24,120,000 par value, of new stock, consisting of 900,000 class B shares in the ratio of one new share for every three shares held. Swedish Match stock will be offered at a price of 150 per cent of par, or $36,180,000. The subscription privilege will expire Feb. 8. Stockholders will vote on the proposed new issue Jan. 13.

The company also will issue 60,000,000 kroner 5 per cent bonds, equivalent to approximately $16,000,000, which will be placed in Sweden.

While a substantial amount of Swedish stock is held by American investors, financial participation in the organization is represented in this country chiefly by the securities of International Match Corporation of Delaware, the principal subsidiary of Swedish Match company and by the securities of Kreuger & Toll company, the Swedish investment and financing company which holds the controlling interest in Swedish Match company. The International Match corporation was organized in 1928 to consolidate the foreign holding of the Swedish company.

No section of the Tribune is read with greater interest. Readers say, "Let's look in the want ad section of the Tribune" with as much meaning as they say, "Let's go shopping."

Chicago Tribune want advertising on Sunday provides more than a million families with a convenient market place. On week days it reaches over 800,000 families.

The Tribune has more readers, gets more response than any other Chicago paper. All other Chicago papers combined carry less want advertising than does the Tribune.
